Final Session With Nasser Slated Today

Suez Canal Talks Expected To End In Total Failure

CAIRO, Sept. 8—UP—The five nation Menzies committee agreed Saturday to make one last attempt to get Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser to accept international control of the Suez Canal. It was virtually certain he would refuse again.

During a marathon meeting with his advisors, Nasser sent word to the committee that he would agree to meet with it again.

Nasser prepared his answer Saturday to a committee memorandum drawn up under the direction of Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies which sources said singled out the major point in the dispute — whether Egypt or a group of nations will run the waterway.

The committee, after a two-hour meeting at the Australian legation, sent the memorandum to Nasser with a request for a last-grasp meeting which wil be held Sunday.

Cairo radio said the meeting would be held at the President's palace at 7 p.m. (1 p.m. EDT).

Committee spokesman Noel Deschamps denied "wild reports" that the talks which began Monday had collapsed.

But the committee sources said the group is sticking to its demand for international control as outlined in the plan put forth by

Teachers Seeking New Sources For Salary Payments

DONALDSONVILLE, La. (AP) — The Ascension Parish School Teachers' Assn. opened a statewide movement for a study of the possibility of a teacher pay hike out of funds already appropriated to the State Department of Education.

Under one plan, schools would close when pay funds run out.

Conrad Goette of Donaldsonville, association president, said other associations have indicated plans for resolutions similar to those approved by his group yesterday.

Copies of the Ascension teachers resolutions will be sent to associations in the other 63 parishes and the Education Department, he said.

Major points included:

1. That if the people vote down a November election proposal to dedicate 35 per cent of the state general fund surplus, up to 16 million dollars, to the new teacher pay schedule, the higher pay rate be put into effect anyhow.

2. That the new pay scale be paid teachers and schools closed when the money is exhausted.

3. That the teachers oppose use of per educable funds for teacher salaries. The 1956 Legislature increased the per educable, distributed to parishes on the basis of school age children, from $48.95 to $55.

The Louisiana Teachers Assn. state convention meets at New Orleans Nov. 23-25.

"I expect that there will be considerable fireworks concerning teacher pay raises at the New Orleans meeting," Goette said.

"Our state education officials will have a lot of explaining to do and answer a lot of questions

Sevier touched off the only controversy in the two-hour session. He was voted down by a voice vote, with only one or two others supporting him, as the committee donated $1,000 to the national party and named a committee to check finances to see if it could afford another $1,000.

Showdown In Sturgis Crisis Expected Soon

Guard Officer Sees Trouble Monday As Negroes Return

By UNITED PRESS

The little mining community of Sturgis, Ky., braced Saturday for a showdown Monday in its integrated school crisis and officials of Clinton, Tenn., voiced fears of what might happen when the National Guard leaves.

These were the two most troublesome spots in the pattern of racial struggle taking shape across most of the South and the border states. Elsewhere, the problem was being attacked on legal or elective fronts.

An Alabama official assigned a seven-year-old boy whose race was questioned to a Negro school under a new "pupil placement law" based on sociological and psychological factors.

In North Carolina, voters decided whether to write into the state constitution a two-part plan to prevent general integration. The plan would involve closing public schools by local option if integration were ordered by the courts and provide state tuition grants for private education.

With another battalion put on standby duty, the National Guard force in the Sturgis area was increased to 800 men.

"We think Monday, when the Negro kids may attempt to come to school again, will be the test day of this whole affair," said Kentucky Adj. Gen. J. J. B. Williams in charge of the troops.

Nine Negro children who went to school for their first day Thursday under guard protection did not return Friday. Their parents said they had been threatened with loss of their livelihood if they kept their children in school. However, several said they planned to send the children back to class Monday.

Two Negro children also expected to return to school at nearby Clay, Ky..., Monday ."if they get protection," their mother said.

Sheriff Glad Woodward of Clinton said that local authorities would be unable to deal with "even small mob action" if the National Guard leaves now. Some 250 guardsmen were still in Clinton to insure order when 12 Ne-

Legislature To End 12-Day Meet Early Tomorrow

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 8 (AP)— The Louisiana Legislature comes back Monday to shut down a 12-day special session which saw Gov. Earl Long shake off early setbacks and win two major victories.

Both House and Senate return at 11 a.m. Monday to dispose of routine business and quit.

In the regular session, Long was balked on four measures to increase taxes by the two-thirds vote required for new taxes.

But at the same special session where the governor called back his constitutional amendment to repeal the two-thirds tax safeguard to soften mounting opposition, he pushed through a bill boosting the race track betting tax.

The takeout on the betting pool would be increased from 13 to 15 per cent under the new law, with the extra revenue dedicated for capital outlay at Louisiana State University and to pay expenses for the Legislative Council, research group for the Legislature.

A similar bill failed despite an unheard of three House votes in the regular session that ended July 12.

And Long rammed through 11 measures aimed at the power of

Group Calls For Adjustment

Producers Claim Cotton 'Down Grading' Can Lose $2 Million For Farmers

Cotton producers in north Louisiana have launched a move to stop what they term "unwarranted down-grading" of cotton which they claim threatens to deny farmers a fair price for top quality cotton.

They claim that cotton classed by government cotton classers is often rated lower than it deserves, thus depriving the producer of the higher price paid for cotton graded high in quality.

At a meeting here yesterday morning with U. S. Rep. Otto E. Passman, a delegation from the Louisiana Delta Council, Farm Bureau Federation, cotton producers and buyers studied samples which they said were clearly indicative of discrimination in cotton classing.

Passman declared that it "is clearly evident to anyone that something is wrong." The fifth district congressman said he would leave for Washington today where he would confer with high author-

Suspicious Area Being Watched In Ocean Off Florida

MIAMI, Sept. 8 —UP—Weathermen asked ships Friday to report on suspicious areas as heavy squalls off the Florida coast indicated a storm is brewing.

The weather bureau has been watching the squall area with 30 mile-an-hour winds for the three days since it developed in subtropical waters and moved northward bringing rain to the northern Bahamas and South Florica coast.

Forecaster Paul Moore located the disturbance some 500 miles east of Daytona Beach, Fla., and approximately 400 miles northeast of Nassau in the Bahamas. It was moving northward at a slow pace.

Moore said the "low pressure area" was increasing slightly in "squalliness and extent." He said the strongest winds were 30 miles per hour.

He said the next 24 hours would probably determine the course and "buildup or slow death" of the low pressure area.

Moore said a cold front moving off the coast from Georgia and the Carolinas could possibly affect the "depression."

The cool air caused rough weather along the Carolina and Georgia coasts, where small craft warnings were raised. The forecast called for 25-mile-an-hour winds there Saturday and Saturday night.

One American Known Dead In Typhoon Emma

Communications To Base Out; Storm Is Worst In Memory

NAHA, Okinawa, Sept. 8—UP—A typhoon battered this strategic U. S. military bastion for 12 hours Saturday with winds that reached 156 miles per hour.

One U. S. military policeman was known dead. He was electrocuted while touching an electric fan during the storm.

Complete details of damage and casualties were delayed as a result of a communications blackout caused by the violent winds of Typhoon Emma.

The storm, worst to hit this island in memory of its oldest residents, covered military and civilian installations with 15 inches of rain over a 24 -hour period in downpours that cut like knives under the terrific wind pressure.

Winds built up to 140 miles an hour according to U.S. Army meteorologists. A civilian weather station measured one gust at 156 miles—the maximum on the wind gauge.

The 'typhoon proof" Ryukus command headquarters suffered damage. Partitions and windows splintered in the wind. Warehouse roofs flipped high into the air. Flimsy civilian shacks crumpled. Lowlands flooded under the torrential rains. Automobiles were flipped like tiddlywinks.

Two Killed In Head-On Crash South Of Saline

NATCHITOCHES, Sept. 8 (Special) — Two men were killed and three others seriously injured in a head-on collision of two cars about 10:10 Saturday morning, the Natchitoches Parish sheriff's department reported.

Killed instantly was Cleve Macie, a 53-year-old retired Saline mechanic, who was a passenger in the car driven by Shelby Rhodes, also of Saline. Macie's body was taken immediately to the Conger Funeral Home in Arcadia, the Natchitoches parish sheriff said.

Rhodes was reported to be in critical condition. He was taken to a Jonesboro hospital, and then to a Shreveport hospital for treatment. Extent of his injuries had had not been reported to the sheriff's office Saturday afternoon.

Walter Higginbotham, 34, of Jonesboro, driver of the other car, died about 30 minutes after his arrival at a Jonesboro hospital.

Eye witnesses to the accident said the car driven by Higginbotham veered to the left side of the road just before meeting Rhodes' car at the end of a bridge. Both cars were completely demolished in the collision.

David Egan, a Saline Negro, who was also a passenger in the Rhodes car, was taken to the Jonesboro hospital for treatment and then transferred to the Confederate Memorial hospital in Shreveport. Another Negro, Jewell Patterson, who was riding with Rhodes, was taken directly to the Shreveport hospital from the scene of the accident. Patterson is also a resident of Saline.

State police officers are making an investigation of the accident, the sheriff said.

'Level-Headed' Irishman Captures 'Flying Saucer' In Arms, But Object Escapes Grasp

MONEYMORE, Northern Ireland (AP) — A "level - headed, God-fearing" Irish farmer says he was running to the police station with a captured flying saucer in his arms yesterday, but it escaped.

"I had difficulty in holding it down," Thomas Hutchinson explained today.

A Royal Air Force officer said what Hutchinson picked up must have been a weather balloon—but police preferred the farmer's version.

"Thomas Hutchinson is a level-headed, God-fearing chap," said the desk sergeant at Moneymore headquarters. "He's not the sort of man who would imagine he seized a flying saucer if, in fact, he didn't have one."

Hutchinson said he and his wife Maud saw a flying saucer drop from the clouds into a bog 200 yards from his front door shortly after lunch yesterday.

It was egg-shaped, about 3 feet high and 18 inches in diameter, said Hutchinson. "It was bright red with two dark red marks at the end and three dark red stripes. It had a saucer-shaped base. I kicked it over, but it returned to its original position."

When he got down on his knees for a closer examination, he went on, it began to spin. So he put a hammer lock on it and mused?

"The police station is the only place for such a wicked looking thing as this." He started to carry it there.

Then Mrs. Hutchinson took up the tale:

"Ah, it was a terrible thing. My husband warned me not to go near it, but you know a woman's inquisitiveness. I just couldn't keep back."

She said she walked along with her husband when he tried to haul the fearful object to the police station at the village of Loup and stood there staring at it when he put it on the ground for a moment to negotiate a hedge.

"Then all of a sudden the monster rose and it nearly pulled my husband off his feet when he tried to hold it."

Asked by police what she did then, she replied:

"I started to panic and then I ran home and prayed."

A high ranking RAF officer at nearby Aldergrove said he was "nearly certain" that the strange object was an escaped weather balloon that had broken away from some station.

"These balloons are almost identical with the shape of the object that Hutchinson saw," he added. "It could have dropped to the earth when it encountered some change in the air currents. And it could have gone up again."

Mrs. Hutchinson vigorously shook her head in disagreement.

The Hutchinson farm is located in a bleak, boggy land near Loch Neagh, where leprechauns, ghosts and witches have been sighted through the ages.

But never a flying saucer before.

The Ouachita parish school system has shown an increase of 373 students this year over the past school system. The statistics were released by Miss Gladys Gregg, visiting teacher for the system.

White schools showed a gain of 302 students over last year's enrollment of 8,203. On the opening day of school this past week, 8,497 white students enrolled.

The enrollment for Negro schools was 2,976 compared with 2,905 for the opening day of the 1955-56 term. This was an increase of 71 pupils.

The largest gain in any white school was at Selman where 380 were enrolled this year against 298 last year.

West Monroe High had the largest number of students this fall, 1633 against 1600 last year. Ouachita Parish High was second with 1102 against 1052 on the same day last year.

The A. L. Smith Jr. High at Sterlington had the largest loss of students this year, 312 this year and 345 in 1955. Calhoun High was second with a loss of 24 students, 321 this year and 345 in 1955.

The Swayze elementary showed a gain of 83 Negro pupils with Boley High second with a gain of 80 and the Terzia High a gain of 84.

Legislature To End 12-Day Meet Early Tomorrow

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 8 (AP)— The Louisiana Legislature comes back Monday to shut down a 12-day special session which saw Gov. Earl Long shake off early setbacks and win two major victories.

Both House and Senate return at 11 a.m. Monday to dispose of routine business and quit.

In the regular session, Long was balked on four measures to increase taxes by the two-thirds vote required for new taxes.

But at the same special session where the governor called back his constitutional amendment to repeal the two-thirds tax safeguard to soften mounting opposition, he pushed through a bill boosting the race track betting tax.

The takeout on the betting pool would be increased from 13 to 15 per cent under the new law, with the extra revenue dedicated for capital outlay at Louisiana State University and to pay expenses for the Legislative Council, research group for the Legislature.

A similar bill failed despite an unheard of three House votes in the regular session that ended July 12.

And Long rammed through 11 measures aimed at the power of

Producers Claim Cotton 'Down Grading' Can Lose $2 Million For Farmers

Cotton producers in north Louisiana have launched a move to stop what they term "unwarranted down-grading" of cotton which they claim threatens to deny farmers a fair price for top quality cotton.

They claim that cotton classed by government cotton classers is often rated lower than it deserves, thus depriving the producer of the higher price paid for cotton graded high in quality.

At a meeting here yesterday morning with U. S. Rep. Otto E. Passman, a delegation from the Louisiana Delta Council, Farm Bureau Federation, cotton producers and buyers studied samples which they said were clearly indicative of discrimination in cotton classing.

Passman declared that it "is clearly evident to anyone that something is wrong." The fifth district congressman said he would leave for Washington today where he would confer with high author-

Then will follow several pertinent announcements designed to give the freshmen information regarding numerous activities in which many of them will

Suspicious Area Being Watched In Ocean Off Florida

MIAMI, Sept. 8 —UP—Weathermen asked ships Friday to report on suspicious areas as heavy squalls off the Florida coast indicated a storm is brewing.

The weather bureau has been watching the squall area with 30 mile-an-hour winds for the three days since it developed in subtropical waters and moved northward bringing rain to the northern Bahamas and South Florica coast.

Forecaster Paul Moore located the disturbance some 500 miles east of Daytona Beach, Fla., and approximately 400 miles northeast of Nassau in the Bahamas. It was moving northward at a slow pace.

Moore said the "low pressure area" was increasing slightly in "squalliness and extent." He said the strongest winds were 30 miles per hour.

He said the next 24 hours would probably determine the course and "buildup or slow death" of the low pressure area.

Moore said a cold front moving off the coast from Georgia and the Carolinas could possibly affect the "depression."

The cool air caused rough weather along the Carolina and Georgia coasts, where small craft warnings were raised. The forecast called for 25-mile-an-hour winds there Saturday and Saturday night.

One American Known Dead In Typhoon Emma

Communications To Base Out; Storm Is Worst In Memory

NAHA, Okinawa, Sept. 8—UP—A typhoon battered this strategic U. S. military bastion for 12 hours Saturday with winds that reached 156 miles per hour.

One U. S. military policeman was known dead. He was electrocuted while touching an electric fan during the storm.

Complete details of damage and casualties were delayed as a result of a communications blackout caused by the violent winds of Typhoon Emma.

The storm, worst to hit this island in memory of its oldest residents, covered military and civilian installations with 15 inches of rain over a 24 -hour period in downpours that cut like knives under the terrific wind pressure.

Winds built up to 140 miles an hour according to U.S. Army meteorologists. A civilian weather station measured one gust at 156 miles—the maximum on the wind gauge.

The 'typhoon proof" Ryukus command headquarters suffered damage. Partitions and windows splintered in the wind. Warehouse roofs flipped high into the air. Flimsy civilian shacks crumpled. Lowlands flooded under the torrential rains. Automobiles were flipped like tiddlywinks.

Thirty-six vicious sentry dogs escaped from their kennel and

Two Killed In Head-On Crash South Of Saline

NATCHITOCHES, Sept. 8 (Special) — Two men were killed and three others seriously injured in a head-on collision of two cars about 10:10 Saturday morning, the Natchitoches Parish sheriff's department reported.

Killed instantly was Cleve Macie, a 53-year-old retired Saline mechanic, who was a passenger in the car driven by Shelby Rhodes, also of Saline. Macie's body was taken immediately to the Conger Funeral Home in Arcadia, the Natchitoches parish sheriff said.

Rhodes was reported to be in critical condition. He was taken to a Jonesboro hospital, and then to a Shreveport hospital for treatment. Extent of his injuries had had not been reported to the sheriff's office Saturday afternoon.

Walter Higginbotham, 34, of Jonesboro, driver of the other car, died about 30 minutes after his arrival at a Jonesboro hospital.

Eye witnesses to the accident said the car driven by Higginbotham veered to the left side of the road just before meeting Rhodes' car at the end of a bridge. Both cars were completely demolished in the collision.

David Egan, a Saline Negro, who was also a passenger in the Rhodes car, was taken to the Jonesboro hospital for treatment and then transferred to the Confederate Memorial hospital in Shreveport. Another Negro, Jewell Patterson, who was riding with Rhodes, was taken directly to the Shreveport hospital from the scene of the accident. Patterson is also a resident of Saline.

State police officers are making an investigation of the accident, the sheriff said.

'Level-Headed' Irishman Captures 'Flying Saucer' In Arms, But Object Escapes Grasp

MONEYMORE, Northern Ireland (AP) — A "level - headed, God-fearing" Irish farmer says he was running to the police station with a captured flying saucer in his arms yesterday, but it escaped.

"I had difficulty in holding it down," Thomas Hutchinson explained today.

A Royal Air Force officer said what Hutchinson picked up must have been a weather balloon—but police preferred the farmer's version.

"Thomas Hutchinson is a level-headed, God-fearing chap," said the desk sergeant at Moneymore headquarters. "He's not the sort of man who would imagine he seized a flying saucer if, in fact, he didn't have one."

Hutchinson said he and his wife Maud saw a flying saucer drop from the clouds into a bog 200 yards from his front door shortly after lunch yesterday.

It was egg-shaped, about 3 feet high and 18 inches in diameter, said Hutchinson. "It was bright red with two dark red marks at the end and three dark red stripes. It had a saucer-shaped base. I kicked it over, but it returned to its original position."

When he got down on his knees for a closer examination, he went on, it began to sp[illegible] So he put a hammer lock on it [illegible]d mused?

"The police station is the only place for such a wicked looking thing as this." He started to carry it there.

Then Mrs. Hutchinson took up the tale:

"Ah, it was a terrible thing. My husband warned me not to go near it, but you know a woman's inquisitiveness. I just couldn't keep back."

She said she walked along with her husband when he tried to haul the fearful object to the police station at the village of Loup and stood there staring at it when he put it on the ground for a moment to negotiate a hedge.

"Then all of a sudden the monster rose and it nearly pulled my husband off his feet when he tried to hold it."

Asked by police what she did then, she replied:

"I started to panic and then I ran home and prayed."

A high ranking RAF officer at nearby Aldergrove said he was "nearly certain" that the strange object was an escaped weather balloon that had broken away from some station.

"These balloons are almost identical with the shape of the object that Hutchinson saw," he added. "It could have dropped to the earth when it encountered some change in the air currents. And it could have gone up again."

Mrs. Hutchinson vigorously shook her head in disagreement.

The Hutchinson farm is located in a bleak, boggy land near Loch Neagh, where leprechauns, ghosts and witches have been sighted through the ages.

But never a flying saucer before.

Lake Providence Council Makes Impressive Gains

By SYBIL M. BAYLES

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Sept. 8 (Special) — A review of the work of the mayor and board of aldermen, town of Lake Providence, since the beginning of their term, July 1, 1954, brings to light many accomplishments during the past two years.

One of the things of which the board is most proud is the fact that they secured for the town employees an excellent group hospitalization plan which provides coverage for the employees and their families for a small sum each month. Being one of the charter members in the municipal employees retirement system is also most noteworthy. This new system, which is growing by leaps and bounds, provides retirement benefits, planned to supplement social security benefits, for those who become too old or infirm to work. One person has already retired under this plan in Lake Providence and several other employees are nearing retirement age. Alderman H. C. White, of the Lake Providence board of aldermen, is one of the trustees of the retirement system.

A complete remodeling job on the interior of the city hall, transformed a dingy, high - ceilinged, drafty, barn - like affair, into a modern, up-to-date suite of offices, which better serve the public and provide adequate, attractive working space for the employees of city Hall. Air-conditioning was added which tends to heighten efficiency of the personnel and provides a comfortable atmosphere for the customers.

An all - out clean up campaign last spring enlisted the help of both Negroes and whites, in a fight-to-the-finish against rubbish, trash, weeds and unsightly buildings. This was a civic enterprise in which everyone took an active interest and which showed wonderful results. A follow-up is planned for the near future.

Among the pet projects of the board from the beinning of their term was a modification of the existing building code. In line with that desire, Lake Providence adopted the national building code, abbreviated edition, and then was the first municipality in Louisiana to amend the code so as to embrace the 1955 edition as soon as it was printed. Plans are being carried out to enforce the building and fire code more strictly.

Another project, of which the whole town is proud, is the completion of 90 blocks of blacktopping, which leaves only a few streets that are not hard-surfaced. It is hoped that these can be finished before too long.

The addition of two new police cars and a two-way radio system providing 24 hour service to the townspeople added materially to the effectiveness of the police force. A safety patrol officer was also added to the staff in August of 1954.

The establishment of a civil defense organization, with a director appointed jointly by the police jury and the town council, has proven most helpful. Cooperating with the police jury, the town helped to finance the construction of the first observation tower in this area for use by the civil defense in plane-spotting.

The purchase of a new line truck, a new street truck, a suction pump, concrete mixer, air compressor and hammer, new sweeper for the streets, tractor with ditch- digging attachments for laying lines, tractor mower, and a new Pak-Mor garbage unit for the sanitation department, have helped to provide Lake Providence citizens with more services from the various departments of the town. Almost all of this equipment is paid for and the remainder will be paid off in a short while.

Mayor W. B. "Bill" Cone and his five man board, consisting of Aldermen Leon Minsky, Ernest Parra, Devall Purdy, L. E. Walters and Howard C. White, realizing that in order to grow, Lake Providence must have room for expansion, adopted an ordinance annexing a new sub-division north of the corporate limits, to the town. At the present time, this annexation is not completed, but it is hoped that the boundaries of the Town proper will have moved back on three sides before very long. (No expansion is possible on the east, because of the Mississippi).

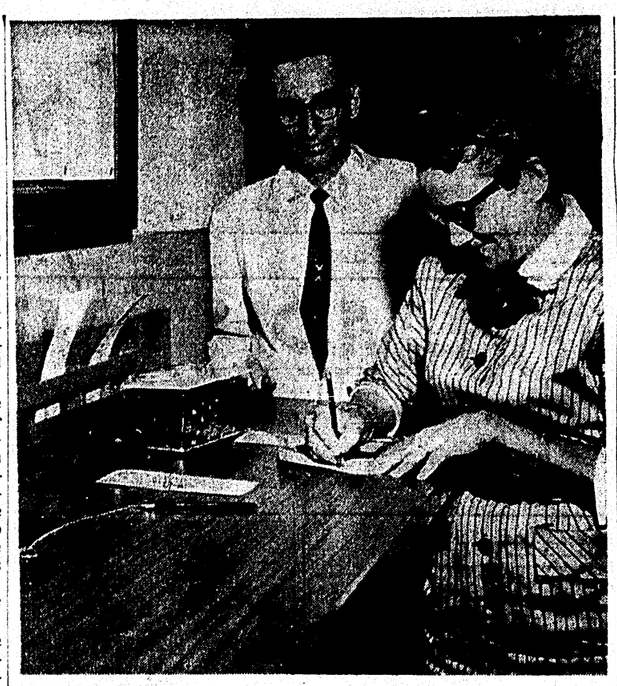
The council and the town are very proud of the low tax rate, which is only 7 mills. The 4½ mill sewerage tax was discontinued last year.

Revenues from the parking meters were dedicated to a special fund for recreational purposes. Beginning in 1956, the town is contributing $2,000 to a parish-wide recreational program, which is under the direction of the School Board.

At the present time, all you can hear around City Hall is planning for a new revenue bond program, to make needed improvements and additions to the power plant which is "the goose that lays the golden egg" as far as Lake Providence's revenues are concerned. At least two additional engines are needed and more water and water mains will probably be included in the program. Improvements to the distribution system for the plant and possible additions to the Fire Department are being discussed in a series of planning meetings that are being held with interested citizens of the Town.

All the council members are active and working hard to make their tenure of office a memorable one. Much has been accomplished, and much more is being planned for the next two years.

Mayor Cone is already setting a fast pace as a leader in the municipal field. He was elected a member at large on the Executive Board of the Louisiana Municipal Association for this year, and served in 1956 as a member of the Convention planning committee. He is also a member of the Executive Board of the Louisiana Retailers Asociation and brings to all these jobs, the same enthusiasm that characterizes everything he does. Under his leadership and direction, and with the full support and cooperation of his able board, Lake Providence will soon be "on the map" with larger lettering than ever before.



OFFICIALLY ADOPTED after tryouts in a few post offices, ball-point pens have been placed in the post offices here and throughout the country on a permanent basis, Homer Roark, West Monroe postmaster, announced Saturday. Here Postmaster Roark is shown with Mrs. W. M. Brown, Glenwood drive, West Monroe, who is using one of the new pens. The pens are chained to the desks to prevent theft. As the fillers become empty, they are replaced. The old-fashioned pens and ink wells have been abandoned. (Staff photo by John Oldenburg)

Hospital Patients Join Rayville Man In Birthday Party

RAYVILLE, Sept. 8 (Special) — The 74th birthday party for J. A. Bartlett of Rayville turned out to be a gala affair this year. It was so big that patients on three wards of the Conway Memorial hospital, where Bartlett is also a patient, feasted on the cake and ice cream furnished for the party by his family and friends.

Assisting in the arrangements for the celebration last Tuesday were his sister, Mrs. Stone Goodwin, of Darnell, his niece Miss Maybell Bartlett, of Rayville, Mr. and Mrs. Sorey, friends, of Rayville, and their son, Bill Williams, of Houston, Tex.

Also attending were Bartlett's wife, Mrs. Dovie Bartlett, his son, Tommy, and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Earl Lockwood, all of Rayville.

Big Business To Proceed With Major Expansion Of Industry Despite Costs

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP) — Big business served notice this week that it's going right ahead with its expansion plans despite the high cost of materials and "tight" money.

New evidence of bold expansion planning could be seen on several fronts.

Stockholders of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. gave the go-ahead for a mammoth offering of new common stock. Proceeds estimated at 575 millions will help finance a two-billion-dollar construction and improvement program.

Sinclair Oil Corp. said it is considering a proposal to raise 150 millions through sale of debentures, presumably to finance acquisition of new crude oil reserves. United States Steel Corp. requested special tax benefits for a 94-million-dollar expansion of its Fairless Works.

Johns-Manville Corp. announced plans for a common stock offering that would contribute some 30 millions to its expansion kitty. The National Carbon Co. division of Union Carbide & Carbon Corp. said it has decided to double a planned increase in productive capacity at its carbon and graphite plants. Plans for a 40-million-dollar jet engine plant near Palm Beach, Fla., were unveiled by United Aircraft's Pratt & Whitney Division.

Meanwhile, expansion plans conceived many months ago were bearing fruit. Allied Stores Corp. announced that between Sept. 20 and Oct. 8 it will open new department stores with a total of 870,000 square feet of selling space in five shopping centers from Hicksville, N. Y., to Houston, Tex. (The others are at Cincinnati, Minneapolis and Sarasota.)

The emphasis on bold expansion programming highlighted a week in which most key business indicators pointed upward.

Steel output was scheduled at 98.7 per cent of capacity, highest since the July strike.

The stock market staged a post-Labor Day rally that lifted the Associated Press 60-stock average to $184.30, a net gain of $1.00 for the week.

The government released figures showing new highs in construction spending and employment.

Nearly 66¾ million Americans had jobs last month. This month the total may decline as job-holding students go back to school or college.

Outlays for construction during August came to 4 1-3 billion dollars—highest ever recorded for a single month. Records were set for office and warehouse buildings industrial plants, schools, sewers, waterworks and highways. Once again, the rough spot in the construction picture was homebuilding—outlays for private residential construction through August ran about one billion dollars behind the year-ago pace. Builders, complaining bitterly about the tightness of available funds for mortgage and construction loans, planned a march on Washington to air their protests.

At least two additional engines are needed and more water and water mains will probably be included in the program. Improvements to the distribution system for the plant and possible additions to the Fire Department are being discussed in a series of planning meetings that are being held with interested citizens of the Town.

All the council members are active and working hard to make their tenure of office a memorable one. Much has been accomplished, and much more is being planned for the next two years.

Mayor Cone is already setting a fast pace as a leader in the municipal field. He was elected a member at large on the Executive Board of the Louisiana Municipal Association for this year, and served in 1956 as a member of the Convention planning committee. He is also a member of the Executive Board of the Louisiana Retailers Association and brings to all these jobs, the same enthusiasm that characterizes everything he does. Under his leadership and direction, and with the full support and cooperation of his able board, Lake Providence will soon be "on the map" with larger lettering than ever before.

OFFICIALLY ADOPTED after tryouts in a few post offices, ball-point pens have been placed in the post offices here and throughout the country on a permanent basis, Homer Roark, West Monroe postmaster, announced Saturday. Here Postmaster Roark is shown with Mrs. W. M. Brown, Glenwood drive, West Monroe, who is using one of the new pens. The pens are chained to the desks to prevent theft. As the fillers become empty, they are replaced. The old-fashioned pens and ink wells have been abandoned. (Staff photo by John Oldenburg)

Big Business To Proceed With Major Expansion Of Industry Despite Costs

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP) — Big business served notice this week that it's going right ahead with its expansion plans despite the high cost of materials and "tight" money.

New evidence of bold expansion planning could be seen on several fronts.

Stockholders of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. gave the go-ahead for a mammoth offering of new common stock. Proceeds estimated at 575 millions will help finance a two-billion-dollar construction and improvement program.

Sinclair Oil Corp. said it is considering a proposal to raise 150 millions through sale of debentures, presumably to finance acquisition of new crude oil reserves. United States Steel Corp. requested special tax benefits for a 94-million-dollar expansion of its Fairless Works.

Johns-Manville Corp. announced plans for a common stock offering that would contribute some 30 millions to its expansion kitty. The National Carbon Co. division of Union Carbide & Carbon Corp. said it has decided to double a planned increase in productive capacity at its carbon and graphite plants. Plans for a 40-million-dollar jet engine plant near Palm Beach, Fla., were unveiled by United Aircraft's Pratt & Whitney Division.

Meanwhile expansion plans conceived many months ago were bearing fruit. Allied Stores Corp. announced that between Sept. 20 and Oct. 8 it will open new department stores with a total of 870,000 square feet of selling space in five shopping centers from Hicksville, N. Y., to Houston, Tex. (The others are at Cincinnati, Minneapolis and Sarasota.)

The emphasis on bold expansion programming highlighted a week in which most key business indicators pointed upward.

Steel output was scheduled at 98.7 per cent of capacity, highest since the July strike.

The stock market staged a post-Labor Day rally that lifted the Associated Press 60-stock average to $184.30, a net gain of $1.00 for the week.

The government released figures showing new highs in construction spending and employment.

Nearly 66¾ million Americans had jobs last month. This month the total may decline as job-holding students go back to school or college.

Outlays for construction during August came to 4 1-3 billion dollars—highest ever recorded for a single month. Records were set for office and warehouse buildings industrial plants, schools, sewers, waterworks and highways. Once again, the rough spot in the construction picture was homebuilding—outlays for private residential construction through August ran about one billion dollars behind the year-ago pace. Builders, complaining bitterly about the tightness of available funds for mortgage and construction loans, planned a march on Washington to air their protests.

'Nervous' Grains End Week Mixed

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 (AP)—A nervous grain market finished with no uniform trend on the Board of Trade this week. Neither gains nor losses were of much consequence.

The best gains were turned in by wheat while the largest losses were rung up in rue. They weren't spectacular in either case. Soybeans declined for the eleventh week out of the last fourteen.

Cotton Futures Generally Higher

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Cotton futures prices were generally higher this week.

Distant contracts made the best showing. All deliveries except nearby December finished in higher ground.

Net price changes of active contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange ranged from 30 cents a bale lower to $2.20 higher. At their best levels of the week, all deliveries from March forward made new life-of-contract highs.

Gains were held in check by hedge selling and profit-taking.

Biggest supporting factor for the distant months was the growing possibility of a tight supply of domestic cotton at the end of the current season.

The Commodity Credit Corporation reported it sold 208,484 bales of upland cotton under its export program against bids opened Sept. 4. The average price was 26.14 cents a pound for middling one-inch staple. This compared with sales of 157,000 bales against bids opened Aug. 21 when the average price was 2611.

Exports of U.S. lint cotton for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau at 49,000 bales. This compared with 58,000 the previous week and 12,000 a year ago. The total for the season through Tuesday was estimated at 231,000 bales vs. 72,000 at approximately the same time last season.

'Nervous' Grains End Week Mixed

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 (AP)—A nervous grain market finished with no uniform trend on the Board of Trade this week. Neither gains nor losses were of much consequence.

The best gains were turned in by wheat while the largest losses were rung up in rue. They weren't spectacular in either case. Soybeans declined for the eleventh week out of the last fourteen.

Cotton Futures Generally Higher

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Cotton futures prices were generally higher this week.

Distant contracts made the best showing. All deliveries except nearby December finished in higher ground.

Net price changes of active contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange ranged from 30 cents a bale lower to $2.20 higher. At their best levels of the week, all deliveries from March forward made new life-of-contract highs.

Gains were held in check by hedge selling and profit-taking.

Biggest supporting factor for the distant months was the growing possibility of a tight supply of domestic cotton at the end of the current season.

The Commodity Credit Corporation reported it sold 208,484 bales of upland cotton under its export program against bids opened Sept. 4. The average price was 26.14 cents a pound for middling one-inch staple. This compared with sales of 157,000 bales against bids opened Aug. 21 when the average price was 2611.

Exports of U.S. lint cotton for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau at 49,000 bales. This compared with 58,000 the previous week and 12,000 a year ago. The total for the season through Tuesday was estimated at 231,000 bales vs. 72,000 at approximately the same time last season.

Right To Work Laws Face New Threat

The AFL-CIO and the Americans for Democratic Action apparently will concentrate their political fire in the Congressional campaigns upon a single issue—election of senators and House members pledged to oppose right to work laws.

The Taft-Hartley Act gives federal "permission" to the states to enact and enforce right to work legislation.

Sixteen states have such laws in effect. Louisiana, by legislative vote and a majority dominated by Governor Earl K. Long, repealed its right to work statute at the regular session last spring. Unquestionably, this action was in direct violation of the will of the people. This issue, if submitted to popular vote, would in all likelihood find at least 80 per cent of the voters favoring reenactment of the measure.

The powerfully financed union lobbyists working in Baton Rouge consented to enactment of a new measure applying the right to work principle to farm laborers—a strange and inconsistent proceeding, since if the law was bad for other organized crafts, why should it be good for the cane workers and other agriculturalists? The union bosses, in other words, dumped their agricultural unions to the dogs, from their own standpoint, to win votes in the Legislature needed to repeal the general measure.

As against the setback suffered by right to work proponents in Louisiana, let us glance at Kansas. Republican Governor Fred Hall, who had vetoed a right to work bill in the Sunflower State, was defeated overwhelmingly in his campaign for renomination, mainly on this one issue. State Representative Warren Shaw, campaigning on a promise to support passage of a right to work law, was nominated despite desperate opposition from union bosses nationally and in Kansas City.

And in Washington State, advocates of a right to work law succeeded in their drive to place the issue on a referendum ballot, obtaining far more than the 50,000 signatures needed.

The Democratic national platform calls for outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, and specifically criticizes the Act "because 'state right to work' laws have their genesis in its discriminatory anti-labor provisions."

The Republican national platform proposes to "revise and improve" the Taft-Hartley Act? Yet Secretary of Labor Mitchell is an avowed opponent of right to work legislation and a champion of compulsory unionism.

The strategy of the union bosses apparently is to back candidates for Congress who pledge themselves publicly or secretly to vote for repeal of Section 14-b in the Taft-Hartley Act. This section legalizes state right to work laws, as not interfering with federal enactments.

By this expedient, all right to work legislation enacted by the commonwealths would be left without props and would fall, according to some experts.

Unless the people are vigilant, the union strategy well might succeed. Opponents of compulsory unionism are justified in demanding of every Congressional candidate a clearcut public commitment on this vitally important issue.

More Coal To New Castle

There was a time when the idea of "taking coal to New Castle" represented a height of absurdity. England was the world's foremost producer of coal. She not only produced enough for her own needs, but sold tremendous quantities to other countries.

But coal—lots of coal—is going to New Castle today. And it is U. S. coal.

During the first four months of this year, for instance, 1,288,000 tons of coal went to New Castle. Other European countries—including France, Holland, Germany and Italy—have become major buyers of our coal. U. S. exports have been averaging over 3.5 million tons a month for a considerable period of time. The annual rate is well above 42 million tons now, and is expected to hold to that figure and perhaps substantially increase.

Why should Europe lean so heavily on American coal supplies? One reason, of course, is that postwar industrial expansion and rebuilding have gone on at an accelerating pace. Another is that many European mines have been worked for centuries and are inefficient producers now. A third and extremely important reason is that foreign coal industries are for the most part either government owned or rigidly controlled by government—and that production has suffered accordingly, as it always does when the bureaucrat and the officeholder make the decisions.

Coal is a competitive, free enterprise industry in America—and it leads the world in its field.

$4 A Pound Beef

In Communist Warsaw, according to an article in The New York Times Magazine, beef costs the equivalent of $4 a pound. Even at the figure, it is scarce.

The situation is similar in other communist countries—and also in countries in which the machinery of production and distribution are rigidly controlled and regimented by the government.

The point is that, in the long run, when economic decisions are made by government to suit the purposes of government, the public at large usually finds that prices are high, supplies are short, and living standards are poor.

The American consumer may kick at what he thinks is a high price for beef, which is his right. The American farmer may complain because he thinks he is getting too little for his livestock, and that is his right. But the fact remains that in a free economy, in which markets are controlled by the natural law of supply and demand instead of fallible and ever-varying human judgment, both producers and consumers get far better returns and far better buys than the producers and consumers elsewhere. In the case of meat, moving in the free market, profits of packers and retailers and others involved in the distribution process are held to low levels by competition. The people who produce the meat and the people who eat it reap the benefits.

Miscegenation

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Who is responsible for the upheavel of riotous turbulence throughout the country? Obviously the answer is, "Nine cheap politicians in Washington, who could not go back to their home States and get elected "Justice of the Peace." They pretend to represent the authors of peace while their very ideals, pretexts, and precepts generate, egitate and promote internecine warfare.

Those authors of degeneracies pretend to be experts in the knowledge and wisdom of the laws and equity. They interpret the laws as being absolute, despotic and unmitigating. They overrule the concept that all laws statutory and constitution, are subject to modification and limitation by relative laws, rights and privileges guaranteed and protected, by the U. S. Constitution. They disregard every moral law and every law of nature under the sun. They disregard all precedents back through the annals of time to Moses whom God would not permit to enter the promised land because he had committed miscegenation; his wife was an Arab. And, all through the Pentateuch, God's people are admonished to be separate from all other people; and the Hebrews observe those laws unto this day.

Under the law of Equity, and the laws of nature, men are endowed with inalienable rights to life, liberty, and freedom to be secure in their persons and property; and to be free in the commutation and dispensation of their public money, and free in the exercise of Sacred Religion. Like the Hebrews, the Southern white people observe segregation laws in compliance with, and obedience to the divine laws of nature handed down to us by the divine council of Almighty God; but, low grade communist - minded politicians, who are willing to exchange their birth right for a few filthy votes, say, we cannot enjoy these privileges.

Special Sessions

Bossier City, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The most needed change in the present Constitution of Louisiana is to calling special sessions of the Legislature. That can probably be made better by submitting a constitutional amendment where the Governor could not dominate a few and avoid a drastic change. As it is he can call as many special sessions as near together as he wants to call, no matter how much they cost the state, and neither the Legislature nor the people have to be told what will be submitted long enough in advance to make organized opposition. In that way the most important rights of the people may be taken from them within a few hours without opportunity to oppose same. It was never thought until recent years that any Governor would dare use special Legislative sessions for his own political and selfish benefits at the cost of millions of dollars to the people.

We have had our "Mr. Short Stop," our "Mr. Republican," but I think it is high time we have one named appropriately for what is going on in Louisiana. Who will make suggestions?

Editorial Truths

St. Joseph, La.

Editor, Morning World:

September 1st issue of your Morning World appears an editorial that I think is more truth in than anything that I have read concerning the subject therein.

When I receive my World I look at the headlines and turn to the Editorial and whatever the subject I always enjoy reading it. But I am especially interested in this one. I wish it could be made possible for copies of this editorial to be available for every city, town, village and citizen in our great U. S. The Texas and Tenn. towns mentioned therein especially should have copies.

Let me say that I endorsed the truths one hundred per cent that appear in this Editorial and I suppose that is one of the things that make me—An American Citizen of the 100% White Blood type — and believe in the very things that our forefathers fought and died to preserve. And let me also say that they did a mighty fine job in so doing to let just a few "New Deal, Fair Deal, Left - wing Deal, Kremlin Deal, Money - deal" or whatever the deal - politicians destroy so soon and unjust.

May I ask what way would anyone be allowed to use this editorial. Would it be permissable to reprint in order to have extra copies? Would it be the right thing to do to send copies to these towns or their officers or maybe the local papers in each? Your opinion please.

Keep up the good writing and by so doing you will be getting the truth to a few of the so many that believe as you and I.

No Easy Way To Lose Weight

Having just reduced from 245 pounds to 200, I feel qualified to expert this already belabored subject.

A doctor convinced me that the hazard to health from excess weight is considerable, even when not noticeable.

He explained that the extra miles of tiny blood vessels necessary to supply life to those layers of fat increased the work load back at the pumphouse. The heart works harder, wears out faster.

Assorted other negative effects result from overweight.

Every time somebody advertises an "easy way" to reduce, it is not long before the new method is discredited or pronounced dangerous.

Finally I came to the conclusion that if it's worth doing, it's worth doing the hard way: I stopped eating.

Doc says I should hold to the present 200 pounds, which is about par for my six-feet-two frame.

Even holding the line will require continued restraint.

I see by this paper that Uncle Sam is having a similar problem.

A balanced budget and an anticipated surplus this fiscal year disguise the fact that our government is still four billion dollars fatter than last year.

We are eating more. Our government is consuming more tax dollars.

Because we are taking in more than before, the creeping obesity is unnoticed.

And there must come a time when Sam will take in his belt or bust!

All right, burst.

The promises of both political parties this campaign time are emphasizing more federal spending.

New government programs for highways, schools, health, social security, public works, increased foreign aid.

That the people want these things cannot be questioned as long as they continue to vote for the men who promise them.

But I continued to want pie a la mode, too, all the time my better judgment was prevailing.

My appetite wanted to say yes every time my stubborn Dutch will - power said no.

There is no easy way!

Four years ago Senator Taft considered 60 billion dollars a sensible annual cost of government.

He, and responsible economists agreed, figured that Uncle Sam could carry that much weight without exhausting himself.

Last January the Eisenhower Administration estimated this would be a 65 billion dollar year.

Last week they upped the estimate to 69 billion. Our government's civilian payroll has shot past the ten and a half billion dollar mark to the highest level in history.

How much is too much? I don't know.

But history demonstrates that any nation which taxes its people more than 25 per cent of their gross national income is top-heavy.

Initiative is destroyed. The government "support" diminishes, the "heart" begins to fail.

We are presently being taxed at the rate of 33 per cent. And in peacetime!

We will reduce the weight we are carrying or risk collapse.

And we'll have to give up some of the extravagances now labeled "welfare" to do it.

There is no easy way.

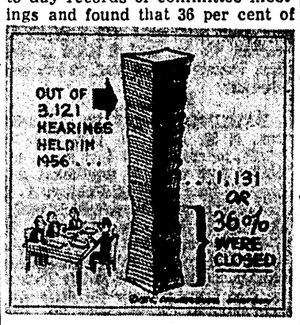
Congressional Secrecy Stays At 1955 Level

WASHINGTON — Congress barred the public from 1,131 of its 3,121 committee meetings in 1956, or more than one-third of them.

And in many cases, committee chairmen did not follow the custom of reporting closed meetings after they had been held.

Congressional Quarterly kept day to day records of committee meetings and found that 36 per cent of them were closed in 1956. This compares with 36 per cent in 1955, 41 per cent in 1954 and 35 per cent in 1953.



No major committee — one meeting 10 or more times — opened all its meetings to the public. Eleven committees met at least half the time behind closed doors. The eleven and their percentages of closed meetings:

Senate Rules and Administration, 100 per cent; House Administration, 70 per cent; Joint Atomic Energy, 64 per cent; House Ways and Means, 63 per cent; Senate Foreign Relations, 63 per cent; House Public Works, 57 per cent; House Foreign Affairs, 56 per cent; Senate Special Committee to Investigate Political Activities, 55 per cent; Senate Armed Services, 54 per cent; Senate Finance, 52 per cent; House Education and Labor, 50 per cent.

Spokesmen for several of those committees listed such things as national security, government efficiency and preserving the private rights of witnesses as reasons for closing meetings.

Many of the meetings closed to the public in 1956 were on seemingly non- controversial matters. For example, the House Education and Labor Committee went behind closed doors at times to discuss legislation to establish an arts committee and to authorize a medal for distinguished civilian achievement.

Several committees held 25 per cent or less of their meetings in executive session. Those committees and percentages:

Senate Small Business, 5 per cent; House Interior, 6 per cent; Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce, 11 per cent; House Small Business, 14 per cent; House Armed Services, 15 per cent; Senate Government Operations, 21 per cent; Senate Labor, 24 per cent; House Interstate and Foreign Commerce, 11 per cent; House Small Veterans' Affairs, 24 per cent.

House groups generally displayed more of an "open door" policy than Senate or Joint committees in 1956. House committees closed 34 per cent of their meetings, 573 out of 1,686; Senate committees 37 per cent, 481 out of 1,303, and Joint committees 58 per cent, 77 out of 132.

The committees themselves, usually through the call of the chairmen, determine when they will meet and whether to open the session to the public. Section 221 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 directs the Joint Committee on Printing "to provide for printing in the Daily Record (The Daily Digest of the Congressional Record) . . . . a list of Congressional meetings, and hearings, and the place of meeting and subject matter, and to cause a brief resume of Congressional activities for the previous day to be incorporated in the Record."

In many quarters, that regulation is interpreted as an order to report all meetings held. But a study of the statistics shows how widely this interpretation of the law is ignored.

Congressional Quarterly in an analysis of meetings held from April 16 through adjournment on July 27 got verification from House committee staff personnel that at least 59 meetings were held but not reported. Senate committees held at least eight closed meetings without reporting them, the study disclosed, and the Joint Atomic Energy, one, during that period. In addition, a Senate Judiciary Internal Security Subcommittee spokesman said the subcommittee held 55 executive sessions during the whole year without reporting them. The spokesman said it was against "committee policy" to report all closed meetings.

Republican national headquarters claims it does not worry about Eisenhower reelection but there is no doubt it is greatly concerned about reports that he must "win big" in order to carry Congress for his party. Local labor unions, despite AFL-CIO endorsement of Stevenson - Kefauver, will concentrate attention on congressional elections. Many locals will not advise union members how to vote on presidency. Prediction is that in event of close presidential contest, both branches of Congress will be won by Democrats.

Brownell In Quandary — Real reason Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. has declined to be a candidate for New York Republican senatorial nomination is that he has his eye on next U. S. Supreme Court vacancy, which will occur with the retirement of Associate Justice Minton on Oct. 15. However, he would face stiff fight for confirmation in Senate, where Democrats recall his charges that their party harbored Communists in government. Meanwhile, Bronell is steering clear of any action by Justice Department in desegregation flare-ups.

Prediction is that unless next Supreme Court nominee can show he has taken no stand on desegregation, he will have long wait for Senate confirmation.

We're Slow With Atoms — The U. S., which made atomic power possible, is behind other major nations in its development but scientific leaders say they're not worried, because we have sufficient power development from other fuels. However, Stevenson - Kefauver have an issue in refusal of Eisenhower administration to endorse public power development, while taking lead in "atoms for peace" program for rest of world. Britain outstrips us in atomic power development, because British government fears electric power and fuel shortage.

Prediction is that, if Democrats win, Atomic Energy Commission, now headed by Admiral Lewis L. Strauss will advocate government development of atomic power — but under a new chairman.

Harry Jumping Again — Former President Truman can't be kept off the stump this year, will make his own campaign schedule, whether Stevenson - Kefauver leaders like it or not. Though his influence seems to have been greatly diminished by his unsuccessful effort to dominate Chicago Democratic convention, his campaigning is still important in holding regular Democratic vote in line in Middle West.

Prediction is that he won't have much TV-time, unless his close friends pay for it. Democratic National committee won't.

GOP Senate — Republican hopes of overturning two vote Democratic edge in U. S. Senate have revived on strength of reports they have good chance of winning Democratic seats in New York Kentucky, Nevada, Oregon and possibly Washington. However, President Eisenhower must sweep those states to carry senatorial candidates with him.

Outlook is that Democrats, as of now can win Republican Senate seats in Idaho, Maryland and Pennsylvania and that contest for Senate control will be as close as it was in 1952 and 1954.

Farm Surplus Diminishing — Billion dollar sales of government owned agricultural commodities, engineered by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson, have eased administration worries over huge new crops harvested this year. Most recent deal is with India, which will buy 360 millions worth of our farm surplus. Prediction is that, with 27 countries buying, and almost two billion disposed of in past two years, surplus will be decreased for first time since Republican administration came into office.

In Adlai's State — Some Democrats are puzzled at refusal of Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago to back any candidate for governor approved by former Governor Adlai Stevenson. Result has been selection of Judge Richard Austin, little known outside Chicago, to succeed primary nominee Herbert Paschen, forced by Daley to withdraw after a slush fund scandal. Daley, who wants to be Democratic boss of Illinois, says Stevenson will carry his own state, but does not want any Stevenson lieutenant in state house at Springfield to challenge his leadership.

Right To Work Laws Face New Threat

The AFL-CIO and the Americans for Democratic Action apparently will concentrate their political fire in the Congressional campaigns upon a single issue—election of senators and House members pledged to oppose right to work laws.

The Taft-Hartley Act gives federal "permission" to the states to enact and enforce right to work legislation.

Sixteen states have such laws in effect. Louisiana, by legislative vote and a majority dominated by Governor Earl K. Long, repealed its right to work statute at the regular session last spring. Unquestionably, this action was in direct violation of the will of the people. This issue, if submitted to popular vote, would in all likelihood find at least 80 per cent of the voters favoring reenactment of the measure.

The powerfully financed union lobbyists working in Baton Rouge consented to enactment of a new measure applying the right to work principle to farm laborers—a strange and inconsistent proceeding, since if the law was bad for other organized crafts, why should it be good for the cane workers and other agriculturalists? The union bosses, in other words, dumped their agricultural unions to the dogs, from their own standpoint, to win votes in the Legislature needed to repeal the general measure.

As against the setback suffered by right to work proponents in Louisiana, let us glance at Kansas. Republican Governor Fred Hall, who had vetoed a right to work bill in the Sunflower State, was defeated overwhelmingly in his campaign for renomination, mainly on this one issue. State Representative Warren Shaw, campaigning on a promise to support passage of a right to work law, was nominated despite desperate opposition from union bosses nationally and in Kansas City.

And in Washington State, advocates of a right to work law succeeded in their drive to place the issue on a referendum ballot, obtaining far more than the 50,000 signatures needed.

> The Democratic national platform calls for outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, and specifically criticizes the Act "because 'state right to work' laws have their genesis in its discriminatory anti-labor provisions."
> The Republican national platform proposes to "revise and improve" the Taft-Hartley Act? Yet Secretary of Labor Mitchell is an avowed opponent of right to work legislation and a champion of compulsory unionism.

The strategy of the union bosses apparently is to back candidates for Congress who pledge themselves publicly or secretiy to vote for repeal of Section 14-b in the Taft-Hartley Act. This section legalizes state right to work laws, as not interfering with federal enactments.

By this expedient, all right to work legislation enacted by the commonwealths would be left without props and would fall, according to some experts.

Unless the people are vigilant, the union strategy well might succeed. Opponents of compulsory unionism are justified in demanding of every Congressional candidate a clearcut public commitment on this vitally important issue.

More Coal To New Castle

There was a time when the idea of "taking coal to New Castle" represented a height of absurdity. England was the world's foremost producer of coal. She not only produced enough for her own needs, but sold tremendous quantities to other countries.

But coal—lots of coal—is going to New Castle today. And it is U. S. coal.

During the first four months of this year, for instance, 1,288,000 tons of coal went to New Castle. Other European countries—including France, Holland, Germany and Italy—have become major buyers of our coal. U. S. exports have been averaging over 3.5 million tons a month for a considerable period of time. The annual rate is well above 42 million tons now, and is expected to hold to that figure and perhaps substantially increase.

Why should Europe lean so heavily on American coal supplies? One reason, of course, is that postwar industrial expansion and rebuilding have gone on at an accelerating pace. Another is that many European mines have been worked for centuries and are inefficient producers now. A third and extremely important reason is that foreign coal industries are for the most part either government owned or rigidly controlled by government—and that production has suffered accordingly, as it always does when the bureaucrat and the officeholder make the decisions.

Coal is a competitive, free enterprise industry in America—and it leads the world in its field.

$4 A Pound Beef

In Communist Warsaw, according to an article in The New York Times Magazine, beef costs the equivalent of $4 a pound. Even at the figure, it is scarce.

The situation is similar in other communist countries—and also in countries in which the machinery of production and distribution are rigidly controlled and regimented by the government.

The point is that, in the long run, when economic decisions are made by government to suit the purposes of government, the public at large usually finds that prices are high, supplies are short, and living standards are poor.

The American consumer may kick at what he thinks is a high price for beef, which is his right. The American farmer may complain because he thinks he is getting too little for his livestock, and that is his right. But the fact remains that in a free economy, in which markets are controlled by the natural law of supply and demand instead of fallible and ever-varying human judgment, both producers and consumers get far better returns and far better buys than the producers and consumers elsewhere. In the case of meat, moving in the free market, profits of packers and retailers and others involved in the distribution process are held to low levels by competition. The people who produce the meat and the people who eat it reap the benefits.

Miscegenation

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Who is responsible for the upheavel of riotous turbulence throughout the country? Obviously the answer is, "Nine cheap politicians in Washington, who could not go back to their home States and get elected "Justice of the Peace." They pretend to represent the authors of peace while their very ideals, pretexts, and precepts generate, egitate and promote internecine warfare.

Those authors of degeneracies pretend to be experts in the knowledge and wisdom of the laws and equity. They interpret the laws as being absolute, despotic and unmitigating. They overrule the concept that all laws statutory and constitution, are subject to modification and limitation by relative laws, rights and privileges guaranteed and protected, by the U. S. Constitution. They disregard every moral law and every law of nature under the sun. They disregard all precedents back through the annals of time to Moses whom God would not permit to enter the promised land because he had committed miscegenation; his wife was an Arab. And, all through the Pentateuch, God's people are admonished to be separate from all other people; and the Hebrews observe those laws unto this day.

Under the law of Equity, and the laws of nature, men are endowed with inalienable rights to life, liberty, and freedom to be secure in their persons and property; and to be free in the commutation and dispensation of their public money, and free in the exercise of Sacred Religion. Like the Hebrews, the Southern white people observe segregation laws in compliance with, and obedience to the divine laws of nature handed down to us by the divine council of Almighty God; but, low grade communist - minded politicians, who are willing to exchange their birth right for a few filthy votes, say, we cannot enjoy these privileges.

Special Sessions

Bossier City, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The most needed change in the present Constitution of Louisiana is to calling special sessions of the Legislature. That can probably be made better by submitting a constitutional amendment where the Governor could not dominate a few and avoid a drastic change. As it is he can call as many special sessions as near together as he wants to call, no matter how much they cost the state, and neither the Legislature nor the people have to be told what will be submitted long enough in advance to make organized opposition. In that way the most important rights of the people may be taken from them within a few hours without opportunity to oppose same. It was never thought until recent years that any Governor would dare use special Legislative sessions for his own political and selfish benefits at the cost of millions of dollars to the people.

We have had our "Mr. Short Stop," our "Mr. Republican," but I think it is high time we have one named appropriately for what is going on in Louisiana. Who will make suggestions?

Editorial Truths

St. Joseph, La.

Editor, Morning World:

September 1st issue of your Morning World appears an editorial that I think is more truth in than anything that I have read concerning the subject therein.

When I receive my World I look at the headlines and turn to the Editorial and whatever the subject I always enjoy reading it. But I am especially interested in this one. I wish it could be made possible for copies of this editorial to be available for every city, town, village and citizen in our great U. S. The Texas and Tenn. towns mentioned therein especially should have copies.

Let me say that I endorsed the truths one hundred per cent that appear in this Editorial and I suppose that is one of the things that make me—An American Citizen of the 100% White Blood type — and believe in the very things that our forefathers fought and died to preserve. And let me also say that they did a mighty fine job in so doing to let just a few "New Deal, Fair Deal, Left - wing Deal, Kremlin Deal, Money - deal" or whatever the deal - politicians destroy so soon and unjust.

May I ask what way would anyone be allowed to use this editorial. Would it be permissable to reprint in order to have extra copies? Would it be the right thing to do to send copies to these towns or their officers or maybe the local papers in each? Your opinion please.

Keep up the good writing and by so doing you will be getting the truth to a few of the so many that believe as you and I.

No Easy Way To Lose Weight

Having just reduced from 245 pounds to 200, I feel qualified to expert this already belabored subject.

A doctor convinced me that the hazard to health from excess weight is considerable, even when not noticeable.

He explained that the extra miles of tiny blood vessels necessary to supply life to those layers of fat increased the work load back at the pumphouse. The heart works harder, wears out faster.

Assorted other negative effects result from overweight.

Every time somebody advertises an "easy way" to reduce, it is not long before the new method is discredited or pronounced dangerous.

Finally I came to the conclusion that if it's worth doing, it's worth doing the hard way: I stopped eating.

Doc says I should hold to the present 200 pounds, which is about par for my six-feet-two frame.

Even holding the line will require continued restraint.

I see by this paper that Uncle Sam is having a similar problem.

A balanced budget and an anticipated surplus this fiscal year disguise the fact that our government is still four billion dollars fatter than last year.

We are eating more. Our government is consuming more tax dollars.

Because we are taking in more than before, the creeping obesity is unnoticed.

And there must come a time when Sam will take in his belt or bust!

All right, burst.

The promises of both political parties this campaign time are emphasizing more federal spending.

New government programs for highways, schools, health, social security, public works, increased foreigh aid.

That the people want these things cannot be questioned as long as they continue to vote for the men who promise them.

But I continued to want pie a la mode, too, all the time my better judgment was prevailing.

My appetite wanted to say yes every time my stubborn Dutch will - power said no.

There is no easy way!

Four years ago Senator Taft considered 60 billion dollars a sensible annual cost of government.

He, and responsible economists agreed, figured that Uncle Sam could carry that much weight without exhausting himself.

Last January the Eisenhower Administration estimated this would be a 65 billion dollar year.

Last week they upped the estimate to 69 billion. Our government's civilian payroll has shot past the ten and a half billion dollar mark to the highest level in history.

How much is too much? I don't know.

But history demonstrates that any nation which taxes its people more than 25 per cent of their gross national income is top-heavy.

Initiative is destroyed. The government "support" diminishes, the "heart" begins to fail.

We are presently being taxed at the rate of 33 per cent. And in peacetime!

We will reduce the weight we are carrying or risk collapse.

And we'll have to give up some of the extravagances now labeled "welfare" to do it.

There is no easy way.

Solon Charges Vessel Carrying Wetbacks 'Unfit'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (UP)—Rep. Robert H. Mollohan (D-W. Va.) charged Saturday that a government ship used to deport Mexican wetbacks is unfit for human beings.

Mollohan, chairman of a special House investigating subcommittee said he "emphatically" disagreed that the ship, the Mercurio, should be used even if adequate life-saving equipment is added.

He made the statement in a letter to Vice Adm. J. M. Will, commander of the Military Sea Transportation Service which operates the chartered vessel to deport illegal Mexican laborers from Texas back to Mexico.

Will had reported to Mollohan's legal affairs subcommittee that the vessel would be adequate if enough life rafts, life boats and life jackets were added.

Earlier this year Mollohan's investigation disclosed that the ship carried only two life boats for the 500 or more Mexican carried each trip. One of the life boats leaked badly when tested, Mollohan said.

He said Saturday that even if adequate life-saving equipment was added the ship would still not be adequate to maintain "standards worthy of our national and democratic traditions." He said its facilities did not even match the requirements set by Congress for steerage passage back in 1882.

"This ship was not built to carry 500 passengers," he said, "And it is highly doubtful that it can be modified and equipped to do so."

One consignment of wetbacks was reportedly recently to have rioted aboard the ship in protest against conditions.

The Mercurio was described during subcommittee hearings as a "Hell ship." But Immigration Chief J. M. Swing described the "shiplift" as "a Caribbean cruise."

Mollohan said Swing neglected to portray the conditions which made the Mexicans "hate the trip like a devil hates holy water."

The West Virginia Democrat said the ship, with 500 passengers aboard, was so overloaded that it once almost capsized "when many of the passengers rushed to one side when land was sighted."

He said no amount of safety equipment "will assure adequate safety unless there is a sufficient number of well-trained crewmen to operate it." The Mercurio's 26 crewmen "would be hopelessly inadequate to meet...an emergency," he added.

The congressman said he had no objection to deporting the Mexicans who cross the border illegally to get jobs on U. S. farms. And he said he did not want to provide them with "luxury accommodations," but he charged the Mercurio's sleeping quarters, latrines, and dining areas were even less than required for the poorest type of travel in the 19th century.

GOP 'Truth Squad' Assigned To Keep Track On Truman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (UP)—White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty Saturday cited former President Truman's newst "buck-passing" charge against President Eisenhower as "one of the reasons" why Republicans have assigned a truth squad to follow Mr. Truman around the country.

Hagerty told reporters Mr. Truman's charge, and other recent Democratic criticism of Mr. Eisenhower, "will be answered in the campaign—with facts."

With President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon spending a quiet weekend before launching their official reelection campaigns, Hagerty and Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio) carried the ball for the GOP in replying to Democrats who already are campaigning vigorously.

Brown, vice chairman of the Republican national committee, accused the Democrats of resorting to smear tactics "because they have no issues."

"President Truman is smearing our great President and other Democrats are smearing Vice President Nixon at the very moment he should have everyone's sympathy," said Brown.

"This is like a small boy trying to drop a flying fortress with a pea-shooter. The American public, I am confident, will react against these anything - goes - to - win tactics."

Mr. Truman, in a speech here Friday night, accused Mr. Eisenhower of playing "the old army game of passing the buck." He said Mr. Eisenhower refused to be held responsible for anything his subordinates do "unless it turns out to be successful."

Hagerty said the speech was a good example of why Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall recently announced formation of a Republican "truth squad"—a flying squad of Republican speakers — to follow Mr. Truman during the campaign and answer his charges.

Ike's Meeting

Gettysburg Set For Day Of Days' Next Wednesday

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Sept. 8 (AP)—This historic town of 8,000 in the lush, rolling country of southeastern Pennsylvania is exulting, in its restrained fashion, over what even many of the old timers call "our day of days."

That will be next Wednesday, when national attention focuses three ways on decidedly special happenings in Gettysburg.

President Eisenhower is coming, with Vice President Nixon and 500 Republican campaign workers, for the first of his pre-election rallies—at the Eisenhower farm home nearby. Late in the afternoon, as the schedule stands, the President will speak. James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, says the speech will not be in a major key, rather more of a pep talk to get the GOP drive rolling.

On the same day, Sept. 12, a statue of Albert Woolson, last survivor of the Union Army in the Civil War, will be unveiled in dedicatory ceremonies under auspices of the Sons of Union Veterans. Woolson died last month at the age of 109 in Duluth, Minn., his home city.

Also on the big day, Gettysburg touches off its two-week sesquicentennial celebration, with all the variety of entertainment — and some instruction, too—which such an extravaganza affords.

WOULD AID DEFENSE CORPS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (UP)—Sen. J. Glenn Beal (R-Md.) proposed Saturday that civil defense volunteers be given individual income tax deductions up to $600 per year. He said the program would be an incentive for men and women to participate in the civil defense program.

National Civil Defense Week Observance Begins

Displays of emergency food kits and first aid equipment, distribution of CD literature and posters and speeches before various local clubs will highlight Monroe's observance of America's first National Civil Defense Week, which opens today and continues through Saturday, September 15.

Purpose of Civi Defense Week is to pay tribute to the thousands of volunteer CD workers throughout the United States for their efforts on behalf of the nation and to promote public interest in and understanding of the need for active civil defense organization, announced A. B. Clarkson, district "F" CD director.

Observance of the week was designated by the Federal Civil Defense Administration and approved by President Eisenhower, Clarkson said. Gov. Earl K. Long has issued a proclamation calling upon Louisiana's citizens to recognize CD week and the work of volunteers and organizations throughout the state, he noted.

District "F" Civil Defense staffers and volunteer workers will commemorate the week by:

(1) Presenting a mass infant feeding display at the Ouachita parish health unit building and distributing literature there. (Parish health unit nurses have been trained to handle mass infant feeding in the event of an enemy atomic attack or a natural disaster, Clarkson pointed out.);

(2) Arranging for the window display of "Grandma's Pantry on Wheels" in the trunk of a new car at Ryan - Polk Chevrolet, Inc., 201 Washington St. The week-long display will show an auto properly equipped for evacuation and will include a three-day supply of food, a first aid kit, extra water and gasoline and other equipment and tools needed for a civil defense emergency;

(3) Promoting the display of emergency civil defense equipment (food supply, first aid kit and other needs) and posters at Sears - Roebuck, 1501 Louisville Ave., and at Durrett's Furniture Store, 105 St. John;

(4) Sponsoring the presentation of civil defense speeches by six members of the Toastmaster Club of Monroe before various local organizations during the week, and

(5) Distributing CD literature and displaying posters at the main post office, the Central Savings Bank & Trust Co., the Ouachita National Bank, the Parish public library and the U. S. Agricultural building in West Monroe.

The displays can be seen throughout the week, Clarkson said. Aiding the various stores in putting up the displays were members of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Monroe, he noted.

National celebration of CD week by the Federal Civil Defense Administration will open today with the issuance of a proclamation by President Eisenhower; the presentation of a half-hour television show by NBC from the FCDA Rescue School at Olney, Md., at 3:30 p.m. (CST), and of two nationwide radio programs on Civil Defense, including the Monitor program from 1 to 4 p. m. (CST).

President Eisenhower may appear with FCDA Administrator Val Peterson on the live TV show from Olney, Md.

Lottery Operator Granted Reprieve

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8—UP—A convicted lottery operator, Lucius G. Forsyth, was free today on a temporarily 30-day reprieve granted by Gov. Earl K. Long.

The reprieve was granted after Forsyth served the first two months of a seven-month sentence. He was also fined a total of $1,000 and officials said the money has not been paid.

Forsyth was found guilty of lottery operations on May 20, 1955. The state Supreme Court subsequently upheld his conviction.

He will, however, have to return to prison to complete his sentence at the end of 30 days unless a renewal or pardon is received.

Stocks Climb On Average After 4 Straight Drops

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—The stock market rose this week on average, breaking a series of four straight weekly declines. The Associated Press average advanced $1 to $184.30.

Suez was the dominant news factor. In the first two trading days the cordial atmosphere at Cairo encouraged traders.

Then there was bullish news for the biggest corporate family when shareholders of American Telephone approved an increase in authorized stock, clearing the way for issuance of rights to buy one share of AT&T at $100 for each 10 shares held, an enticing prospect since the stock closed this week at $183.75 a share.

Union Oil of California gained 6⅞ on news of its 1,000-barrels-a-day discovery well in Costa Rica. Texas Gulf Producing rose 2¼ on the week on glowing reports about its oil drilling in Libya.

News of big Air Force contracts boosted Douglas Aircraft 6⅛ points, Lockheed 3, Temco 2⅜, Glenn Martin 2⅛ and Boeing 1.

Thus the stock market breasted the traditional Labor Day turning point in fair shape, all things considered.

The five most active stocks were U.S. Steel up 2 at 66⅞, AT&T up 1 at 183¾, Jones & Laughlin Steel up 1⅝ at 58¾, North American Aviation up 3⅝ at 49 and Standard Oil (NJ), off ⅛ at 56⅛.

Corporate and government bonds lost ground again this week under the continued pressure of money scarcity and high interest rates.

Shrimpers Plan High Court Test Of Restraint Case

BILOXI, Miss., Sept. 8 (AP) —An attorney for the Gulf Coast Shrimpers and Oystermans Assn. said today he would carry the fight against federal charges of Sherman anti-trust act violations to the Supreme Court.

Howard McDonnell, chief counsel for the group and three of its officers, said he would appeal to the high tribunal.

The association and officers yesterday lost a round in the fight when the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals upheld their conviction on charges of conspiring to fix the price to dealers for shrimp and oysters by coercing dealers to buy only from association members.

They were convicted in January, 1955. The association was fined $2,500 and the three officers got nine-month sentences.

The officials were Louis Simmons of Biloxi, association president; Leon Strong of Biloxi, secretary; and Walter McVeay, Pascagoula, chapter secretary.

Strong is deceased.

Council Offers To Aid Negroes In Migrating North

GREENWOOD, Miss., Sept. 8 (AP) — Mississippi's Citizens Councils offered their help today to speed migration of the state's Negroes to northern states.

A bulletin distributed by the Association of Citizens Councils of Mississippi said:

"Let the state governments of those states whose representatives and press advocate integration for the South make available accomodations for the number of Negro citizens necessary to bring their Negro population up to the national average of 10 per cent. This includes housing and jobs, as well as school and church facilities.

"We will give their message wide publicity through the South, so that our segregated Negroes can migrate to those states."

The councils' offer came several weeks after an independent study by a Mississippi State College sociologist showed 40,000 to 50,000 Negroes are leaving Mississippi each year.

The sociologist, Dr. Robert C. Weems Jr., said the proportion of Negroes in the state had fallen from 50-50 in 1940 to 45 per cent in 1950 and 42 per cent in 1952. Continuation of the trend, he said, would mean there would be only one Negro to two whites in Mississippi by 1966.

The citizens councils, organized soon after the U.S. Supreme Court school integration ruling and aimed at upholding segregation, said in their bulletin:

"It is noteworthy that practically all the agitation for integration in the South comes from the representatives of states which have no Negro problems, or from states which have a limited Negro problem due to residential segregation, but have a powerful Negro bloc vote.

". . . it would be a very fine thing if those who share their 'solution' with the South would offer to share our 'problem.'"

The suggested migration was described as "logical, practical, humane democratic and sound."

"It would be a simple matter to set up the proper agencies to facilitate this migration to the North. Our northern brethren will be given an opportunity to practice the equality, integration and civil rights that they have been preaching so loud and long."

Miss. Reports Income From Tax On Illegal Liquor

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 8 (AP) — Mississippi's five per cent sales tax on whisky returned $364,203 during the first six months of 1956, the State Tax Commission said today.

V. B. Wheeless, head of the sales tax division, said the report was the first breakdown on the tax since it was made effective last year.

The Legislature ordered the three per cent sales tax boosted to five per cent for whisky and other "commodities the sale of which is prohibited by law."

The state also collects a 10 per cent "black market" tax on whisky. During August, the collections totaled $94,838, State Tax Collector William Winter said earlier this month.

Dark-Skinned Tot Refused Entrance At White School

ANDALUSIA, Ala., Sept. 8 (AP)—Troy Ammons, a 7-year-old dark-skinned child of nearby Gantt, Ala., lost out today on his second attempt to enroll in an all-white Covington County school.

County Supt. Thomas W. Carroll announced he has assigned the boy to Gantt School No. 2, which Negro pupils customarily attend.

His decision was made "after careful consideration of all factors involved" and for the best interests of the child and the Covington County school system, Carroll said.

The Ammons boy had sought admission to an all-white grammar school at nearby Rawls, Ala. He was turned down last September when he tried to enter an all-white school.

Stocks Climb On Average After 4 Straight Drops

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—The stock market rose this week on average, breaking a series of four straight weekly declines. The Associated Press average advanced $1 to $184.30.

Suez was the dominant news factor. In the first two trading days the cordial atmosphere at Cairo encouraged traders.

Then there was bullish news for the biggest corporate family when shareholders of American Telephone approved an increase in authorized stock, clearing the way for issuance of rights to buy one share of AT&T at $100 for each 10 shares held, an enticing prospect since the stock closed this week at $183.75 a share.

Union Oil of California gained 6⅞ on news of its 1,000-barrels-a-day discovery well in Costa Rica. Texas Gulf Producing rose 2¼ on the week on glowing reports about its oil drilling in Libya.

News of big Air Force contracts boosted Douglas Aircraft 6⅛ points, Lockheed 3, Temco 2⅜, Glenn Martin 2⅛ and Boeing 1.

Thus the stock market breasted the traditional Labor Day turning point in fair shape, all things considered.

The five most active stocks were U.S. Steel up 2 at 66⅞, AT&T up 1 at 183¾, Jones & Laughlin Steel up 1⅝ at 58¾, North American Aviation up 3¾ at 49 and Standard Oil (NJ), off ⅛ at 56⅛.

Corporate and government bonds lost ground again this week under the continued pressure of money scarcity and high interest rates.

Shrimpers Plan High Court Test Of Restraint Case

BILOXI, Miss., Sept. 8 (AP)—An attorney for the Gulf Coast Shrimpers and Oystermans Assn. said today he would carry the fight against federal charges of Sherman anti-trust act violations to the Supreme Court.

Howard McDonnell, chief counsel for the group and three of its officers, said he would appeal to the high tribunal.

The association and officers yesterday lost a round in the fight when the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals upheld their conviction on charges of conspiring to fix the price to dealers for shrimp and oysters by coercing dealers to buy only from association members.

They were convicted in January, 1955. The association was fined $2,500 and the three officers got nine-month sentences.

The officials were Louis Simmons of Biloxi, association president; Leon Strong of Biloxi, secretary; and Walter McVeay, Pascagoula, chapter secretary.

Strong is deceased.

Mother Collapses During Service For Ruotolo Tot

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 8 (AP)—Cynthia Ruotolo's tiny body was buried in a treeless corner of St. Bernard Cemetery today after her grief stricken mother collapsed in her husband's arms. He had to carry her away.

Mrs. Eleanor Ruotolo, 33, buckled in tears three minutes after the simple Roman Catholic committal service started in bright sunlight.

Nearly 75 spectators, mostly women in aprons and housedresses, ringed the grave as the Rev. Gerald Mullins, the Ruotolos' parish priest, prayed in Latin, then English.

The only other relatives at the graveside were Mr. and Mrs. John J. Ruotolo. John Ruotolo is the brother of Stephen Ruotolo, father of the dead child. John's wife is Mrs. Stephen Ruotolo's sister.

Only Thursday, 6-week-old Cynthia's body was lifted from Lake Whitney in nearby Hamden by three boys who had been fishing. The infant was taken from her carriage at a crowded Sears Roebuck department store last Saturday.

Coroner James J. Corrigan had reported that Ruotolo, an $80-a-week salesman, had refused to believe the child found stuffed in a plastic bag in the lake was his. He thought, Corrigan said, this baby was too big to be Cynthia.

Today, as he stood by the graveside occasionally sobbing, he shook his head in disbelief.

The Ruotolos arrived at the cemetery in a police car at 11:07 a.m. Ahead of them, in a black funeral car, was Cynthia's body. It lay in a casket encased in a pine box, with a spray of white flower on top.

In a second police car were the John Ruotolo's.

At 11:07, Father Mullins began the graveside service. Stephen Ruotolo stood with his arm about his sobbing wife. Three minutes later, she slumped crying aloud, and her husband caught her. He picked her up and carried her to the car. They drove out of the cemetery and the priest continued to pray.

The service lasted only six minutes. Toward the end, the women spectators, many with small children, responded to the prayers Father Mullins recited.

There were no pallbearers. In line with Catholic procedure in instant deaths there were no church services. A "Mass of the Angels" may be held later, however.

HOLDS BACK A FRIEND—Citizen of Sturgis, Ky., is held back by a friend as he threatens to hit a national guardsman who stands with crossed bayonette rifle. Guardsmen and other law enforcement officers were on hand to quell disturbances resulting from the first integration move in this West Kentucky town. (AP Wirephoto.)

Texas Completes 197 New Oil Wells

AUSTIN, Sept. 8 (AP)—Texas oil well completions totaled 197 last week to bring the year total to 11,476 compared to 10,432 last year.

Gas well completions reported by the Railroad Commission were 33 for a total of 1,231. There were 125 dry holes, for a yearly total of 5,587. There were 9 oil wildcats, and 5 gas wildcats.

The total average calendar day allowable was 3,350,832 barrels, compared to 3,350,977 Sept. 1.

25 Cane Growers To Be Honored

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 8—UP—The LSU agriculture extension service today announced that 25 of the state's top sugar cane growers would be honored at an awards luncheon in New Iberia Sept. 29.

The luncheon for the 25 top farmers with high cane yields per acre will be part of the annual sugar cane festival at New Iberia.

The American Sugar Cane League and the LSU extension service will sponsor the event. F. A. Graugnard, president of American Sugar Cane League, will be the master of ceremonies.

Those eligible will come from five sugar cane producing districts in the state who plant five or more acres to cane.

Alexandria To Be Bypassed In Highway Program

ALEXANDRIA, La. Sept. 8—UP—State Highway Director R. B. Richardson told a civic group here Alexandria will probably be the only major city in the state left out of the new federal super highway system.

He said the present plans call for two new through highways running east and west across the state, but not passing through here.

However, he said additional mileage allocations for Louisiana may make it possible to construct a north-south highway following the general route of U. S. 71 from Krotz Springs to Shreveport through Alexandria.

LUTHERANS TO MEET

GULFPORT, Miss. Sept. 8—UP—The Louisiana district of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League will hold a Christian Growth Institute at Camp Kittiwake near here Sept. 14-16.

Mother Collapses During Service For Ruotolo Tot

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 8 (AP) Cynthia Ruotolo's tiny body was buried in a treeless corner of St. Bernard Cemetery today after her grief stricken mother collapsed in her husband's arms. He had to carry her away.

Mrs. Eleanor Ruotolo, 33, buckled in tears three minutes after the simple Roman Catholic committal service started in bright sunlight.

Nearly 75 spectators, mostly women in aprons and housedresses, ringed the grave as the Rev. Gerald Mullins, the Ruotolos' parish priest, prayed in Latin, then English.

The only other relatives at the graveside were Mr. and Mrs. John J. Ruotolo. John Ruotolo is the brother of Stephen Ruotolo, father of the dead child. John's wife is Mrs. Stephen Ruotolo's sister.

Only Thursday, 6-week-old Cynthia's body was lifted from Lake Whitney in nearby Hamden by three boys who had been fishing. The infant was taken from her carriage at a crowded Sears Roebuck department store last Saturday.

Coroner James J. Corrigan had reported that Ruotolo, an $80-a-week salesman, had refused to believe the child found stuffed in a plastic bag in the lake was his. He thought, Corrigan said, this baby was too big to be Cynthia.

Today, as he stood by the graveside occasionally sobbing, he shook his head in disbelief.

The Ruotolos arrived at the cemetery in a police car at 11:07 a.m. Ahead of them, in a black funeral car, was Cynthia's body. It lay in a casket encased in a pine box, with a spray of white flower on top.

In a second police car were the John Ruotolo's.

At 11:07, Father Mullins began the graveside service. Stephen Ruotolo stood with his arm about his sobbing wife. Three minutes later, she slumped crying aloud, and her husband caught her. He picked her up and carried her to the car. They drove out of the cemetery and the priest continued to pray.

The service lasted only six minutes. Toward the end, the women spectators, many with small children, responded to the prayers Father Mullins recited.

There were no pallbearers. In line with Catholic procedure in infant deaths there were no church services. A "Mass of the Angels" may be held later, however.

HOLDS BACK A FRIEND—Citizen of Sturgis, Ky., is held back by a friend as he threatens to hit a national guardsman who stands with crossed bayonette rifle. Stevenson Continues To Blast Farm And Business Policies Of Eisenhower

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP)— Adlai E. Stevenson charged Saturday that the Republicans have adopted an attitude that the small businessman and farmer are "obsolete."

The Democratic presidential candidate, in a speech at the Ohio state Democratic convention, lashed out at the Eisenhower administration for treating the farmer with "callousness" and small business as "a neglected stepchild."

Earlier, at a "homecoming" celebration in Springfield, Ill., Stevenson hammered away at the GOP "peace and prosperity" slogan.

The nominee returned to the Illinois state capital where he served as governor for four years to deliver a speech on the steps of the historic Sangamon county courthouse.

Stevenson said the issue in the presidential campaign is "not peace and prosperity, but how we go about getting it."

Stevenson was greeted by about 50 to 600 persons at the Springfield airport after a 50 - minute flight from Chicago, and then rode in motorcade through the city.

In his address at Columbus, Stevenson told the convention delegates the GOP is "the spokesman for the rich and the powerful."

"As the party of bigness, it watches the vanishing family farm and the squeezing out of small business with little concern and no distress," Stevenson said.

Stevenson said that there is a "crisis on our farms, which is threatening to wipe out the family farmer. . .the backbone of American society." He accused the GOP of "defeatism" toward this "crisis."

The administration "has decided that lower prices mean less production and if this also means bankruptcy for a lot of family farmers, well they are obsolete and beyond salvage anyway," he said.

Stevenson quoted a Republican candidate for Congress from Illinois as saying two weeks ago that the GOP platform "faces the economic fact that the small farmer is becoming obsolete." Aides said this remark came from Edgar A. Jonas, Chicago, an ex - congressman.

"We Democrats reject this Republican defeatism," Stevenson said. "We know that an administration which cares can do a great deal to help the farmer help himself."

Stevenson advocated a food stamp plan for the needy to help put farm surpluses to use. This previously has been endorsed by his running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

He also recommended an "expanded" school milk and lunch program and "a world food bank." Of surpluses he said:

"There isn't any sense in paying for it and piling it up when it couldn't cost any more to use it."

6 Congressional Probes To Start In Next Week

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (UP) Six congressional groups start new investigations or resume old ones next week, producing the most activity at the Capitol since adjournment 50 days ago.

The committees will inquire into such diverse matters as election-year campaign spending, Soviet strategy, taxes, lobbying, the possibility of monopoly in the television industry, and the collision of two big airliners over the Grand Canyon in Arizona.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler and his Republican counterpart, Leonard W. Hall, will testify at the opening of an elections subcommittee inquiry into campaign contribution expenditures. The group, headed by Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) has scheduled hearings Monday and Tuesday.

The House committee on Un-American Activities will offer as a competing attraction on Monday and Tuesday testimony on "Soviet strategy" from a foreigner who is billed as "director of the largest resistance organization behind the Iron Curtain."

One witness will be Ernest Tillich, director of "The Fighting Group Against Inhumanity."

Other congressional inquiries scheduled:

Lobbying— A special Senate committee set up to investigate lobbying will resume hearings Monday with testimony from representatives of oil companies. This group, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), was created after Sen. Francis Case (R-S. D.) disclosed that he had been offered and had rejected, a $2,500 campaign contribution in advance of his vote on the since-vetoed natural gas bill.

Taxes— A House Ways and Means subcommittee will meet behind closed doors Monday to chart the course of its inquiry into national tax policy and administration of the tax laws. The group plans to lay out a program of staff work which can be undertaken while members are back home campaigning for re-election. Public hearings are not expected until after the November election.

This is a continuation of previous hearings conducted here last spring. Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N. Y.) is chairman.

Campaign Funds

Senator Demands Probe Of Coercion On Labor Union

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (UP) Sen. Carl T. Curtis served notice Saturday that he wants the forthcoming Senate investigation of campaign spending to determine whether union members are compelled to make political contributions.

At the same time he cautioned against "harassing" individuals who want to make contributions permitted by law.

The Nebraska senator is the only Republican member of the three-man Senate Elections subcommittee which will hold public hearings Monday and Tuesday on campaign contributions and spending.

Some Republicans have suspected that the Democrats want to use the inquiry for political infighting. Democratic party headquarters has long complained that it can not raise the funds to match GOP campaign expenditures.

"If individuals have or expect to make contributions which are not in violation of the law, I do not think they should be harassed or discouraged," Curtis told a reporter.

"It is important that the candidates of both political parties get their message across to the people. It's an act of good citizenship for an individual citizen to make a political contribution.

"I believe that the committee's efforts should deal with violations, and I expect to pursue the charge that has been made that workers are having to contribute to political campaign funds in order to hold their jobs."

Curtis and Sen. Barry M. Goldwater (R-Ariz.), are among a group of GOP senators who have questioned whether political fund-raising by labor unions is based only on voluntary contributions. The Taft - Hartley Act forbids spending from union treasuries for political purposes.

Four Democratic Women Honored

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (UP)—The Democratic national committee announced Saturday that four of the nation's leading Democratic women, including two former first ladies, will be honorary chairmen of Democratic women's day Sept. 28.

The chairmen will be Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Mrs. Harry S. Truman, Mrs. Ernest Ives, and Mrs. Estes Kefauver. Mrs. Ives, sister of Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson, acted as his official hostess when he was governor of Illinois.

Cadillac

To the Man Who is Hesitating...

There are many motorists here in this community who have given serious consideration to the purchase of a new Cadillac car this year—and yet, for one reason or another, have not made the move.

If you are among them, we hope that you will pause to read the little message that follows. For we are sure you will find it interesting.

• • • •

Ordinarily, when a man hesitates to make the move to Cadillac, it is because he is not familiar with the practical aspects of Cadillac ownership.

Insofar as original cost is concerned, a Cadillac is eminently practical. Several models, in fact, are actually priced competitively with the so-called "medium-priced" makes.

Operating and maintenance costs are also remarkably low. We have heard it said by new owners that Cadillac is the most economical automobile they have ever owned.

And as for resale value—well, Cadillac traditionally retains a greater share of its worth through the years than any other motor car in the land.

In short, the great Cadillac car represents one of the wisest and soundest automotive investments on the highway today.

• • • •

The moral of our message is this: It is still not too late to set things right in a 1956 Cadillac of your own!

We have a selection of new Cadillacs on hand—and we can promise you both prompt delivery and a generous trade-in allowance.

Why not come in today?

"It is important that the candidates of both political parties get their message across to the people. It's an act of good citizenship for an individual citizen to make a political contribution.

"I believe that the committee's efforts should deal with violations, and I expect to pursue the charge that has been made that workers are having to contribute to political campaign funds in order to hold their jobs."

Curtis and Sen. Barry M. Goldwater (R-Ariz.), are among a group of GOP senators who have questioned whether political fund-raising by labor unions is based only on voluntary contributions. The Taft - Hartley Act forbids spending from union treasuries for political purposes.

Cadillac

To the Man Who is Hesitating . . .

There are many motorists here in this community who have given serious consideration to the purchase of a new Cadillac car this year—and yet, for one reason or another, have not made the move.

If you are among them, we hope that you will pause to read the little message that follows. For we are sure you will find it interesting.

* * * *

Ordinarily, when a man hesitates to make the move to Cadillac, it is because he is not familiar with the practical aspects of Cadillac ownership.

Insofar as original cost is concerned, a Cadillac is eminently practical. Several models, in fact, are actually priced competitively with the so-called "medium-priced" makes.

Operating and maintenance costs are also remarkably low. We have heard it said by new owners that Cadillac is the most economical automobile they have ever owned.

And as for resale value—well, Cadillac traditionally retains a greater share of its worth through the years than any other motor car in the land.

In short, the great Cadillac car represents one of the wisest and soundest automotive investments on the highway today.

* * * *

The moral of our message is this: It is still not too late to set things right in a 1956 Cadillac of your own!

We have a selection of new Cadillacs on hand—and we can promise you both prompt delivery and a generous trade-in allowance.

Why not come in today?

TIDELANDS Life Insurance Company

BUNKIE, LOUISIANA

Dear Friends:

Just a short six months ago we announced that the formation of Tidelands Life Insurance Company was an accomplished fact. We brought to your attention some of the investment advantages in the stock of Life Insurance Companies, and we stated our particular aims and purposes.

Our first public offering of the shares of Tidelands Life Capital Stock was made at this time. By July 12th, the entire offering had been completely subscribed, and is now owned by over 2,000 citizens of Louisiana, your friends and neighbors.

In June, our first Life Insurance Policy was announced. To date, over $7,000,000.00 Tidelands Life Insurance has been written, all on an individual basis. Over 40 Insurance Sales Representatives are carrying the Tidelands story to every corner of the State. Life Insurance sales are now at the steady rate of $1,000,000.00 weekly—putting us well within our goal of ONE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS written for the first 12 months of selling.

A 70-acre tract of land has been purchased, and ground broken for the first unit of Tidelands Home Office Building in Bunkie, to occupy 10,000 square feet of floor space.

Due primarily to this growth, which has been far beyond the fondest expectations of the founders, it has been decided by the Board of Directors to increase the capital structure of Tidelands by 500,000 shares of Common Stock, offered at $5.00 per share (par value $1.00).

Tidelands offers this additional issue of stock, to allow those who did not participate in the original issue to join the more than 2,000 present stockholders in building Tidelands into the largest financial institution in the South.

the dream of young American womanhood, she said:

"I can never thank each of you enough. Who would have thought this could happen to me? I will do everything in my power to be a deserving representative as Miss America."

The clincher on the final decision was an answer to three questions asked by TV master of ceremonies Bert Parks. On the first, asking her how she got her hoops and skirts to Atlantic City from her hometown, Miss South Carolina replied that she had a friend who volunteered to bring my "bulky things" all the way here.

Other beauties in the top 10 before the field was narrowed were Joan C. Beckett, California; Dorothy G. Moreau, Canada; Sandra J. Stuart, Chicago; Jere Wright, Hawaii; and Jewell Smearage, Miss Massachusetts.

Mollet To Join Eden In Britain For Suez Parley

LONDON, Sept. 8 (UP)—French Premier Guy Mollet will join Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden here Monday to hear a report on the Cairo Suez talks, it was announced Saturday.

An announcement from No. 10 Downing St. said Eden had invited Mollet and French Foreign Secretary Christian Pineau to London to hear first-hand the report of Australian Prime Minister R. G. Menzies, chairman of the five-nation Suez committee now in Cairo, when he returns here.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd will join Eden, Mollet, Menzies and Pineau for urgent consultations on the apparent failure of the Cairo talks with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

In Washington Secretary of State John Foster Dulles worked toward a new plan for settling the Suez canal problem peacefully. Informed sources said the most promising course appeared to be to take the matter to the United Nations. But diplomatic officials cautioned that the United States had not reached any final decisions, and that this was only one possible course of action.

This thinking tied in with considerations here, where Britain was reported reluctantly preparing with its major allies to take the Suez conflict to the UN Security Council.

Diplomatic sources said this appeared to be one of the unavoidable moves in Allied strategy if the Cairo negotiations end in outright failure.

The alternative would be a "go it alone" policy of using British and French military forces against Egypt to establish international control over the vital Mideast waterway.

Mounted Posse Captures Airmen Escapees In Texas

WHEELER, Tex., Sept. 8 (UP) Three of six teenage airmen who escaped from the detention barracks at Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, Tex., were captured on the wide-open West Texas plains Saturday by a sheriff's posse mounted on horseback.

Wheeler County Sheriff Bus Dorman identified the three who were captured as Samuel Alexander, 18; Charles W. Johnson, 18, and E. J. Crawford, 19, of Adkins, Tex.

The Wichita Falls police department, which broadcast an alert for the six escapees at 8 p.m. Friday, identified the other three as Wayne E. Kittle, Bobby J. Shoemaker and Paul R. Partee, all under 20 years of age. Their hometowns were not known.

Dorman said the other two who were captured were from Wisconsin, but he was unable to learn their hometowns.

The three airmen first were spotted in Wheeler county by Logan Clay, a farmer. He notified the sheriff's office when he became suspicious, but the three men had taken off on foot when Deputy Luke Henley arrived.

"We followed them for a time on foot but saw we were getting nowhere," Sheriff Dorman said. "I called out the Wheeler county sheriff's posse and radioed to McLean for assistance and Gray County Deputy Sheriff Jimmy Shelton gathered up the McLean Roping Club to help us."

The two groups, mounted on horseback, searched the plains and barren rangelands for several hours. Finally Shelton and his posse located the trio hiding in some tall weeds along a railroad right-of-way.

The three men were taken to the Wheeler county jail where they were being held for military authorities.

Several Whites Enroll At Negro School In Texas

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 8 (AP)—Dr. Samuel Nabrit, president of Texas Southern University, said today several white students have enrolled at the Negro school.

Nabrit said he does not recall how many white students have been admitted. He said one withdrew today after having enrolled.

Texas Southern, a state-operated institution, was founded in 1947 under the name of Texas State University for Negroes. The name later was changed to Texas Southern.

In 1947 the state acquired facilities of the old Houston College for Negroes, which had been in operation since 1927.

The university expects an enrollment of nearly 3,000 this fall.

Wife Of Retired Army Major Held

ANNISTON, Ala., Sept. 8 (AP) — The wife of a retired Army major is being held for questioning here following the shooting of her husband today.

Calhoun County Sheriff Roy C. Snead reported that Maj. Benjamin Hollingsford, 50, died at the Ft. McClellan Hospital approximately two hours after he was peppered with about twelve .22 bullets at his home.

Snead said Mrs. Trudie Mae Hollingsford is being questioned. The officer and his wife lived near the main gate of Ft. McClellan.

Southern Governors Meet Today

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Sept. 8 (AP) — Southern governors begin a four-day meeting here tomorrow, and nowhere on their official program do they mention the burning issue before them:

What happens to Southern education now that the Supreme Court's decision on public school segregation is starting to take effect?

Publicly the governors will discuss big but relatively non-controversial subjects—civilian uses of atomic energy and water conservation in the South. And they will listen to Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

But you can bet your last Confederate flag that privately they will be comparing a lot of notes on proposals for handling their many school problems.

This will be the Southerners' 22nd annual meeting, and they traditionally hold it in the fall. So it's just a coincidence that their conference opens at the start of a school term, when you only need to skim the headlines to see some of their troubles.

Draw a line across the map from Maryland to Texas. Each state it touches has had either a major or a minor flare up over integration. These states — Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas and Texas—ring of the rest of the South where presumably the integration difficulties will be tougher.

Already one governor, Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia, has reported he will be tardy, maybe absent altogether, because of the school problem. The Virginia legislature is in a special session, wrestling over proposed school legislation.

Another governor, James P. Coleman of Mississippi, has said he will be unable to attend due to previous commitments.

This leaves 14 governors to fret over regional problems — and talk politics.

Among the Southerners are two Republicans, Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin of Maryland and J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware. Their states went for Eisenhower in the 1952 presidential election, as did Virginia, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Texas and Florida.

These last five states have 65 electoral votes and the Democrats must reclaim nearly all of them if Adlai Stevenson is going to get anywhere in his attempt to reverse the decision in his rematch with Eisenhower Nov. 6.

This will be the Democratic governors' first chance since the Chicago convention to check with each other on political sentiment in the unruly and often far from solid south.

Legislature

district attorney Leander Perez in Plaquemines Parish.

Essentially, the bills give Long control of the levee districts in the parish, with the most controversial giving the governor authority to name 12 extra members to the parish police jury to vote on levee district matters.

The 11-bill package replaced a multi-purpose act on the 1956 Legislature which administration advisors feared was unconstitutional.

In other action, the lawmakers approved:

1. The resolution recalling Long's constitutional amendment repealing the two thirds tax requirement.

2. A constitutional amendment setting aside for two years 35 per cent of the general fund surplus up to 16 million dollars to pay for a 1956 teachers' salary increase the Legislature voted but provided no money for.

3. An act setting up a Negro commuter college in the New Orleans area and providing $1,050,000 in the 1957-58 fiscal year to build the college.

4. A resolution permitting funds appropriated for operating expenses of a white commuter college in New Orleans to be used to build the school. Long vetoed a 1956 capital outlay appropriation.

5. Some 17 bills correcting or making changes in acts of the 1956 Legislature.

The session recalled amendment No. 1 on the Nov. 6 ballot, two-thirds repeal, but replaced it with the teacher pay dedication.

However, instead of giving it the same number, Secretary of State Wade O. Martin Jr. placed the new amendment at the bottom, No. 49.

the dream of young American womanhood, she said:

"I can never thank each of you enough. Who would have thought this could happen to me? I will do everything in my power to be a deserving representative as Miss America."

The clincher on the final decision was an answer to three questions asked by TV master of ceremonies Bert Parks. On the first, asking her how she got her hoops and skirts to Atlantic City from her hometown, Miss South Carolina replied that she had a friend who volunteered to bring my "bulky things" all the way here.

Other beauties in the top 10 before the field was narrowed were Joan C. Beckett, California; Dorothy G. Moreau, Canada; Sandra J. Stuart, Chicago; Jere Wright, Hawaii; and Jewell Smearage, Miss Massachusetts.

Miss McKnight, who was sponsored by the Myrtle Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce, said that "never did I think that I would ever get it."

The new Miss America for 1957 will receive a $5,000 scholarship and the potential goes on from there.

The retiring queen, Sharon Kay Ritchie of Denver, Colo., picked up some $60,000 in personal appearances covering 100,000 miles of travel by plane, train and bus.

Scholarships worth $14,500 went to the nine runnersup.

In the preliminary judging, Miss Alabama won in talent the first night and Miss California was ahead in the swim suit preliminary. Thursday, it was Miss Arkansas in talent and Miss Hawaii in the swim suit. Friday night, Miss Nebraska emerged on top in talent and Miss Chicago won in the swim suit.

Mollet To Join Eden In Britain For Suez Parley

LONDON, Sept. 8 (UP)—French Premier Guy Mollet will join Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden here Monday to hear a report on the Cairo Suez talks, it was announced Saturday.

An announcement from No. 10 Downing St. said Eden had invited Mollet and French Foreign Secretary Christian Pineau to London to hear first-hand the report of Australian Prime Minister R. G. Menzies, chairman of the five-nation Suez committee now in Cairo, when he returns here.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd will join Eden, Mollet, Menzies and Pineau for urgent consultations on the apparent failure of the Cairo talks with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

In Washington Secretary of State John Foster Dulles worked toward a new plan for settling the Suez canal problem peacefully. Informed sources said the most promising course appeared to be to take the matter to the United Nations. But diplomatic officials cautioned that the United States had not reached any final decisions, and that this was only one possible course of action.

This thinking tied in with considerations here, where Britain was reported reluctantly preparing with its major allies to take the Suez conflict to the UN Security Council.

Diplomatic sources said this appeared to be one of the unavoidable moves in Allied strategy if the Cairo negotiations end in outright failure.

The alternative would be a "go it alone" policy of using British and French military forces against Egypt to establish international control over the vital Mideast waterway.

Several Whites Enroll At Negro School In Texas

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 8 (AP)—Dr. Samuel Nabrit, president of Texas Southern University, said today several white students have enrolled at the Negro school.

Nabrit said he does not recall how many white students have been admitted. He said one withdrew today after having enrolled.

Texas Southern, a state-operated institution, was founded in 1947 under the name of Texas State University for Negroes. The name later was changed to Texas Southern.

In 1947 the state acquired facilities of the old Houston College for Negroes, which had been in operation since 1927.

The university expects an enrollment of nearly 3,000 this fall.

Wife Of Retired Army Major Held

ANNISTON, Ala., Sept. 8 (AP) — The wife of a retired Army major is being held for questioning here following the shooting of her husband today.

Calhoun County Sheriff Roy C. Snead reported that Maj. Benjamin Hollingsford, 50, died at the Ft. McClellan Hospital approximately two hours after he was peppered with about twelve .22 bullets at his home.

Snead said Mrs. Trudie Mae Hollingsford is being questioned. The officer and his wife lived near the main gate of Ft. McClellan.

Mounted Posse Captures Airmen Escapees In Texas

WHEELER, Tex., Sept. 8 (UP) Three of six teenage airmen who escaped from the detention barracks at Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, Tex., were captured on the wide-open West Texas plains Saturday by a sheriff's posse mounted on horseback.

Wheeler County Sheriff Bus Dorman identified the three who were captured as Samuel Alexander, 18; Charles W. Johnson, 18, and E. J. Crawford, 19, of Adkins, Tex.

The Wichita Falls police department, which broadcast an alert for the six escapees at 8 p.m. Friday, identified the other three as Wayne E. Kittle, Bobby J. Shoemaker and Paul R. Partee, all under 20 years of age. Their hometowns were not known.

Dorman said the other two who were captured were from Wisconsin, but he was unable to learn their hometowns.

The three airmen first were spotted in Wheeler county by Logan Clay, a farmer. He notified the sheriff's office when he became suspicious, but the three men had taken off on foot when Deputy Luke Henley arrived.

"We followed them for a time on foot but saw we were getting nowhere," Sheriff Dorman said. "I called out the Wheeler county sheriff's posse and radioed to McLean for assistance and Gray County Deputy Sheriff Jimmy Shelton gathered up the McLean Roping Club to help us."

The two groups, mounted on horseback, searched the plains and barren rangelands for several hours. Finally Shelton and his posse located the trio hiding in some tall weeds along a railroad right-of-way.

The three men were taken to the Wheeler county jail where they were being held for military authorities.

Southern Governors Meet Today

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Sept. 8 (AP) — Southern governors begin a four-day meeting here tomorrow, and nowhere on their official program do they mention the burning issue before them:

What happens to Southern education now that the Supreme Court's decision on public school segregation is starting to take effect?

Publicly the governors will discuss big but relatively non-controversial subjects—civilian uses of atomic energy and water conservation in the South. And they will listen to Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

But you can bet your last Confederate flag that privately they will be comparing a lot of notes on proposals for handling their many school problems.

This will be the Southerners' 22nd annual meeting, and they traditionally hold it in the fall. So it's just a coincidence that their conference opens at the start of a school term, when you only need to skim the headlines to see some of their troubles.

Draw a line across the map from Maryland to Texas. Each state it touches has had either a major or a minor flare up over integration. These states — Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas and Texas—ring of the rest of the South where presumably the integration difficulties will be tougher.

Already one governor, Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia, has reported he will be tardy, maybe absent altogether, because of the school problem. The Virginia legislature is in a special session, wrestling over proposed school legislation.

Another governor, James P. Coleman of Mississippi, has said he will be unable to attend due to previous commitments.

This leaves 14 governors to fret over regional problems — and talk politics.

Among the Southerners are two Republicans, Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin of Maryland and J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware. Their states went for Eisenhower in the 1952 presidential election, as did Virginia, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Texas and Florida.

These last five states have 65 electoral votes and the Democrats must reclaim nearly all of them if Adlai Stevenson is going to get anywhere in his attempt to reverse the decision in his rematch with Eisenhower Nov. 6.

This will be the Democratic governors' first chance since the Chicago convention to check with each other on political sentiment in the unruly and often far from solid south.

district attorney Leander Perez in Plaquemines Parish.

Essentially, the bills give Long control of the levee districts in the parish, with the most controversial giving the governor authority to name 12 extra members to the parish police jury to vote on levee district matters.

The 11-bill package replaced a multi-purpose act on the 1956 Legislature which administration advisors feared was unconstitutional.

In other action, the lawmakers approved:

1. The resolution recalling Long's constitutional amendment repealing the two thirds tax requirement.

2. A constitutional amendment setting aside for two years 35 per cent of the general fund surplus up to 16 million dollars to pay for a 1956 teachers' salary increase the Legislature voted but provided no money for.

3. An act setting up a Negro commuter college in the New Orleans area and providing $1,050,000 in the 1957-58 fiscal year to build the college.

4. A resolution permitting funds appropriated for operating expenses of a white commuter college in New Orleans to be used to build the school. Long vetoed a 1956 capital outlay appropriation.

5. Some 17 bills correcting or making changes in acts of the 1956 Legislature.

The session recalled amendment No. 1 on the Nov. 6 ballot, two-thirds repeal, but replaced it with the teacher pay dedication.

However, instead of giving it the same number, Secretary of State Wade O. Martin Jr. placed the new amendment at the bottom, No. 49.

groes begin their third week of integrated classes Monday with 800 whites in the Clinton high school.

Woodward called on Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee to send "adequate vehicles for transportation, including armored cars" to strengthen his mobile units.

The sheriff also called for "every able-bodied, police-trained individual" to volunteer for his auxiliary police force. He has deputized 50 men and hopes to muster at least 125 to augment his normal force of eight deputies and a clerk.

Clinton was calm Saturday after almost a full week of rioting in which about 50 persons were arrested. State police and the troops poured in last weekend in time to prevent the disorders from spreading into something more serious.

At Andalusia, Ala., Covington county placement officer Thomas W. Carroll assigned Troy Ammons, 7, to Gantt School No. 2, a Negro institution. The boy's mother, Mrs. Arcadia Wheeler, had attempted to register the dark-complexioned lad at Rawls white school. Mrs. Wheeler is white and she said she could prove her son was a Caucasian.

But when parents of 25 other Rawls pupils registered protests the case was turned over to the placement officer. It was the first use of the new law, an admitted weapon against integration, and there was speculation Mrs. Wheeler would contest it in court.

Producers

ities with the department of agriculture in an effort to "get to the bottom" of complaints on cotton classing.

In view of the fact that the selling price of cotton, as well as its government loan value, is based on class "the fifth district stands to lose possibly $2,000,000 by selling high quality cotton at low grade prices," Passman said.

"For example," Passman said, "cotton classed at middling 1 1-16 sells for about $27 a bale more than low middling 1 1-16."

"And if our producers are forced to sell their high grade cotton at lower grade prices I intend to see that something is done about it," Passman declared.

"Personally," Passman said, "I am convinced that pressure is on from the top to down-grade our cotton." Passman, who is often critical of Republican farm policy, cast question on the efficiency of the agriculture department in its administration of the cotton classing offices.

"I understand that cotton farmers are having the same trouble with their cotton classing throughout the cotton belt," Passman declared. "The whole operation has been a mess for the past three and a half years."

It was reported at the meeting yesterday that cotton buyers are purchasing the "down graded" cotton at a low middling rating and reselling the same cotton on a higher grade market level.

Passman said he believed that "some of the bigger buyers may be pressuring a deficiency in the government classing office in order to reap richer profits at the expense of the farmer."

Under the cotton classing procedure a farmer is issued a grade card on each bale of his cotton. When he sells, the price is based on the quality of his cotton, as indicated by the card from the classing office. The buyer is not bound by the card on a resale.

In 1948, Louisiana bolted to the States Rights' Party.

Gov. Robert Kennon endorsed Eisenhower in 1952, but the state returned to its Democratic tradition, favoring Stevenson by a narrow margin.

National committeeman Camille Gravel said a $100,000 state campaign fund was being raised "to help all Democratic candidates."

Only two congressional candidates have Republican oppositon.

But Gravel added, "after all this state only went Democratic by 39,000 votes in 1952 and many of us in that campaign were scared it wouldn't. We don't want to ever come that close again."

State leaders said they were attempting to get Stevenson to appear at Shreveport, Monroe and New Orleans during the campaign. Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts is scheduled to address a party fund raising dinner in New Orleans Oct. 6.

The committee chose one elector from each of the eight congressional districts and two at-large electors.

Chosen from the congressional districts were:

First — Llewellyn J. Scanlon, Nw Orleans.

Second — John Cassreino, New Orleans.

Third — Harvey Peltier, Sr., Thibodaux.

Fourth — A. C. Montgomery, Shreveport.

Fifth — A. K. Kilpatrick, Monroe.

Sixth — Charles Anzalone, Independence.

Seventh — Edmund M. Reggie, Crowley.

National Committeeman Camille Gravel, Alexandria.

At large: Harry V. Booth, Shreveport, and central committee chairman Rufus Hayes, Baton Rouge.

The sixth district executive committee deadlocked between Anzalone and Frank Odom of Baton Rouge, elector in 1952.

Despite a suggestion they "flip a coin or something," the 101-member committee was called on to ballot for the elector. Anzalone was selected on the roll call 37-30.

About 50 members attended the meeting. Counting proxies, 76 members were represented.

Another roll call vote was averted when Charles Adams of New Orleans withdrew after first district committee members suggested he be named elector at large instead of Booth.

N. B. Carstarphen of Shreveport, committee chairman under former Gov. Robert Kennon, explained Booth was chosen because "We have what we feel is a very serious contest in the fourth district by a Republican nominee.

"We feel Booth, being from that district, will add strength to the ticket in that area," he concluded.

Rep. Overton Brooks of Shreveport is opposed for an 11th term by Republican Calhoun Allen Jr., also of Shreveport.

The resolution endorsing the Stevenson - Kefauver ticket also calls for the use of the rooster emblem, traditional symbol of the Louisiana Democratic Party, with their names on the ballot.

This is considered politically important because of past voting habits, especially in rural areas, where stamping the rooster has been a customary way of voting.

In 1948, the emblem was taken away from the Truman - Barkley slate and assigned the States Rights' presidential ticket, which won in the state.

Clarence E. Manion, former dean of the Notre Dame Law School has been named keynote speaker for the conference. He will deliver his address at 7:30 p.m., opening night.

A program committee, headed by John U. Barr of New Orleans, was named to obtain "speakers" of national repute, at least one of whom will be a woman," Chandler said.

Other committees names Sunday were: Principles, Jack Kershaw of Nashville, Tenn.; rules and regulations, Will S. Wells of Jackson, Miss.; facilities and arrangements, Willis Ayers of Memphis; finance, A. G. Heinsohn, Jr. of Sevierville, Tenn.; publicity, Kent. H. Courtney of New Orleans.

Chandler said that the purpose of the conference is not to form a third party but "to form a coalition of various groups who favor state sovereignty and the preservation of the Constitution and who will adopt a common declaration of principles and endorse the same candidates for president and vice president of the United States."

The meeting is not a convention, Chandler said, "for the reason that we are not all one party. There are a half dozen or more organizations who go under various names, but whose common objection is the preservation of the Constitution and the stopping of the trend toward socialism.

"These we expect to unite not under a common name, but under a common declaration of principles and identical candidates," he said.

Chandler said that the various groups feel "we have socialist party "A" and socialist party "B", and millions of Americans have no way of making their views known. And we propose to offer them an opportunity to express those views."

Representation at the conference is expected to include groups from California and Washington and several northern states, including Wisconsin, Iowa, New Jersey and Connecticut, Chandler said. He added that the South will be represented, including Kentucky and Maryland.

The Louisiana States' Rights Party has endorsed T. Coleman Andrews of Richmond, Va., for the presidential nomination. The Constitution Party of Texas, a similar group, likewise endorsed Andrews.

Chandler said that there is an excellent chance that Andrews will be named the standard bearer of the coalition, but he did not want to appear to be dictating to the other representatives.

ALEXANDRIA, La., Sept. 8 (AP)—The Louisiana States Rights Party's executive committee today set up plans for its campaign to elect 10 presidential electors.

Robert G. Chandler of Shreveport, chairman, said the party will select candidates for electors from 3,500 names on petitions to the secretary of state that recently won the group party status.

He said the group named Wallace M. Taylor, New Orleans, chairman of a budget fund raising committee, and Robert M. Stewart, New Orleans, publicity director.

The executive committee also adopted a resolution saying the party would not take sides in individual contests for local and state offices in the Nov. 6 election.

Chandler said the group also endorsed the national States Rights conference to be held in Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 14-15 and urged all States Rights sympathizers to attend. The conference is expected to endorse presidential and vice presidential candidates, he said.

The States Righters, Chandler said, will name one member from each of Louisiana's congressional districts to direct their elector candidates' campaigns.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Nasser has flatly rejected this, and the Egyptian press said Saturday he would not change his stand.

The committee was expected to leave Monday for London, where Britain already has virtually written off the Cairo talks and was reluctantly preparing to take the issue to the United Nations.

Both the Suez committees and Nasser held separate, lengthy conferences in this steaming city.

The committee met for two hours in the Australian legation and then dispatched its request to Nasser for another meeting.

Nasser, just returned from a Moslem Sabbath holiday at Alexandria, conferred with Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi, War Minister Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, and Aly Sabry, his chief political advisor. The meeting lasted nine hours. Nasser and the committee have not met personally since Wednesday.

They were understood to have prepared Egypt's final answer to Menzies' new bid to break the deadlock.

roamed the Kadena Air Base area.

Most of the 40,000—Americans and 600,000 Okinawans took to storm shelters. Their precautions were expected to hold down the casualties.

The storm, which caused the deaths of 11 U.S. Marines two days ago when it generated a freak undertow that swept them from an Okinawan bathing beach, may have claimed another American victim in Japan.

A U.S. Air Force officer was swept out to sea while bathing with friends at a beach 25 miles southwest of Tokyo today.

Identification was withheld.

The fringe winds and rain from the storm already were pelting parts of Kyushu, southernmost of Japan's main islands.

Winds in its center were clocked at 125 miles. The storm was expected to continue on a northward course until Sunday and then veer east.

Rainfall in Kyushu was measured at 13 inches in some areas. Inhabitants of some coastal communities were evacuating their homes for higher ground as a precaution against high waves.

The typhoon, dubbed Emma by American weathermen, slashed at Okinawa for 12 hours without letup. Worst previous storm to hit the island was a typhoon in 1949 which was clocked at 112 miles an hour before wind gauges broke.

groes begin their third week of integrated classes Monday with 800 whites in the Clinton high school.

Woodward called on Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee to send "adequate vehicles for transportation, including armored cars" to strengthen his mobile units.

The sheriff also called for "every able-bodied, police-trained individual" to volunteer for his auxiliary police force. He has deputized 50 men and hopes to muster at least 125 to augment his normal force of eight deputies and a clerk.

Clinton was calm Saturday after almost a full week of rioting in which about 50 persons were arrested. State police and the troops poured in last weekend in time to prevent the disorders from spreading into something more serious.

At Andalusia, Ala., Covington county placement officer Thomas W. Carroll assigned Troy Ammons, 7, to Gantt School No. 2, a Negro institution. The boy's mother, Mrs. Arcadia Wheeler, had attempted to register the dark-complexioned lad at Rawls white school. Mrs. Wheeler is white and she said she could prove her son was a Caucasian.

But when parents of 25 other Rawls pupils registered protests the case was turned over to the placement officer. It was the first use of the new law, an admitted weapon against integration, and there was speculation Mrs. Wheeler would contest it in court.

He was a tender of a herd of livestock out on the vastness of the plains of Texas, where he found that a check up physically seemed to be needed as he feared he had developed lung trouble.

The physician in town who examined him declared: "Yes when you told me you feared lung trouble you were right. You haven't told me your occupation but I fear you need to sleep out of doors."

"Wa-al," the herdsman drawled, "I been a sleepin' under the chuck wagon all summer, but I reckon I could kick a couple of spokes outa the wheels!"

Producers

ities with the department of agriculture in an effort to "get to the bottom" of complaints on cotton classing.

In view of the fact that the selling price of cotton, as well as its government loan value, is based on class "the fifth district stands to lose possibly $2,000,000 by selling high quality cotton at low grade prices," Passman said.

"For example," Passman said, "cotton classed at middling 1 1-16 sells for about $27 a bale more than low middling 1 1-16."

"And if our producers are forced to sell their high grade cotton at lower grade prices I intend to see that something is done about it," Passman declared.

"Personally," Passman said, "I am convinced that pressure is on from the top to down-grade our cotton." Passman, who is often critical of Republican farm policy, cast question on the efficiency of the agriculture department in its administration of the cotton classing offices.

"I understand that cotton farmers are having the same trouble with their cotton classing throughout the cotton belt," Passman declared. "The whole operation has been a mess for the past three and a half years."

It was reported at the meeting yesterday that cotton buyers are purchasing the "down graded" cotton at a low middling rating and reselling the same cotton on a higher grade market level.

Passman said he believed that "some of the bigger buyers may be pressuring a deficiency in the government classing office in order to reap richer profits at the expense of the farmer."

Under the cotton classing procedure a farmer is issued a grade card on each bale of his cotton. When he sells, the price is based on the quality of his cotton, as indicated by the card from the classing office. The buyer is not bound by the card on a resale.

committeewoman, was present.

In 1948, Louisiana bolted to the States Rights' Party.

Gov. Robert Kennon endorsed Eisenhower in 1952, but the state returned to its Democratic tradition, favoring Stevenson by a narrow margin.

National committeeman Camille Gravel said a $100,000 state campaign fund was being raised "to help all Democratic candidates."

Only two congressional candidates have Republican oppositon.

But Gravel added, "after all this state only went Democratic by 39,000 votes in 1952 and many of us in that campaign were scared it wouldn't. We don't want to ever come that close again."

State leaders said they were attempting to get Stevenson to appear at Shreveport, Monroe and New Orleans during the campaign. Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts is scheduled to address a party fund raising dinner in New Orleans Oct. 6.

The committee chose one elector from each of the eight congressional districts and two at-large electors.

Chosen from the congressional districts were:

First — Llewellyn J. Scanlon, Nw Orleans.

Second — John Cassreino, New Orleans.

Sixth — Charles Anzalone, Independence.

Seventh — Edmund M. Reggie, Crowley.

National Committeeman Camille Gravel, Alexandria.

At large: Harry V. Booth, Shreveport, and central committee chairman Rufus Hayes, Baton Rouge.

The sixth district executive committee deadlocked between Anzalone and Frank Odom of Baton Rouge, elector in 1952.

Despite a suggestion they "flip a coin or something," the 101-member committee was called on to ballot for the elector. Anzalone was selected on the roll call 37-30.

About 50 members attended the meeting. Counting proxies, 76 members were represented.

Another roll call vote was averted when Charles Adams of New Orleans withdrew after first district committee members suggested he be named elector at large instead of Booth.

N. B. Carstarphen of Shreveport, committee chairman under former Gov. Robert Kennon, explained Booth was chosen because "We have what we feel is a very serious contest in the fourth district by a Republican nominee.

"We feel Booth, being from that district, will add strength to the ticket in that area," he concluded.

Rep. Overton Brooks of Shreveport is opposed for an 11th term by Republican Calhoun Allen Jr., also of Shreveport.

The resolution endorsing the Stevenson - Kefauver ticket also calls for the use of the rooster emblem, traditional symbol of the Louisiana Democratic Party, with their names on the ballot.

This is considered politically important because of past voting habits, especially in rural areas, where stamping the rooster has been a customary way of voting.

In 1948, the emblem was taken away from the Truman - Barkley slate and assigned the States Rights' presidential ticket, which won in the state.

"This is a taste of southern hospitality I've always heard about but until now couldn't believe," Mr. Speronis said at the luncheon.

The tourist bureau here is the third such office to open recently under a special project of the department of commerce and industry to encourage tourists to visit Louisiana.

Tourists spent an estimated $3,000,000 in Louisiana last year, according to the department of commerce and industry.

The tourist bureaus are intended to give travellers highway information furnish information on Louisiana fairs and festivals, literature on state parks, etc.

Mrs. Dorothy B. Strain is supervisor of the tourist bureaus in north Louisiana. Besides the bureau offices have also been opened in Logansport and Shreveport. Three other bureaus are planned for opening in south Louisiana.

Clarence E. Manion, former dean of the Notre Dame Law School has been named keynote speaker for the conference. He will deliver his address at 7:30 p.m., opening night

A program committee, headed by John U. Barr of New Orleans, was named to obtain "speakers" of national repute, at least one of whom will be a woman," Chandler said.

Other committees names Sunday were: Principles, Jack Kershaw of Nashville, Tenn.; rules and regulations, Will S. Wells of Jackson, Miss.; facilities and arrangements, Willis Ayers of Memphis; finance, A. G. Heinsohn, Jr. of Sevierville, Tenn.; publicity, Kent. H. Courtney of New Orleans.

Chandler said that the purpose of the conference is not to form a third party but "to form a coalition of various groups who favor state sovereignty and the preservation of the Constitution and who will adopt a common declaration of principles and endorse the same candidates for president and vice president of the United States."

The meeting is not a convention, Chandler said, "for the reason that we are not all one party. There are a half dozen or more organizations who go under various names, but whose common objection is the preservation of the Constitution and the stopping of the trend toward socialism.

"These we expect to unite not under a common name, but under a common declaration of principles and identical candidates," he said.

Chandler said that the various groups feel "we have socialist party "A" and socialist party "B", and millions of Americans have no way of making their views known. And we propose to offer them an opportunity to express those views."

Representation at the conference is expected to include groups from California and Washington and several northern states, including Wisconsin, Iowa, New Jersey and Connecticut, Chandler said. He added that the South will be represented, including Kentucky and Maryland.

The Louisiana States' Rights Party has endorsed T. Coleman Andrews of Richmond, Va., for the presidential nomination. The Constitution Party of Texas, a similar group, likewise endorsed Andrews.

Chandler said that there is an excellent chance that Andrews will be named the standard bearer of the coalition, but he did not want to appear to be dictating to the other representatives.

ALEXANDRIA, La., Sept. 8 (AP) —The Louisiana States Rights Party's executive committee today set up plans for its campaign to elect 10 presidential electors.

Robert G. Chandler of Shreveport, chairman, said the party will select candidates for electors from 3,500 names on petitions to the secretary of state that recently won the group party status.

He said the group named Wallace M. Taylor, New Orleans, chairman of a budget fund raising committee, and Robert M. Stewart, New Orleans, publicity director.

The executive committee also adopted a resolution saying the party would not take sides in individual contests for local and state offices in the Nov. 6 election.

Chandler said the group also endorsed the national States Rights conference to be held in Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 14-15 and urged all States Rights sympathizers to attend. The conference is expected to endorse presidential and vice presidential candidates, he said.

The States Righters, Chandler said, will name one member from each of Louisiana's congressional districts to direct their elector candidates' campaigns.

Final Session

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Nasser has flatly rejected this, and the Egyptian press said Saturday he would not change his stand.

The committee was expected to leave Monday for London, where Britain already has virtually written off the Cairo talks and was reluctantly preparing to take the issue to the United Nations.

Both the Suez committees and Nasser held separate, lengthy conferences in this steaming city.

The committee met for two hours in the Australian legation and then dispatched its request to Nasser for another meeting.

Nasser, just returned from a Moslem Sabbath holiday at Alexandria, conferred with Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi, War Minister Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, and Aly Sabry, his chief political advisor. The meeting lasted nine hours. Nasser and the committee have not met personally since Wednesday.

They were understood to have prepared Egypt's final answer to Menzies' new bid to break the deadlock.

roamed the Kadena Air Base area.

Most of the 40,000—Americans and 600,000 Okinawans took to storm shelters. Their precautions were expected to hold down the casualties.

The storm, which caused the deaths of 11 U.S. Marines two days ago when it generated a freak undertow that swept them from an Okinawan bathing beach, may have claimed another American victim in Japan.

A U.S. Air Force officer was swept out to sea while bathing with friends at a beach 25 miles southwest of Tokyo today.

Identification was withheld.

The fringe winds and rain from the storm already were pelting parts of Kyushu, southernmost of Japan's main islands.

Winds in its center were clocked at 125 miles. The storm was expected to continue on a northward course until Sunday and then veer east.

Rainfall in Kyushu was measured at 13 inches in some areas. Inhabitants of some coastal communities were evacuating their homes for higher ground as a precaution against high waves.

The typhoon, dubbed Emma by American weathermen, slashed at Okinawa for 12 hours without letup. Worst previous storm to hit the island was a typhoon in 1949 which was clocked at 112 miles an hour before wind gauges broke.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

When the Louisiana waterfowl hunting regulations were announced last month for the approaching season, many duck hunters in this area kicked up a fuss about the split season of 63 days, when, in their opinions, they should have been extended the latest possible full 70 days without the split. Some even said they would seek ways to get the regulations changed before the season starts, but this appears unlikely.

We had this offering from the Louisiana Wildlife Federation, Inc., yesterday as an explanation for why the season is split, the message coming from the Baton Rouge office of the federation after reports of the dissenters of this area:

"Let's get the record straight . . . The split waterfowl season is best.

"Until the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service permits Louisiana to zone her state into two areas, the split season is best for the most hunters as long as the penalty is ten percent and we can have the season halves of unequal length—as long as the length of the season is 70 days or less.

"Here's why . . . according to the published record involving five years of intensive research and over one quarter million dollars expended:

"The waterfowl hunters in northwest Louisiana are in general agreement they must shoot early in the season starting November 1 which is the usual date of the first major flights as these hunters shoot flight ducks. The hunters in the swamp dependent upon late rains and the resulting overflow into the swamps get their best shooting late in the season. The rest of the gunners around the state are divided, some prefering the late season, some the early season.

"The federal government allowed 70 days straight or 63 days total for both halves of the split season, which is the penalty of ten percent or seven days. The season in Louisiana could not end later than January 15.

"The Louisiana Wildlife Federation, Inc., the state wide federation of sportsmen with members in every parish and clubs in over 50 parishes selected the split season as the best for most of Louisiana. The ten percent penalty is invoked by the federal service as the bulk of the ducks bagged comes during the first few days of the season through the first week. During the first 25-day period fully 85 percent of the wintering puddle duck is forced into the safety of the refuges or other protected areas by hunting pressure.

"After the first half of the split season these ducks immediately disperse from the vast refuge concentrations. When the second half of the split season opens the entire duck population is well dispersed over every waterfowl area in the state and is very vulnerable to hunting. During the first two or three days more ducks will be bagged as a result of the 12-day rest period than would have been bagged during the seven days 'supposedly' lost in a penalty.

"Thus, with two sets of opening dates, there is a larger bag. That's why the penalty. And as long as the federal service who is responsible by national law and armed with facts costing millions of dollars lets the penalty at 10 percent, why should the hunter complain? Some state biologists contend the penalty should be 15 to 20 percent.

"As far as the number of days, it really makes little difference. There are exactly the same number of weekends and holidays in both the 63 and 70-day season. Since better than 90 percent of the hunters can only hunt weekends or holidays there is no loss in days, but a better distribution and a larger bag for most hunters in all of Louisiana. Thus, the federation's recommendations are good for the hunter and consistent with good game management. Other problems, like enforcement, are of lesser importance."

Cubs Cut Braves' Lead; Yanks Rout Nats

Milwaukee Barely On Top After, 2-1, Defeat By Bruins

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 (AP)—Moe Drabowsky, 21-year-old bonus pitcher sent the Milwaukee Braves skidding to their fifth straight defeat today with a poised 5-hit job that gave the tailend Chicago Cubs a 2-1 victory over veteran Lew Burdette.

The defeat cut Milwaukee's National League lead over second-place Brooklyn to a half game.

Drabowsky, signed from Trinity College campus in Connecticut, yielded his only run in the second inning, when a pair of successive walks got him into hot water, and weathered a rocky eighth frame when Milwaukee loaded the bases with one out and failed to count.

The slumping league leaders, absorbing their second loss to the Cubs after dropping three straight at home to Cincinnati, again proved Manager Fred Haney's plaint that "We need more hits and more runs— that's our trouble."

They left nine runners stranded as Burdette, trying for his fourth decision over the Cubs, suffered his ninth loss against 18 victories.

Righthander Drabowsky collected his second triumph against two setbacks, striking out five batters and walking seven, one intentionally.

The Cubs clustered half of their eight hits off Burdette in the first inning for their only two runs.

Reds Fumble Big Chance To Cards In 6 To 4 Battle

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs missed a golden chance in the jammed National League pennant race tonight as Tom Poholsky and the St. Louis Cardinals tripped them, 6-4, with Rip Repulski driving four runs and Stan Musial and Wally Moon slamming three hits apiece.

A victory for the Redlegs would have put them in a second place tie with the brooklyn Dodgers' just a half game behind the faltering Milwaukee Braves. Instead, they fell to third, a game and a half out.

Polholsky was rapped for 11 hits, but didn't walk a man and was tough with men on. It was his ninth victory against 11 defeats and evened his record against Cincinnati at 1-1

Repulski led the Redbirds' second straight victory in the three-game series with a pair of two-run doubles.

The victim of the Cardinals batting spree was Brooks Lawrence, former Redbird, who took his ninth defeat. He was seeking his 19th victory after a 13-0 start. The loss evened his record against St. Louis at 2-2.

LOUISIANA TECH'S GRIDDERS will have these three seniors as captains of the 1956 team. They are, left to right, Charles Glover, Shreveport center, A. L. Williams, Shreveport halfback, and Pat Hinton, Ruston tackle. Glover and Hinton were selected by the Gulf States Conference coaches last fall for the All-GSC first team and Williams landed a spot on the second team. Tech opens the season at Ruston Saturday night, Sept. 15, in a tilt with Louisiana College.

McKoin, Lane Are Dated On Cook, Flanagan Card

Supporting the Clarence Cook-Del - Flanagan ten - round main event at Legion Memorial Stadium here Monday night, September 17, will be a six-round semi-final between "Irish Johnny" McKoin, Bastrop welterweight, and Jackie Lane, Tampa, Fla., Promoter Gus Kallio announced yesterday.

McKoin has been winning steadily in the local arena and is being offered Lane as a better caliber foe.

"Lane will be the best man Johnny has fought yet," Promoter Kallio said. "Lane has been going good in the southeast and will be able to give Johnny the kind of fight he wants in his plans to climb higher in boxing."

Kallio said he is also working out details of the supporting cast for his already national-interest main event in which Cook, the former Bastrop papermill worker fighting out of St. Louis, goes against the best "name" fighter of his career when he trades punches with Flanagan, the St. Paul belter nationally known as a welterweight and middleweight.

"Some good fighters are being lined up for the preliminaries," Kallio said, "and I expect to announce the complete card within the week."

But the Cook-Flanagan match is Promoter Kallio's "seller" and already he has announced the greatest advanced sale of tickets in his promotional career here.

The tickets are on advanced sale at Kallio's residence office here, 1101 Jackson street, and at Pippin's Cafe in Oak Grove and City C. and A. Club in Bastrop. The advanced sales at Oak Grove and Bastrop will be terminated Saturday, but will continue at Kallio's address here until 3 p.m. the afternoon of the fifth.

Prices are $4 for seats in the first five ringside rows, $3 for other ringside, $2 for grandstand box seats, $1.50 for all other grandstand seats, and $1 for colored bleachers.

Underdog Saxton Confident He'll Hold His Title

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 8 (AP) Brimming with confidence, welterweight champion Johnny Saxton invades Carmen Basilio's home grounds Wednesday night for a return title fight at the War Memorial Auditorium. The 15-rounder will be broadcast and telecast (ABC, 9 p.m., (EST) coast to coast.

The 26-year-old "fighting orphan" from New York won the 147 pound crown for the second time at Chicago March 14 by scoring a unanimous but highly controversial decision over the ring-scarred veteran from nearby Chittenango.

Saxton was a 2-1 underdog that night and he's an 8-5 outsider for the return clash. The odds may dip by fight time as there are quite a few experts who feel the 29-year-old Basilio has seen his best days.

Basilio cried loud and long that he "was robbed" in Chicago and that the referee was too quick to break whenever he started to work over Saxton at close quarters.

Five New Yorkers Sock 3 Hits Each For 16-2 Victory

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—The New York Yankees pounded four Washington pitchers for 20 hits to crush the Senators 16-2 today and increase their first place lead over Cleveland to 10½ games. Any combination of 10 New York victories and Cleveland losses will clinch the pennant for the Yankees.

Five Yankees rapped three hits apiece, Hank Bauer leading the attack with a double, triple and home run that drove in three runs. Andy Carey, with two doubles and a single, and pitcher Tom Sturdivant, with a pair of singles and a sacrifice fly, also batted in three runs each.

Yogi Berra, Joe Collins and Billy Hunter also collected three hits but Mickey Mantle, now four games behind Babe Ruth's record home run pace, was held to an infield single in four official times at bat.

Sturdivant, who had an easy time picking up his 14th victory, was excused after he had held the Senators to one run and five hits in eight innings. Bob Turley finished up and was greeted by Roy Sievers 27th home run. That set a new Washington record for one player in a season.

Washington's other run came on a home run, too. This one was hit in the sixth by Pete Runnels, who collected three of the Senators' seven hits.

Camilo Pasqual started for the Senators and lasted but four innings. The Yankees clipped him for five hits and four runs to inflict the 15th loss upon him. He has won six.

Young Australian Stars Enter U. S. Net Finals

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 8 (UP)—Little Ken Rosewall and burly Lew Hoad, the 21-year-old tennis twins from Australia won almost as they pleased against veteran Vic Sexias and Aussie Neale Fraser Saturday to set the first all-foreign final the U. S. tennis championship has seen in 23 years.

Rosewall, Australia's five - foot seven inch magician of the nets, played with disdainful nonchalance as he slaughtered Seixas, the weary 6-0, 6-3. And the bombing Hoad, shooting for the first big four slam since Don Budge in 1938, crushed his outgunned countryman, 15-13, 6-2, 6-4.

The smashing victories of the two top-seeded stars in the chill sunlight flooding the famed center court thus set up the first all-foreign final since Fred Perry of England defeated Australia's Jack Crawford in the 1933 final.

But this time the land of the Southern Cross is a sure winner.

Meanwhile, Wimbledon champion Shirley Fry and second-seeded Althea Gibson, the New York Negro seeking to become the first of her race to win the U. S. title, breezed into the women's final. Miss Fry, 29, of St. Petersburg, Fla., defeated Britain's Shirley Bloomer, 6-4, 6-4, while the 28-year-old Miss Gibson knocked off Mrs. Betty Patt of Jamaica, B.W.I., 6-1, 10-8.

There was even more for the 13,000 spectators to ogle as "Bitsy" Grant of Atlanta, Ga., the mighty mite of the 1930's, won the seniors' title on his first try with a 7-5, 6-4, win over singer Phil Hanna.

Oak Grove Settles For 6-6 Deadlock With Farmerville

FARMERVILLE, La. Sept. 8 (Special) — The Oak Grove Tigers and the Farmerville Farmers battled to a 6-6 tie here last night in a non-conference football opener between Class A clubs of rival districts.

Jimmy Bradley sent Oak Grove into the lead in the second quarter when he cracked over from the one, but John E. Farrar tied it for Farmerville, also on a one-yard buck, in the third period.

Oak Grove's Gene Gammill got loose on an 80-yard touchdown run that might have won the game for the invaders, but a clipping penalty against the Bengals erased Gammill's fine sprint.

Tackle Bill Newton, end John Hurley, and fullback Bradley were outstanding for Oak Grove, while Buddy Elland, Jesse Givans, and Farrar, all backs, played good ball for Farmerville.

The first downs were 13-7 for Oak Grove.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

When the Louisiana waterfowl hunting regulations were announced last month for the approaching season, many duck hunters in this area kicked up a fuss about the split season of 63 days, when, in their opinions, they should have been extended the latest possible full 70 days without the split. Some even said they would seek ways to get the regulations changed before the season starts, but this appears unlikely.

We had this offering from the Louisiana Wildlife Federation, Inc., yesterday as an explanation for why the season is split, the message coming from the Baton Rouge office of the federation after reports of the dissenters of this area:

"Let's get the record straight . . . The split waterfowl season is best.

"Until the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service permits Louisiana to zone her state into two areas, the split season is best for the most hunters as long as the penalty is ten percent and we can have the season halves of unequal length—as long as the length of the season is 70 days or less.

"Here's why . . . according to the published record involving five years of intensive research and over one quarter million dollars expended:

"The waterfowl hunters in northwest Louisiana are in general agreement they must shoot early in the season starting November 1 which is the usual date of the first major flights as these hunters shoot flight ducks. The hunters in the swamp dependent upon late rains and the resulting overflow into the swamps get their best shooting late in the season. The rest of the gunners around the state are divided, some prefering the late season, some the early season.

"The federal government allowed 70 days straight or 63 days total for both halves of the split season, which is the penalty of ten percent or seven days. The season in Louisiana could not end later than January 15.

"The Louisiana Wildlife Federation, Inc., the state wide federation of sportsmen with members in every parish and clubs in over 50 parishes selected the split season as the best for most of Louisiana. The ten percent penalty is invoked by the federal service as the bulk of the ducks bagged comes during the first few days of the season through the first week. During the first 25-day period fully 85 percent of the wintering puddle duck is forced into the safety of the refuges or other protected areas by hunting pressure.

"After the first half of the split season these ducks immediately disperse from the vast refuge concentrations. When the second half of the split season opens the entire duck population is well dispersed over every waterfowl area in the state and is very vulnerable to hunting. During the first two or three days more ducks will be bagged as a result of the 12-day rest period than would have been bagged during the seven days 'supposedly' lost in a penalty.

"Thus, with two sets of opening dates, there is a larger bag. That's why the penalty. And as long as the federal service who is responsible by national law and armed with facts costing millions of dollars lets the penalty at 10 percent, why should the hunter complain? Some state biologists contend the penalty should be 15 to 20 percent.

"As far as the number of days, it really makes little difference. There are exactly the same number of weekends and holidays in both the 63 and 70-day season. Since better than 90 percent of the hunters can only hunt weekends or holidays there is no loss in days, but a better distribution and a larger bag for most hunters in all of Louisiana. Thus, the federation's recommendations are good for the hunter and consistent with good game management. Other problems, like enforcement, are of lesser importance."

Milwaukee Barely On Top After, 2-1, Defeat By Bruins

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 (AP)—Moe Drabowsky, 21-year-old bonus pitcher sent the Milwaukee Braves skidding to their fifth straight defeat today with a poised 5-hit job that gave the tailend Chicago Cubs a 2-1 victory over veteran Lew Burdette.

The defeat cut Milwaukee's National League lead over second-place Brooklyn to a half game.

Drabowsky, signed from Trinity College campus in Connecticut, yielded his only run in the second inning, when a pair of successive walks got him into hot water, and weathered a rocky eighth frame when Milwaukee loaded the bases with one out and failed to count.

The slumping league leaders, absorbing their second loss to the Cubs after dropping three straight at home to Cincinnati, again proved Manager Fred Haney's plaint that "We need more hits and more runs— that's our trouble."

They left nine runners stranded as Burdette, trying for his fourth decision over the Cubs, suffered his ninth loss against 18 victories.

Righthander Drabowsky collected his second triumph against two setbacks, striking out five batters and walking seven, one intentionally.

Reds Fumble Big Chance To Cards In 6 To 4 Battle

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs missed a golden chance in the jammed National League pennant race tonight as Tom Poholsky and the St. Louis Cardinals tripped them, 6-4, with Rip Repulski driving four runs and Stan Musial and Wally Moon slamming three hits apiece.

A victory for the Redlegs would have put them in a second place tie with the brooklyn Dodgers' just a half game behind the faltering Milwaukee Braves. Instead, they fell to third, a game and a half out.

Polholsky was rapped for 11 hits, but didn't walk a man and was tough with men on. It was his ninth victory against 11 defeats and evened his record against Cincinnati at 1-1

Repulski led the Redbirds' second straight victory in the three-game series with a pair of two-run doubles.

The victim of the Cardinals batting spree was Brooks Lawrence, former Redbird, who took his ninth defeat. He was seeking his 19th victory after a 13-0 start. The loss evened his record against St. Louis at 2-2.

Williams, Shreveport halfback, and Pat Hinton, Ruston tackle. Glover and Hinton were selected by the Gulf States Conference coaches last fall for the All-GSC first team and Williams landed a spot on the second team. Tech opens the season at Ruston Saturday night, Sept. 15, in a tilt with Louisiana College.

McKoin, Lane Are Dated On Cook, Flanagan Card

Supporting the Clarence Cook-Dei - Flanagan ten - round main event at Legion Memorial Stadium here Monday night, September 17, will be a six-round semi-final between "Irish Johnny" McKoin, Bastrop welterweight, and Jackie Lane, Tampa, Fla., Promoter Gus Kallio announced yesterday.

McKoin has been winning steadily in the local arena and is being offered Lane as a better caliber foe.

"Lane will be the best man Johnny has fought yet," Promoter Kallio said. "Lane has been going good in the southeast and will be able to give Johnny the kind of fight he wants in his plans to climb higher in boxing."

Kallio said he is also working out details of the supporting cast for his already national-interest main event in which Cook, the former Bastrop papermill worker fighting out of St. Louis, goes against the best "name" fighter of his career when he trades punches with Flanagan, the St. Paul belter nationally known as a welterweight and middleweight.

"Some good fighters are being lined up for the preliminaries," Kallio said, "and I expect to announce the complete card within the week."

But the Cook-Flanagan match is Promoter Kallio's "seller" and already he has announced the greatest advanced sale of tickets in his promotional career here.

The tickets are on advanced sale at Kallio's residence office here, 1101 Jackson street, and at Pippin's Cafe in Oak Grove and City C. and A. Club in Bastrop. The advanced sales at Oak Grove and Bastrop will be terminated Saturday, but will continue at Kallio's address here until 3 p.m. the afternoon of the fifth.

Prices are $4 for seats in the first five ringside rows, $3 for other ringside, $2 for grandstand box seats, $1.50 for all other grandstand seats, and $1 for colored bleachers.

Underdog Saxton Confident He'll Hold His Title

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 8 (AP)—Brimming with confidence, welterweight champion Johnny Saxton invades Carmen Basilio's home grounds Wednesday night for a return title fight at the War Memorial Auditorium. The 15-rounder will be broadcast and telecast (ABC, 9 p.m., (EST) coast to coast.

The 26-year-old "fighting orphan" from New York won the 147 pound crown for the second time at Chicago March 14 by scoring a unanimous but highly controversial decision over the ring-scarred veteran from nearby Chittenango.

Saxton was a 2-1 underdog that night and he's an 8-5 outsider for the return clash. The odds may dip by fight time as there are quite a few experts who feel the 29-year-old Basillo has seen his best days.

Basilio cried loud and long that he "was robbed" in Chicago and that the referee was too quick to break whenever he started to work over Saxton at close quarters.

Five New Yorkers Sock 3 Hits Each For 16-2 Victory

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—The New York Yankees pounded four Washington pitchers for 20 hits to crush the Senators 16-2 today and increase their first place lead over Cleveland to 10½ games. Any combination of 10 New York victories and Cleveland losses will clinch the pennant for the Yankees.

Five Yankees rapped three hits apiece, Hank Bauer leading the attack with a double, triple and home run that drove in three runs. Andy Carey, with two doubles and a single, and pitcher Tom Sturdivant, with a pair of singles and a sacrifice fly, also batted in three runs each.

Yogi Berra, Joe Collins and Billy Hunter also collected three hits but Mickey Mantle, now four games behind Babe Ruth's record home run pace, was held to an infield single in four official times at bat.

Sturdivant, who had an easy time picking up his 14th victory, was excused after he had held the Senators to one run and five hits in eight innings. Bob Turley finished up and was greeted by Roy Siever's 27th home run. That set a new Washington record for one player in a season.

Washington's other run came on a home run, too. This one was hit in the sixth by Pete Runnels, who collected three of the Senators' seven hits.

Camilo Pasqual started for the Senators and lasted but four innings. The Yankees clipped him for five hits and four runs to inflict the 15th loss upon him. He has won six.

Young Australian Stars Enter U. S. Net Finals

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 8 (UP)—Little Ken Rosewall and burly Lew Hoad, the 21-year-old tennis twins from Australia won almost as they pleased against veteran Vic Sexias and Aussie Neale Fraser Saturday to set the first all-foreign final the U. S. tennis championship has seen in 23 years.

Rosewall, Australia's five - foot seven inch magician of the nets, played with disdainful nonchalance as he slaughtered Seixas, the weary 6-0, 6-3. And the bombing Hoad, shooting for the first big four slam since Don Budge in 1938, crushed his outgunned countryman, 15-13, 6-2, 6-4.

The smashing victories of the two top-seeded stars in the chill sunlight flooding the famed center court thus set up the first all-foreign final since Fred Perry of England defeated Australia's Jack Crawford in the 1933 final.

But this time the land of the Southern Cross is a sure winner.

Meanwhile, Wimbledon champion Shirley Fry and second-seeded Althea Gibson, the New York Negro seeking to become the first of her race to win the U. S. title, breezed into the women's final. Miss Fry, 29, of St. Petersburg, Fla., defeated Britain's Shirley Bloomer, 6-4, 6-4, while the 28-year-old Miss Gibson knocked off Mrs. Betty Patt of Jamaica, B.W.I., 6-1, 10-8.

There was even more for the 13,000 spectators to ogle as "Bitsy" Grant of Atlanta, Ga., the mighty mite of the 1930's, won the seniors' title on his first try with a 7-5, 6-4, win over singer Phil Hanna.

Oak Grove Settles For 6-6 Deadlock With Farmerville

FARMERVILLE, La. Sept. 8 (Special) — The Oak Grove Tigers and the Farmerville Farmers battled to a 6-6 tie here last night in a non-conference football opener between Class A clubs of rival districts.

Jimmy Bradley sent Oak Grove into the lead in the second quarter when he cracked over from the one, but John E. Farrar tied it for Farmerville, also on a one-yard buck, in the third period.

Oak Grove's Gene Gammill got loose on an 80-yard touchdown run that might have won the game for the invaders, but a clipping penalty against the Bengals erased Gammill's fine sprint.

Tackle Bill Newton, end John Hurley, and fullback Bradley were outstanding for Oak Grove, while Buddy Eiland, Jesse Givans, and Farrar, all backs, played good ball for Farmerville.

The first downs were 13-7 for Oak Grove.

Nationals Purchase Charlotte Pitcher

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP) — The Washington Senators today purchased the contract of Evelio Lopez, 24-year-old righthander, from their Charlotte, N. C. farm club in the class A South Atlantic League.

He is a native of Cuba and had an 18 - 4 record with Charlotte, pitching 205 innings, fanning 108 and walking but 75. He hurled a one - hitter, a three - hitter and a pair of four - hitters.

Lopez reported to the Senators today.

Tigers Nip A's, 2-1, With Only Three Safe Raps

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 8 (AP) — Tom Gorman and Bobby Shantz limited Detroit to three hits tonight but two of them were home runs and the Tigers defeated Kansas City 2-1 to make it three in a row over the hapless Athletics.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP) — The New York Giants today signed 22-year-old right-handed pitcher Roy Wright, recently discharged from the air force.

Wright is not a bonus player, but will finish the 1956 season with the Giants. He is scheduled to report at the Polo Grounds Tuesday.

Curtis Trio Will Join Grappling Forces Tuesday

Local wrestling fans will certainly have enough favorites in the ring this Tuesday.

The Curtis brothers, Jack and George, who have been the kingpins at Kallio's Arena for several years, will have the assistance of their clan newcomer, Jack Curtis, Jr., when they meet the villains for a six-man tag match. Paddy Mack, Jack Wentworth, and Johan Von Brauner are slated for those three opposing roles.

Junior Curtis made a successful debut last week with his father when they defeated Brauner and Mack in the main event. He was quickly added to the list of Monroe favorites by Kallio customers.

Brauner and Mack felt that with the aid of Wentworth, who conquered George Curtis in the semi-final last Tuesday, they could lick the entire Curtis trio. So Kallio and the Curtises agreed.

The top brawl will be a three-fall event, limited to 90 minutes.

Three short preliminaries will "warm up" the grapplers, when the program opens at 8:15 o'clock.

White Hose Whip Indians, 4-2; Gain Deadlock For 2nd

CLEVELAND, Sept. 8 (AP) — The Chicago White Sox gained a second place tie with the Cleveland Indians today as Chicago's Billy Pierce beat the Indians 4-2 for his 19th victory.

It was Chicago's 14th defeat of the Indians in 20 games this year.

Yielding only seven hits, including a homer by Sam Mele, the White Sox southpaw became the leading winner in the American League. It was his sixth victory over the Indians.

Davis Cup Group Announces Team For Zone Finals

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 8 (AP)—Two Davis Cup veterans and two youngsters were named today to the U.S. team which will play Italy in the American-European inter-zone final Sept. 28-30 at the West Side Tennis Club. Dick Savitt as omitted.

Selected were Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, a veteran of five Davis Cup campaigns, and Hamilton Richardson of Westfield, N. J., who has played in four. The youngsters were Sam Giammalva, 22, of Houston, Tex., and Mike Green, 19, of Miami, Fla.

Chauncey Steele Jr., chairman of the Davis Cup selection committee, said that Savitt, former Wimbledon champion who made a comeback in the national tournament this year, asked that he not be included.

"I am unable to play Davis Cup tennis," Savitt said.

This probably also means that Savitt, who carried Australia's Ken Roseall to five sets yesterday in the quarter-finals of the national championships, will not be available for the trip to Australia in case the Americans beat the Italians.

The Davis cup team captain, Bill Talbert has indicated he will take no chances and will go with his veterans—Seixas and Richardson, who made the best showing in the tournament this week.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 8 (AP) — The Cleveland Indians baseball club today announced it had purchased the contract of outfielder Joe Caffie from the Buffalo club of the International League.

Ed Furgol Shoots Matching 68 For Runner-Up Place

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 8 UP—Hard - swinging Arnold Palmer overcame a slight wind and cool temperatures Saturday to maintain his two-stroke lead going into the final round of the $19,000 Rubber City Open golf tournament.

Palmer, of Latrobe, Pa., fired five birdies to head off the challenge of Ed Furgol of St. Louis who wound up second after the third round of play with 205. Palmer had a 203.

Furgol, who was in a two-way tie for second at the end of Friday's second round, fired an eagle and two birdies to stay in pace with the leader. His eagle came on the par five 15th hole of the Firestone Country Club course.

In third place was George Bayer of Grossinger, N.Y., with 207. He slammed a six-under-par on the first nine holes to record the best round of the day.

Four others were bunched at 209 going into the final round. They were Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill., Jimmy Demaret of Klamesha Lake, N. Y., and Ed Oliver of Canton, Mass.

Another three-way tie existed at the 210 mark. The group included Paul McQuire of Shaker Heights, Ohio, Frank Stranahan of Toledo and Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif.

Although Bayer had the top round of the day, Tommy Bolt of Houston threatened for awhile to tear the course apart on his first nine. Bolt carded a 31 on the first nine with six birdies, but he got stuck behind a tree on the par four eighth hole and had to settle for a bogie.

The leaders:

Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa. 67-68-68—203.

Ed Furgol, St. Louis 69-68-68—205.

Southside's Pels Win Opener From Mississippi Foes

The Southside High Pelicans of Monroe were back at home yesterday after opening their season with a 20-0 defeat of the Columbia Training School Wolverines at Cleveland, Miss.

The Pelican defense repulsed Columbia all night, the Wolverines never able to penetrate Southside territory as the Pel line of Courtney, Ventress, Crouch, Taylor, Hanks, Man, and Owens looked looked mighty capable.

Southside touchdowns were accounted for by Billy Erwin, who also added two extra points, and Arthur McNeil who scampered across twice, one with a runback of an intercepted pass.

The game was the opening clash of the Southern Conference of Boys Training Schools and was the tenth in the series between the two schools which were the first to inaugurate inter-state football conference now includes six states. Southside's win evened the series at five wins apiece against the Mississippians.

All women golfers of the area are invited to participate in the "bangle, bingle, bungle" type tournament which is determined for nearest the hole shots, first on green and so on,' Britt said.

The tournament will begin at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Lunch will be served at the club house.

Britt said any women interested in tournament particulars should contact Mrs. Jake Ussery, president of the Municipal Women's Golf Association.

Dodgers Shade Giants, 4-3

BROOKLYN, Sept. 8 (AP)—Relief pitcher Don Bessent drove in the winning run in the eighth inning and protected it in the ninth as the Brooklyn Dodgers came from behind to defeat the New York Giants 4-3 today and climb to within a half game of the league leading Milwaukee Braves.

Carl Furillo led off the eighth with a double and took third as Gil Hodges bounced to second. After Rube Walker was intentionally passed by Hoyt Wilhelm, Bessent was permitted to bat and he sent a fly to Willie Mays in medium center. May's throw was wide of the plate and Furillo scored the tie-breaking run.

Bessent then finished up his two-inning shutout chore by retiring the Giants in order in the ninth to post his third victory against as many defeats. The bespectacled righthander has allowed only one run in his last 38 1-3 innings, all in relief. The winning run was the first tally he had driven in all season.

Newellton Bears Scrap To 6 To 6 Tie At Cleveland

NEWELLTON, La., Sept 8 (Special) — The Bears of Newellton High School were back home today with a 6-6 draw against Cleveland High in their opening football game of the season at Cleveland, Miss., last night, and Coach Johnny Johnson was full of praise for his Bruins.

"I've got the fightingest bunch. They're little, but boy do they battle," beamed Johnson today. "Cleveland has this big 200-pound average line and my kids looked like pee wees out there, but they didn't budge an inch, and it was line play that kept us from defeat.

"We used only 13 players in the game, being mighty thin on reserves, but all my boys came out of the game in good shape and will be pointing for Culkin Military Academy of Vicksburg here next Friday night."

Both clubs scored in the second quarter last night. Cleveland counted on a 15-yard pass to Johnny Norquist, and Sam Duchesne, Newellton fullback considered the best football prospect here since Hugh Emfinger, rushed over from 25 yards out with the tying touchdown for the Bears.

Longest gain of the game came when John Wood, Newellton guard, dropped into the backfield to punt and was backed behind his goal. Wood fumbled, but scooped up the ball and raced out to his own 40. Coach Johnson kept him in the backfield.

Cleveland drove to Newellton's four in the final quarter, but the little Bruin line held to repulse the threat.

Curtis Trio Will Join Grappling Forces Tuesday

Local wrestling fans will certainly have enough favorites in the ring this Tuesday.

The Curtis brothers, Jack and George, who have been the kingpins at Kallio's Arena for several years, will have the assistance of their clan newcomer, Jack Curtis, Jr., when they meet the villains for a six-man tag match. Paddy Mack, Jack Wentworth, and Johan Von Brauner are slated for those three opposing roles.

Junior Curtis made a successful debut last week with his father when they defeated Brauner and Mack in the main event. He was quickly added to the list of Monroe favorites by Kallio customers.

Brauner and Mack felt that with the aid of Wentworth, who conquered George Curtis in the semi-final last Tuesday, they could lick the entire Curtis trio. So Kallio and the Curtises agreed.

The top brawl will be a three-fall event, limited to 90 minutes.

Three short preliminaries will "warm up" the grapplers, when the program opens at 8:15 o'clock.

Davis Cup Group Announces Team For Zone Finals

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 8 (AP)—Two Davis Cup veterans and two youngsters were named today to the U.S. team which will play Italy in the American-European inter-zone final Sept. 28-30 at the West Side Tennis Club. Dick Savitt as omitted.

Selected were Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, a veteran of five Davis Cup campaigns, and Hamilton Richardson of Westfield, N. J., who has played in four. The youngsters were Sam Giammalva, 22, of Houston, Tex., and Mike Green, 19, of Miami, Fla.

Chauncey Steele Jr., chairman of the Davis Cup selection committee, said that Savitt, former Wimbledon champion who made a comeback in the national tournament this year, asked that he not be included.

"I am unable to play Davis Cup tennis," Savitt said.

This probably also means that Savitt, who carried Australia's Ken Roseall to five sets yesterday in the quarter-finals of the national championships, will not be available for the trip to Australia in case the Americans beat the Italians.

The Davis cup team captain, Bill Talbert has indicated he will take no chances and will go with his veterans—Seixas and Richardson, who made the best showing in the tournament this week.

Palmer Holds 2-Stroke Rubber City Lead

Ed Furgol Shoots Matching 68 For Runner-Up Place

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 8 UP—Hard - swinging Arnold Palmer overcame a slight wind and cool temperatures Saturday to maintain his two-stroke lead going into the final round of the $19,000 Rubber City Open golf tournament.

Palmer, of Latrobe, Pa., fired five birdies to head off the challenge of Ed Furgol of St. Louis who wound up second after the third round of play with 205. Palmer had a 203.

Furgol, who was in a two-way tie for second at the end of Friday's second round, fired an eagle and two birdies to stay in pace with the leader. His eagle came on the par five 15th hole of the Firestone Country Club course.

In third place was George Bayer of Grossinger, N.Y., with 207. He slammed a six-under-par on the first nine holes to record the best round of the day.

Four others were bunched at 209 going into the final round. They were Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill., Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., and Ed Oliver of Canton, Mass.

Another three-way tie existed at the 210 mark. The group included Paul McQuire of Shaker Heights, Ohio, Frank Stranahan of Toledo and Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif.

Although Bayer had the top round of the day, Tommy Bolt of Houston threatened for awhile to tear the course apart on his first nine. Bolt carded a 31 on the first nine with six birdies, but he got stuck behind a tree on the par four eighth hole and had to settle for a bogie.

Southside's Pels Win Opener From Mississippi Foes

The Southside High Pelicans of Monroe were back at home yesterday after opening their season with a 20-0 defeat of the Columbia Training School Wolverines at Cleveland, Miss.

The Pelican defense repulsed Columbia all night, the Wolverines never able to penetrate Southside territory as the Pel line of Courtney, Ventress, Crouch, Taylor, Hanks, Man, and Owens looked looked mighty capable.

Southside touchdowns were accounted for by Billy Erwin, who also added two extra points, and Arthur McNeil who scampered across twice, one with a runback of an intercepted pass.

The game was the opening clash of the Southern Conference of Boys Training Schools and was the tenth in the series between the two schools which were the first to inaugurate inter-state football conference now includes six states. Southside's win evened the series at five wins apiece against the Mississippians.

Dodgers Shade Giants, 4-3

BROOKLYN, Sept. 8 (AP)—Relief pitcher Don Bessent drove in the winning run in the eighth inning and protected it in the ninth as the Brooklyn Dodgers came from behind to defeat the New York Giants 4-3 today and climb to within a half game of the league leading Milwaukee Braves.

Carl Furillo led off the eighth with a double and took third as Gil Hodges bounced to second. After Rube Walker was intentionally passed by Hoyt Wilhelm, Bessent was permitted to bat and he sent a fly to Willie Mays in medium center. May's throw was wide of the plate and Furillo scored the tie-breaking run.

Bessent then finished up his two-inning shutout chore by retiring the Giants in order in the ninth to post his third victory against as many defeats. The bespectacled righthander has allowed only one run in his last 38 1-3 innings, all in relief. The winning run was the first tally he had driven in all season.

Newellton Bears Scrap To 6 To 6 Tie At Cleveland

NEWELLTON, La., Sept 8 (Special) — The Bears of Newellton High School were back home today with a 6-6 draw against Cleveland High in their opening football game of the season at Cleveland, Miss., last night, and Coach Johnny Johnson was full of praise for his Bruins.

"I've got the fightingest bunch. They're little, but boy do they battle," beamed Johnson today. "Cleveland has this big 200-pound average line and my kids looked like pee wees out there, but they didn't budge an inch, and it was line play that kept us from defeat.

"We used only 13 players in the game, being mighty thin on reserves, but all my boys came out of the game in good shape and will be pointing for Culkin Military Academy of Vicksburg here next Friday night."

Both clubs scored in the second quarter last night. Cleveland counted on a 15-yard pass to Johnny Norquist, and Sam Duchesne, Newellton fullback considered the best football prospect here since Hugh Emfinger, rushed over from 25 yards out with the tying touchdown for the Bears.

Longest gain of the game came when John Wood, Newellton guard, dropped into the backfield to punt and was backed behind his goal. Wood fumbled, but scooped up the ball and raced out to his own 40. Coach Johnson kept him in the backfield.

Cleveland drove to Newellton's four in the final quarter, but the little Bruin line held to repulse the threat.

75 Witnesses At Senate Hearings Ask End To Tests

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (UP) A Senate subcommittee on disarmament reported Saturday that 75 witnesses who appeared at its hearings favored ending atomic and hydrogen bomb tests through international agreement.

The non-government witnesses also agreed generally that "all weapons of mass destruction should be eliminated and prohibited." They also would extend the international ban on weapons to testing of inter-continental ballistic missiles and development of new "surprise" weapons.

The subcommittee reported their stand in an interim report.

President Eisenhower has held it would be foolhardy to stop testing atomic and hydrogen weapons in the absence of some general agreement on disarmament. And Republican leaders have attacked Democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson for proposing that this government give consideration to halting such tests.

The witnesses endorsed Mr. Eisenhower's plan for mutual aerial inspection to prevent a surprise attack and recommended that it be carried out by the United Nations. They agreed with administration witnesses that stockpile nuclear weapons cannot be detected by any inspection system now known.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Hubert D. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said developments in mass-destruction weapons have both hindered and helped disarmament methods.

"At best, nations would be far less able to devise agreements to insure that a nation was in fact living up to its disarmament commitments and not instead secretly preparing for war," the report said.

But, it added, "these developments probably account for the increased efforts for disarmament in 1955." The year 1955 was called "an important milestone in disarmament efforts because this country and Russia then "recognized that neither nation could emerge unscathed from a war waged with nuclear weapons."

The United States and Russia have not been able to agree on any disarmament proposals so far.

The subcommittee said administration policy "is not clearly fixed" on whether conventional armaments can be reduced without accompanying limitations on nuclear weapons.

Color Illusion Shown On TV In British Project

LONDON, Sept. 8 (UP)— Britain's commercial TV authority Saturday night presented viewers with a sample of a system which gave the illusion of color to black and white receivers without the use of special attachments.

Viewers agreed it was hard on the eyes. The TV authority said its "subjective color" system provides the illusion of color without changing either transmission or reception, but it refused to give details of the system.

Committee Report

Economic Effects Of Disarmament Causing Concern

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — A Senate subcommittee questioned today whether nations engaged in an arms race costing 100 billion dollars a year could order sudden, drastic disarmament without harming their economies.

This was one of scores of thorny questions raised — but not answered—in an interim report on recent hearings of the Senate Disarmament subcommittee headed by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn).

The report grimly stated that rapid development of powerful new weapons make proposals for control and reduction of armaments "vastly more complicated and perhaps impossible.'

And it questioned whether President Eisenhower's appointment of special assistant on disarmament is the "most effective" method for handling "relevant information on disarmament policy, for formulating that policy and for executing it."

Creation of this position, now held by Harold E. Stassen ,has shifted primary responsibility for policy from the State Department to the National Security Council, it said.

Commenting on the economic implications of disarmament, the subcommittee said defense spending by all countries exceeds 100 billion dollars a year and "has an effect on the domestic economies of all nations."

A "Principal" question in this connection, it said, is "the probable impact of reductions in military establishments and armaments production on the economies of the major nations, especially the United States and the Soviet Union."

Group Warns Of Depression Fear

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 — UP — The Conference on Economic Progress said Saturday the nation's economic policies are caught in a vise of "great complacency" which could lead to a depression.

Without mentioning the Eisenhower administration by name, it nevertheless blamed its "h a rd money" policies, cutbacks in defense spending, and "inequities" in the general prosperity for what it called a perilous economic outlook. The group's membership includes Walter P. Reuther, president of the AFL — CIO United Auto Workers and Leon Keyserling, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers in the Truman administration.

GENEVA, Sept. 8 (UP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt left for home by plane Saturday, ending a European work-and-sightseeing tour.

Pro-West Premier Of Pakistan Quits

KARACHI, Pakistan, Sept. 8 —(UP)—Pro-Western Premier Mohamad Ali resigned Saturday because of a "campaign of villification and slander" against him.

The 61-year-old premier, who had served as ambassador to Washington, quit the Muslim League party which took credit for achieving independence for the Asian country. He said the league had double-crossed him.

There was speculation that President Iskander Mirza may ask Ali to form a new government with an independent cabinet. Opposition leader Suhra Wardy also was considered a likely candidate to try to form a new regime.

Both Mirza and Wardy conferred with Ali here before his resignation announcement. After the resignation, Mirza and Wardy conferred separately.

Ali said he no longer could tolerate the abuse to which he said he had been subjected.

"I have suffered all this in silence hoping that wiser counsels would prevail, but the campaign of villification and slander against me has continued with unabated fury," he said in his resignation statement.

"In the meeting of Aug. 27, a majority of the coalition party members—an absolute majority in the national assembly — had expressed their confidence in me. In the ordinary course of things I should not therefore resign the office of prime minister. I consider it a point of honor, however, that having decided to resign from the Muslim League I must resign also from the premiership."

Ali was a civil servant in India before the country was partitioned. He went to Pakistan after partition and parlayed his reputation as a financial wizard and his political skill into formation of a government.

Businessmen Pay Picknicker's Fine For Having Beer

SARDIS, Miss., Sept. 8 (AP) — A Memphis, Tenn., man was fined $25 and $10 court costs today for possessing beer but promptly got the $35 back from businessmen who said they didn't "agree with the sheriff."

Herbert Latham pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Theo Bratton. He was arrested by a sheriff's deputy last Sunday for having two cans of beer on a picnic table at Sardis Lake. Beer and whisky are illegal here.

Latham said that after the hearing a group of Sardis and Batesville, Miss., businessmen took up a $35 collection and gave it to him. "They said they didn't agree with the views of Sheriff James Travis," Latham declared. "Before the hearing another justice of the peace told me the law was intended for bootleggers, but Sheriff Travis is enforcing it against everybody."

GOP To Attempt Defeat Of Muskie In Maine Voting

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 8 (UP) Republicans will attempt to stop Democratic Gov. Edmund S. Muskie from becoming a "display piece" for the Democratic party Monday in the first-in-the-nation state election.

The lanky, good-looking Maine governor provided the political shocker of 1954 when he upset Gov. Burton M. Cross to give the Democrats the executive office for the first time in 20 years.

President Eisenhoer has asked Maine voters to "work for a complete Republican victory" this year.

Maine's election pits Muskoe, a former Waterville attorney against 36-year-old Willis A. Trafton Jr., speaker of the Maine House.

Louisiana Beauty Hospitalized As Result Of Singing

ATLANTA, Sept. 8 (UP)—A blonde beauty from Louisiana sang snatches of operatic and religious songs for two hours in the Atlanta airport terminal early Saturday to repeated rounds of applause from 100 waiting passengers.

Police identified the young woman as Carolyn Berthelot, 21, of Baton Rouge, La. She was taken to Grady hospital here for observation. Officers said she was in a highly agitated condition.

Miss Berthelot is a student at Louisiana State University and the state's representative in the national college queen contest at Asbury Park, N. J. She also was runner-up in the Miss Louisiana contest last year.

Patrolman H. A. Bryan, who was on duty at the airport, said he heard the singing coming from the terminal but assumed it originated from a radio or phonograph until someone called him inside.

Bryan said the blue-eyed blonde, clad in a black sheath dress and a hip-length jacket, paraded back and forth in the terminal, singing bits of operatic arias and religious songs.

"She had a beautiful voice," the officer said, "although I don't know much about opera. The passengers waiting for their planes applauded her several times."

Bryan said she had arrived home after midnight on a New York-to-New Orleans flight but apparently missed her Delta Airlines connection for New Orleans intentionally. He said he understood her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Berthelot of Baton Rouge, were to meet her there.

The patrolman said she sang for about two hours, from 3 a. m. until 5 a. m., before she was taken to the hospital where doctors placed her under sedation.

The hospital said her mother had come from Baton Rouge and was to check her out of the hospital.

Scientists Hunt Runaway Balloon Far Above Earth

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 8 —UP— A runaway balloon that soared a record 27 miles above the earth and may stay aloft a week or more was sought Saturday by scientists using a radar tracking unit.

Dr. Edward Ney, a University of Minnesota physicist who heads the balloon project, said he had received no new reports on the whereabouts of the huge pyramid shaped plastic bubble.

The balloon was launched Friday morning and the last signals transmitted from its radio equipment were picked up at 11 o'clock Friday night. At that time, the balloon was floating westward from the Twin Cities still some 143,000 feet above the earth's surface.

"This balloon is essentially out of the earth's atmosphere." Ney said. "It is in such rarified atmosphere that the pressure is only one-five-hundredths of what it is on earth."

Ney said it is possible the giant balloon might continue to float over the earth for a week or more before it either bursts or its helium supply slowly leaks and it floats to the ground.

Two men set out with a portable radar tracking unit in hopes of picking up the balloon's trail. However, Ney said he had received no report from the men.

Ney said the next report on the balloon might not come until instruments bearing valuable scientific data are parachuted to earth and located.

He said if the balloon bursts, the parachute will drop the instruments gently to earth. Ney estimated that from the balloon's height, it would take an hour or more for the 4-pound instrument package to parachute to earth.

Sen. Wiley Faces Election Test In Wisconsin Tues.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 8 (UP) —Veteran Sen. Alexander Wiley, champion of President Eisenhower's foreign policy in the Senate, fights his own party leaders and a young congressman in Tuesday's Wisconsin primary.

The 72- year - old Republican, after 18 years in the Senate, faces the strongest challenge of his career from Rep. Glenn Davis and the top leaders of the GOP in Wisconsin.

Davis, 41, won the state Republican convention endorsement from Wiley in Milwaukee three months ago. The regular party's organizational and financial resources went with it.

Wiley, fighting for his political life, tried to gain White House support by boasting a long record as an Eisenhower Republican. Davis did the same and the President announced he was naming no favorites in the red-hot Wisconsin battle.

Nuclear Blasts

75 Witnesses At Senate Hearings Ask End To Tests

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (UP) A Senate subcommittee on disarmament reported Saturday that 75 witnesses who appeared at its hearings favored ending atomic and hydrogen bomb tests through international agreement.

The non-government witnesses also agreed generally that "all weapons of mass destruction should be eliminated and prohibited." They also would extend the international ban on weapons to testing of inter-continental ballistic missiles and development of new "surprise" weapons.

The subcommittee reported their stand in an interim report.

President Eisenhower has held it would be foolhardy to stop testing atomic and hydrogen weapons in the absence of some general agreement on disarmament. And Republican leaders have attacked Democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson for proposing that this government give consideration to halting such tests.

The witnesses endorsed Mr. Eisenhower's plan for mutual aerial inspection to prevent a surprise attack and recommended that it be carried out by the United Nations. They agreed with administration witnesses that stockpile nuclear weapons cannot be detected by any inspection system now known.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Hubert D. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said developments in mass-destruction weapons have both hindered and helped disarmament methods.

"At best, nations would be far less able to devise agreements to insure that a nation was in fact living up to its disarmament commitments and not instead secretly preparing for war," the report said.

But, it added, "these developments probably account for the increased efforts for disarmament in 1955." The year 1955 was called "an important milestone in disarmament efforts because this country and Russia then "recognized that neither nation could emerge unscathed from a war waged with nuclear weapons."

The United States and Russia have not been able to agree on any disarmament proposals so far.

The subcommittee said administration policy "is not clearly fixed" on whether conventional armaments can be reduced without accompanying limitations on nuclear weapons.

Color Illusion Shown On TV In British Project

LONDON, Sept. 8 (UP)— Britain's commercial TV authority Saturday night presented viewers with a sample of a system which gave the illusion of color to black and white receivers without the use of special attachments.

Viewers agreed it was hard on the eyes. The TV authority said its "subjective color" system provides the illusion of color without changing either transmission or reception, but it refused to give details of the system.

Committee Report

Economic Effects Of Disarmament Causing Concern

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — A Senate subcommittee questioned today whether nations engaged in an arms race costing 100 billion dollars a year could order sudden, drastic disarmament without harming their economies.

This was one of scores of thorny questions raised — but not answered—in an interim report on recent hearings of the Senate Disarmament subcommittee headed by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn).

The report grimly stated that rapid development of powerful new weapons make proposals for control and reduction of armaments "vastly more complicated and perhaps impossible.'

And it questioned whether President Eisenhower's appointment of special assistant on disarmament is the "most effective" method for handling "relevant information on disarmament policy, for formulating that policy and for executing it."

Creation of this position, now held by Harold E. Stassen ,has shifted primary responsibility for policy from the State Department to the National Security Council, it said.

Commenting on the economic implications of disarmament, the subcommittee said defense spending by all countries exceeds 100 billion dollars a year and "has an effect on the domestic economies of all nations."

A "Principal" question in this connection, it said, is "the probable impact of reductions in military establishments and armaments production on the economies of the major nations, especially the United States and the Soviet Union."

Group Warns Of Depression Fear

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 — UP — The Conference on Economic Progress said Saturday the nation's economic policies are caught in a vise of "great complacency" which could lead to a depression.

Without mentioning the Eisenhower administration by name, it nevertheless blamed its "hard money" policies, cutbacks in defense spending, and "inequities" in the general prosperity for what it called a perilous economic outlook. The group's membership includes Walter P. Reuther, president of the AFL — CIO United Auto Workers and Leon Keyserling, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers in the Truman administration.

MRS. ROOSEVELT HEADS HOME

GENEVA, Sept. 8 (UP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt left for home by plane Saturday, ending a European work-and-sightseeing tour.

Pro-West Premier Of Pakistan Quits

KARACHI, Pakistan, Sept. 8 —(UP)—Pro-Western Premier Mohamad Ali resigned Saturday because of a "campaign of villification and slander" against him.

The 61-year-old premier, who had served as ambassador to Washington, quit the Muslim League party which took credit for achieving independence for the Asian country. He said the league had double-crossed him.

There was speculation that President Iskander Mirza may ask Ali to form a new government with an independent cabinet. Opposition leader Suhra Wardy also was considered a likely candidate to try to form a new regime.

Both Mirza and Wardy conferred with Ali here before his resignation announcement. After the resignation, Mirza and Wardy conferred separately.

Ali said he no longer could tolerate the abuse to which he said he had been subjected.

"I have suffered all this in silence hoping that wiser counsels would prevail, but the campaign of villification and slander against me has continued with unabated fury," he said in his resignation statement.

"In the meeting of Aug. 27, a majority of the coalition party members—an absolute majority in the national assembly — had expressed their confidence in me. In the ordinary course of things I should not therefore resign the office of prime minister. I consider it a point of honor, however, that having decided to resign from the Muslim League I must resign also from the premiership."

Ali was a civil servant in India before the country was partitioned. He went to Pakistan after partition and parlayed his reputation as a financial wizard and his political skill into formation of a government.

Sen. Wiley Faces Election Test In Wisconsin Tues.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 8 (UP) —Veteran Sen. Alexander Wiley, champion of President Eisenhower's foreign policy in the Senate, fights his own party leaders and a young congressman in Tuesday's Wisconsin primary.

The 72- year - old Republican, after 18 years in the Senate, faces the strongest challenge of his career from Rep. Glenn Davis and the top leaders of the GOP in Wisconsin.

Davis, 41, won the state Republican convention endorsement from Wiley in Milwaukee three months ago. The regular party's organizational and financial resources went with it.

Wiley, fighting for his political life, tried to gain White House support by boasting a long record as an Eisenhower Republican. Davis did the same and the President announced he was naming no favorites in the red-hot Wisconsin battle.

Veteran Sun Oil Manager Retires

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 8 (Special) — Arthur F. Truex, veteran division manager of Sun Oil Company's Mid-Continent Production Division, will retire from active service at the end of 1956, announces Jno. G. Pew of Philadelphia, Sun's vice president in charge of Production.

George W. Chapman, Land Department manager of Sun's Southwest Division at Dallas, Texas, will succeed Mr. Truex, effective January 1.

When Truex retires on December 31, he will have completed over 32 years of service to Sun, all of them in the Mid-Continent Division. He has been division manager for 12 years.

Sun's Mid-Continent Division then was the Twin State Oil Company when he joined it as a geologist in December 1924. He became chief geologist in April 1929, and manger of the Land and Geological Department in December 1930. He has been division manager since July 1944.

A native of Newark, Ohio, but reared in Rochester, N. Y., he received his B. S. degree from the University of Rochester in 1908. After four years with the New York State engineer working surveys and construction of the New York barge canal, he returned to college to get an E. M. in 1914 from the Missouri School of Mines, where he was a member of Tau Beta Phi. He was a geologist for the Missouri Geological Survey, Cosden Oil and Gas Co., Montrose Oil and Refining Co., and Humphreys Oil Co. before joining the Sun organization.

Truex is a member of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists and the American Petroleum Institute; and has served as president of the Tulsa Geological Society. He has been a member of the executive committee and a director of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association; a director and a member of the Steering and Finance Committee of Mid-Continent's Kansas - Oklahoma Division; and active in the Tulsa Chamber of Commerce and the Petroleum Executives Council. He is a member of Delta Upsilon Fraternity, the Tulsa Club, and the Petroleum Club, of which he is a former director.

Truex also is nationally known for one of his several hobbies, rose growing. He was president of the American Rose Society in 1942-43. In 1949, he became the 13th person ever to receive the society's gold medal.

When Chapman moves to Tulsa to take over his new duties, it will be a return. His first Sun job was with Twin State Oil Company at Tulsa in March of 1930. Early in 1931, however, he moved to the Southwest Division, where he has acquired wide experience.

In the Southwest he has been a materialman; a proration engineer; a scout at Tyler in East Texas; a scout and landman at Shreveport, La.; a production engineer at Dallas; and a member of the Land Department at Dallas since August 1944. He was made district land superintendent at Dallas in January 1945, assistant manager of the department in August 1946; and manager in May of 1951. For several months during 1953 and early 1954, he served as acting division manager of the Rocky Mountain Division at Denver, Colo.

Chapman was born January 17, 1904, at St. John's, Mich. He attended Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind.; Tulsa University, Tulsa, Okla.; and the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich. He was with Barnsdall Oil Company and Thomas and Manning Drillers briefly before joining Sun.

Chapman is a member of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association; American Petroleum Institute; American Association of Petroleum Landmen; Dallas Petroleum Club; Dallas Petroleum Engineers Club; and Dallas Landmen's Association, which he has served as second vice president and director. He is a member of the Northwood Country Club.

Petrochemical Industry Moves Into Boom Period

HOUSTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — A boom is on in the petrochemical and liquefied petroleum gas industries.

Production this year is expected to exceed 34 billion pounds, compared to seven billion in 1942.

Marketed production of liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) in 1955 exceeded six billion gallons, compared to less than 700 million in 1943. Last year's output was 17 per cent above 1954.

The Oil and Gas Journal estimates annual petrochemical production may reach 60 billion pounds by which time a current four billion dollar investment is expected to be doubled.

Some 25 years ago liquefied gases—primarily butane and propane—extracted from wet natural gas were considered practically worthless. Market outlets for home heating, motor fuel, chemical manufacturing and synthetic rubber production have been expanded rapidly.

In 1939, some 39 per cent of LPG production was used for domestic and motor fuel purposes, only 12 per cent for chemical manufacturing.

Last year 61 per cent was used for home purposes and motor fuel. Chemical manufacturing requirements had increased to 21 per cent with synthetic rubber production taking another eight per cent.

Kindergarten Opened By Baptist Church

The First Baptist church, corner Grammont and St. John, announced Saturday the opening of a new Kindergarten, Miss Bettie Oxford, as teacher. The Kindergarten is held in the elementary section of the education building. This program is being offered as a service to residents of Monroe, the announcement said.

Miss Oxford served in the parish school system for a number of years. She has a B. A. from Northwestern State College and a master's degree from Peabody college in primary education. The program this week has consisted of free-time activity, refreshments, work, and organized activity.

Interstate Oil Compact Facing Test In Congress

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Congress will face in January the question of whether it really wants the Justice Department to determine if the Interstate Oil Compact throttles competition.

Money for the investigation is the big point.

The issue was raised this week in a report by Atty. Gen. Brownell on the compact, created in 1935 and for which authority has been renewed periodically.

On July 28, 1955, Congress authorized its operation until Sept. 1, 1959. The extending legislation contained a provision calling on the Justice Department to conduct a study of the "competitive effects of the system by which oil production is regulated" and make a report to Congress.

"The report provision was intended, therefore," Brownell said, "to require an informed statement by the attorney general which would provide a basis for legislative consideration of the problem."

But the report he now submits, the attorney general continued, is simply a compilation of data and "does not draw any conclusions." He said his department didn't get enough money to conduct a study of the scope Congress indicated it wanted.

"Any such conclusions," Brownell stated, "necessitate a more comprehensive basis of information."

He said the report he is submitting "perforce, is limited to an objective summary of some of the problems of oil production and conservation.

"It is intended to provide a starting point from which further inquiry, within the limits of available appropriations, may be carried out.

Mississippi Has Two New Oilers

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 8 (AP)—Mississippi oil men said today two new oilers were completed last week.

Union Producing Co. completed the Stevens No. 43 in Tinsley field of Yazoo County. The well was reported pumping 102 barrels a day of 39 gravity oil from 5,155-76 feet.

The Tinsley field was discovered in 1939 and has produced 142 million barrels of oil at the rate of 300,000 barrels a month.

The second completion was the Hunter Jones-Jett Drilling Co. Armstrong No. 4 in southeast Elisile field.

The well was flowing at 134 barrels of 39 gravity oil per day, from 6,610-12 feet.

Veteran Sun Oil Manager Retires

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 8 (Special) — Arthur F. Truex, veteran division manager of Sun Oil Company's Mid-Continent Production Division, will retire from active service at the end of 1956, announces Jno. G. Pew of Philadelphia, Sun's vice president in charge of Production.

George W. Chapman, Land Department manager of Sun's Southwest Division at Dallas, Texas, will succeed Mr. Truex, effective January 1.

When Truex retires on December 31, he will have completed over 32 years of service to Sun, all of them in the Mid-Continent Division. He has been division manager for 12 years.

Sun's Mid-Continent Division then was the Twin State Oil Company when he joined it as a geologist in December 1924. He became chief geologist in April 1929, and manger of the Land and Geological Department in December 1930. He has been division manager since July 1944.

A native of Newark, Ohio, but reared in Rochester, N. Y., he received his B. S. degree from the University of Rochester in 1908. After four years with the New York State engineer working surveys and construction of the New York barge canal, he returned to college to get an E. M. in 1914 from the Missouri School of Mines, where he was a member of Tau Beta Phi. He was a geologist for the Missouri Geological Survey, Cosden Oil and Gas Co., Montrose Oil and Refining Co., and Humphreys Oil Co. before joining the Sun organization.

Truex is a member of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists and the American Petroleum Institute; and has served as president of the Tulsa Geological Society. He has been a member of the executive committee and a director of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association; a director and a member of the Steering and Finance Committee of Mid-Continent's Kansas - Oklahoma Division; and active in the Tulsa Chamber of Commerce and the Petroleum Executives Council. He is a member of Delta Upsilon Fraternity, the Tulsa Club, and the Petroleum Club, of which he is a former director.

Truex also is nationally known for one of his several hobbies, rose growing. He was president of the American Rose Society in 1942-43. In 1949, he became the 13th person ever to receive the society's gold medal.

When Chapman moves to Tulsa to take over his new duties, it will be a return. His first Sun job was with Twin State Oil Company at Tulsa in March of 1930. Early in 1931, however, he moved to the Southwest Division, where he has acquired wide experience.

In the Southwest he has been a materialman; a proration engineer; a scout at Tyler in East Texas; a scout and landman at Shreveport, La.; a production engineer at Dallas; and a member of the Land Department at Dallas since August 1944. He was made district land superintendent at Dallas in January 1945, assistant manager of the department in August 1946; and manager in May of 1951. For several months during 1953 and early 1954, he served as acting division manager of the Rocky Mountain Division at Denver, Colo.

Chapman was born January 17, 1904, at St. John's, Mich. He attended Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind.; Tulsa University, Tulsa, Okla.; and the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich. He was with Barnsdall Oil Company and Thomas and Manning Drillers briefly before joining Sun.

Chapman is a member of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association; American Petroleum Institute; American Association of Petroleum Landmen; Dallas Petroleum Club; Dallas Petroleum Engineers Club; and Dallas Landmen's Association, which he has served as second vice president and director. He is a member of the Northwood Country Club.

Petrochemical Industry Moves Into Boom Period

HOUSTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — A boom is on in the petrochemical and liquefied petroleum gas industries.

Production this year is expected to exceed 34 billion pounds, compared to seven billion in 1942.

Marketed production of liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) in 1955 exceeded six billion gallons, compared to less than 700 million in 1943. Last year's output was 17 per cent above 1954.

The Oil and Gas Journal estimates annual petrochemical production may reach 60 billion pounds by which time a current four billion dollar investment is expected to be doubled.

Some 25 years ago liquefied gases—primarily butane and propane—extracted from wet natural gas were considered practically worthless. Market outlets for home heating, motor fuel, chemical manufacturing and synthetic rubber production have been expanded rapidly.

In 1939, some 39 per cent of LPG production was used for domestic and motor fuel purposes, only 12 per cent for chemical manufacturing.

Last year 61 per cent was used for home purposes and motor fuel. Chemical manufacturing requirements had increased to 21 per cent with synthetic rubber production taking another eight per cent.

Interstate Oil Compact Facing Test In Congress

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Congress will face in January the question of whether it really wants the Justice Department to determine if the Interstate Oil Compact throttles competition.

On July 28, 1955, Congress authorized its operation until Sept. 1, 1959. The extending legislation contained a provision calling on the Justice Department to conduct a study of the "competitive effects of the system by which oil production is regulated" and make a report to Congress.

"The report provision was intended, therefore," Brownell said, "to require an informed statement by the attorney general which would provide a basis for legislative consideration of the problem."

But the report he now submits, the attorney general continued, is simply a compilation of data and "does not draw any conclusions." He said his department didn't get enough money to conduct a study of the scope Congress indicated it wanted.

"Any such conclusions," Brownell stated, "necessitate a more comprehensive basis of information."

He said the report he is submitting "perforce, is limited to an objective summary of some of the problems of oil production and conservation.

Perkins-Gregory Troth Pledged At Nuptial Mass

Of interest here and elsewhere in Louisiana was the wedding September 1, celebrated in the Catholic Church, in Columbia of Miss Patsy Kay Gregory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Miller Gregory, to Ira Louis Perkins son of Mrs. Jess L. Martin of Lake Arthur and John L. Perkins, of Jena.

The nuptial mass was held at 10 a.m. and performed by Father George Hoylen. Decorating the altar of the church were baskets of white chrysanthemums and candelabra holding tall cathedral tapers. Mrs. Earl Harris, organist, and Mrs. John Kenney, vocalist, presented the nuptial music.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a waltz length grown fashioned to hand-clipped Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The long bodice of lace had a high scalloped jeweled neckline with long sleeves ending in Lily points over the hands. The full tulle skirt was trimmed with deep points of appliques of lace. The finger tip veil of illusion was built onto a tiny lace cap which was embroidered in matching iridescent sequins and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis with satin leaves and ribbon streamers.

Miss Helen Vinyard, of Olla, was the maid of honor and Miss Katherine Davis, of Clayton cousin of the bride served as junior bridesmaid. Their dresses were made of shell pink crystalline with sweetheart necklines and tiny cap sleeves. The skirts were very full with self cummerbunds ending in the back in large butterfly bows. In their hair they wore half crowns of the material of their gowns and carried pink asters tied with pink satin ribbons.

Richard Fewell, of Jena, was best man and Hiram Gregory of Ferriday and Bobby Denton of Jena were ushers. Lee Roy Adams and Gary Tryon were altar boys.

A reception followed in the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Gregory received her guests in a mauve lace gown made with scooped neckline and push up sleeves. Girl Scout News

School and Scouting go together, or should, the aim of the organization being a troop for every girl who wants to be a Scout. To make this possible the organization needs volunteers to be leaders and troop committee members, neighborhood chairmen, troop organizers, board and committee members. With enough volunteers no one person has too big a job. Now's the time; call the office or a troop leader in your neighborhood. There's training to help you do the job, a professional worker, materials and books.

Troop 14, the troop of busy Seniors is already meeting and planning an active fall program. One thing they're planning is to help stir up interest in Senior and pre-Senior troop in the area. They hope to visit troops in Farmerville, Bastrop, and Columbia, perhaps plan joint social activities or camping, and eventually have a Senior Planning Board for this area. Nancy Breard, as many of you know, is state president of the Senior Scouts. Leader Ethel Easterling says the girls are becoming very interested in national and international camping opportunities, and that she is sure that some will apply. Region V, of which we are a part, will have a girl chosen for the 1957 Juliette Low encampment at Our Chalet in Switzerland. Wouldn't it be wonderful if one of our girls were selected!

Names make news, we've always been told. Here are the names of the girls who qualified for Red Cross Swimming certificates at Camp Wawbansee in August under the instruction of Gwendolyn Moore and Gretchen Kovac: Beginners; Rosemary Ball, Dianne Balfour, Sally Wing, Diane Walters, Mickey Varnado, Linda Powell. Intermediates; Gerry Frazier, Beverly Blackmon, Judy Miller, Kathleen Cochran, Barbara Tynes, Diane Barthel, Barbara Black, Frances Byrd, Carol Coenen, Laura Freund, Chris Holliday, Sissy Loftin, Diantha McBride, Janet Noland, Sally Pierce, Pat Porter, Ann Robinson, Jacqueline Sims, Suzanne Vaughan, Sue Waite. Swimmers; Frances Adams, Jerri Byers, Elizabeth Miller, Geraldine Peterson. Advanced Swimmers; Nancy Martin, Gail Pierson.

By next week we hope to report that all of last year's troops are meeting and that organization has been started on new ones for the many girls who want and need Scouting.

Perkins-Gregory Troth Pledged At Nuptial Mass

Of interest here and elsewhere in Louisiana was the wedding September 1, celebrated in the Catholic Church, in Columbia of Miss Patsy Kay Gregory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Miller Gregory, to Ira Louis Perkins son of Mrs. Jess L. Martin of Lake Arthur and John L. Perkins, of Jena.

The nuptial mass was held at 10 a.m. and performed by Father George Hoylen. Decorating the altar of the church were baskets of white chrysanthemums and candelabra holding tall cathedral tapers. Mrs. Earl Harris, organist, and Mrs. John Kenney, vocalist, presented the nuptial music.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a waltz length grown fashioned to hand-clipped Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The long bodice of lace had a high scalloped jeweled neckline with long sleeves ending in Lily points over the hands. The full tulle skirt was trimmed with deep points of appliques of lace. The finger tip veil of illusion was built onto a tiny lace cap which was embroidered in matching iridescent sequins and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis with satin leaves and ribbon streamers.

Miss Helen Vinyard, of Olla, was the maid of honor and Miss Katherine Davis, of Clayton cousin of the bride served as junior bridesmaid. Their dresses were made of shell pink crystalline with sweetheart necklines and tiny cap sleeves. The skirts were very full with self cummerbunds ending in the back in large butterfly bows. In their hair they wore half crowns of the material of their gowns and carried pink asters tied with pink satin ribbons.

Richard Fewell, of Jena, was best man and Hiram Gregory of Ferriday and Bobby Denton of Jena were ushers. Lee Roy Adams and Gary Tryon were altar boys.

MRS. CHARLES EBERT SLADE, III

Miss Patton, Charles Slade Are Wed In Chapel Ceremony

Beauty and simplicity of detail characterized the wedding of Miss Mary Virginia Patton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kilpatrick Patton of Nashville, Tennessee, to Charles Ebert Slade, III, of Monroe, son of Charles E. Slade, Jr., of Monroe and Mrs. J. G. Beaudette of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The chapel of Hobson Methodist Church, Nashville, was the scene of the double ring ceremony which was solemnized at 5 o'clock, August 23, with the Rev. H. H. Austin, pastor of the church and the Rev. Robert W. Turner, III, assistant rector of Christ Church, Episcopal, as the officiants.

As the guest company assembled, a musical program was given by Mrs. Joe H. Noland, organist, and Harry Husband, vocalist.

For the nuptial occasion cathedral tapers burning in single holders illuminated the chapel altar which was flanked by groupings of formal huckleberry trees. Forming the central ornament of the altar was a Grecian urn filled with specimen white gladioli and stock.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a lovely Chantilly lace and ivory satin bridal gown. Distinguishing features of the sculptured bodice which was fastened down the front with tiny, self-covered buttons were a narrow stand-up collar and long, fitted sleeves which tapered to points over the hands. The bride's chapel length veil of illusion was caught to a coronet of seed pearls, and she carried a white Bible marked with a cluster of white orchids showered with lilies of the valley.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Sara Bervoets of Nashville, who was gowned in a Princesse model of mauve mist antique taffeta designed with a V neck front and back. A bow of the material marked the neckline in back and streamers extended to the hemline of the waltz length skirt. Her bouquet was composed of variegated pink glamellias and ti leaves.

Robert E. Marsdoff, of Houston, Texas, served as Mr. Slade's best man, and ushers, completing the wedding party were Robert K. Patton, Jr., brother of the bride, James R. Meadows, Jr., cousin of the bride, Charles Wendell Moody, Jr., cousin of the bridegroom, and William R. Senter, III, of Chattanooga.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Patton chose a street-length model of navy blue silk organza featured by a draped collar of pale pink organza. She wore a pink satin and straw hat and her flower were white orchids.

Mrs. Beaudette, mother of the bridegroom was attired in a dusty rose sheer model with which she wore harmonizing accessories and a cluster of white orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Patton, parents of the bride were hosts at a reception at their home on Eastland Avenue for members of the two families, the wedding party and out-of-town guests. The receiving line formed before the drawing room mantel which was garlanded with string smilax and centered with an arrangement of white gladioli and stock flanked by burning tapers.

The bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake fringed with smilax studded with stephanotis. At either end of the board were silver candelabrum, the epergnettes of which were filled with white roses.

After a brief wedding trip, the couple will make their home at 2102 20th Avenue South, Nashville, Tenn.

The bride attended the preparatory department of Ward- Belmont School and was graduated from Harpeth Hall. She was graduated in June from Vanderbilt University where she held membership in Gamma Phi Beta Sorority.

Mr. Slade attended the University of the South where he was a member of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity and will be graduated in December from Vanderbilt University where he will take graduate work.

Out of town guests who came especially for the wedding include Mrs. C. E. Slade, Patton Slade Moody, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Slade, Jr., and Stephen Henry Slade, all of Monroe; Mrs. J. Henry Jones, Mrs. J. T. Patton, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shropshire, all of Columbia, Tenn., and Mrs. U. G. Robertons and Rex. V. Coles, both of Springfield, Tenn.

Boatright-Canady Vows Said In Afternoon Ceremony

At three o'clock on Sunday afternoon, August 26, in the sanctuary of the Highland Park Baptist church in Texarkana, Texas, Miss Shirley Canaday, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Canaday of Summerhill Road, and Bethel Mark Boatright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bethel Boatright of Monroe, exchanged vows underneath an arch of greenery, the apex of which held a sunburst of yellow gladiolus tied with gold ribbon. The setting of bronze and yellow denoting a theme of early fall was used. Immediately behind the arch was a curved eleven branch candelabrum which held yellow tapers. Flanking the arch were pedestal baskets of yellow gladiolus and bronze mums. Fourteen branch pyramid candelabra with white tapers against a background of greenery completed the setting.

Dr. J. Dee Cates read the double ring ceremony. Prior to the entrance of the bridal party Mrs. Joncie Young, organist, presented a program of nuptial music. She accompanied Mrs. John Wayne Monroe, soloist. Pews for the family were marked with bows of gold satin and the bridal aisle was covered with white.

The extremely voluminant gathered lace skirt, which ended in a chapel train, was enhanced by accordian pleated inserts of starched illusion on either side of the skirt front. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a crown of Chantilly lace encrusted with seed pearls. She carried out the tradition of "something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue, with a penny in her shoe." The bride's bouquet was of pale yellow stephanotis centered with white Killarney roses in a crescent design, surrounded by miniature leaves of iridescent sequins and marvelace, and mounted on a Bible of mother-of-pearl. Showers of white satin ribbons tied in love knots fell gracefully from the bouquet.

Hubbell-Hildebrand Vows Pledged In Evening Rites

The First Methodist Church, of Crossett, Ark., was the setting Friday, September 7, at 7:30 in the evening for the marriage of Miss Faye Arline Hildebrand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hildebrand, and Donald Sydney Hubbell, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Sydney Hubbell, of Falls Church, Virginia. The Rev. John B. Hefley officiated at the double ring ceremony against a background of candlelight and huckleberry sprays. Nuptial music was provided by Miss Grace Calhoun at the organ, accompanying Miss Jo Ann Hernsberger, soprano.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white satin and Swiss lace. Her fitted bodice featured a scooped neckline and long sleeves of the lace tapering to points over her hands. Lace cascaded in a sloping peplum over the full satin skirt which swept back to a cathedral train. She wore a single strand of pearls which were a gift of the groom. Her headdress was of fingertip illusion which fell from a seed-pearl edged diadem. She carried a white Bible with yellow sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Bobby Joe Smith, matron of honor, and the three bridesmaids, Miss Joyce Ann Bain of Bastrop, Miss Patsy Harrison and Mrs. Lamar Marter, of Crossett, wore identical dresses ranging in color from deep rust for the honor attendant to tawny gold. The dresses were of taffeta with fitted bodices and bouffant skirts. Cummerbunds of the same material tied in wide bows in back with streamers falling to the waltz - length hem. They wore bandeaus of matching fabric with tiny veils, and the autumn colors were further carried out in the gold slippers on the attendants.

Mr. Hubbell chose as his best man his brother, Davis Hubbell of Falls Church, Virginia. Ushers were George Hubbell III, of Albuquerque, N. M., cousin of the groom, Eddie Goetz of Mountain Home, Ark., and Elbert Jackson, of Helena.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was given in the parlor of the church by the parents of the bride. Assisting in arrangements and receiving were Mrs. T. L. Parham and Mrs. Maurice Summers. Miss Mary Sthrdy of Booneville, Ark., presided over the bride's book, and Mesdames Jack Stell, Clifton Wilson, Dewayne Jenkins, and Miss Roberta Eidson of Springdale, served.

For travel the bride wore a black silk sheath dress with white accessories. The couple will be at home in Fayetteville, where they will both continue their college work.

Opening Of Fair Set For Oct. 8th

Ouachita Valley Fair will open October 8th. The fair catalog gives a complete list of what you can exhibit and you may have one by calling at the agent's office. The agent cannot mail these to you — they are not frankable. Many new entries have been listed upon request of cooperators. Let's have a grand fair and to have a grand fair it will take the effort of all the people of the parish — not a selected few. It's your fair, so be sure you are there.

Ways To Use Pears

Pears are now ready to be used. They can be used as preserves, pickles, jam or marmalade. To make preserves use 2¼ pounds of sugar to 3 pounds of pears and 6 cups of water. Make a syrup of the sugar and water, then add pears which have been cut in uniform pieces. To prevent pears from discoloring as they are peeled, drop them into water to which one teaspoon of salt per quart has been added. Cook until fruit is transparent. Allow to cool in syrup then pack cold and process pint jars 25 minutes at simmering temperature.

Another way to use pears is to make a pear pineapple jam. Run 4 pounds of pears through a food chopper with the rinds (remove juice first and reserve to add to the syrup) of two lemons. To the ground fruits add 3 pounds of sugar, lemon juice of two lemons, and one-half cup of water. Cook until it has reached the consistency of jam. Stir often to prevent scorching and add 1 cup grated pineapple five minutes before jam is finished. Pack in sterilized jars and seal immediately.

Other ways to use pears can be obtained by calling for a Jelly, Jam, Preserves bulletin and the bulletin on "Making Pickles and Relishes".

Jobs in the Yard

If you have perennial phlox, salvias or crowded daylilies that have not been reset in the past two or three years, it would be wise to lift these clumps and separate them. These perennials exhaust the soil, no matter how well you try to keep them fed. By resetting them now they will get ready for a big flowering season again. The bed for resetting should be well prepared with a good supply of phosphorous and humus in the soil.

Lycoris Radiata

The Lycoris Radiata (commonly called spider or Guernsey lilies) is a neglected plant in this area. It can be used among ground covers to give added beauty and color at this time of the year. They are easily grown in ordinary garden soil. Let's use more of them. Plant them in spring or summer — not now.

Colchicums also can be used to give color at this season. Some of these are in bloom in our yard now — a soft lilac. These too may be planted among ground covers or in beds to themselves.

Color In Springtime

All of us want a beautiful colorful landscape in the spring — but we will not have it unless we make our plan and plant for it. So get your pencil and paper — write down the color scheme you wish to have, then study plants, lilies, bulbs, flowering shrubs, perennials and annuals, including some iris—Dutch, Spanish and bearded. Visit your seed stores and nurserymen early to make your selection. You can have color harmony in your landscape if you plan for it. You will be rewarded with spring beauty.

Clean Up To Reduce Insect Problems

Insect problems will be fewer for gardeners next year, if the places where these insects will spend the winter are destroyed now. Many insects and mites will live through the winter in trash and weeds left in the garden and yard.

Insects also spend the winter in wood piles, in the cracks and crevices, around the foundations of buildings, in the litter under shrubs around the house and under the bark of trees. These places should be treated with insecticides which have long residual action, such as lindane, chlordane, toxaphene, DDT, dieldrin, or heptachlor. They may be applied as dust or a spray.

Mulches used to protect plants during the winter also protect insects. Insecticides should be applied around the plant before mulching and should be mixed into the mulching material.

'Strictly Political'

Ascension Registrar Is Fired By State Board

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Leo Bloch, Ascension Parish registrar of voters, has been fired by the State Board of Registration.

The parish police jury president termed the move "strictly political."

The board, composed of the governor, lieutenant governor and House speaker, met Tuesday and removed Bloch, who has served for a number of years, without giving a reason.

Bloch was unaware of his ouster until contacted by telephone yesterday afternoon.

"I have received no notice and didn't know the board had acted," he said.

Bloch added he knew of no reason for his dismissal, but, "the board can act without a reason. They can remove a registrar anytime they feel inclined to remove one."

President Leon S. Geismar of the Ascension Parish Police Jury said it was a surprise to him.

"I hate to see it,' he said. "Mr. Bloch has been doing a good job as registrar. The best we ever had. The move must be strictly political."

In August, the board also removed Edmond Simon as St. James Parish registrar of voters.

Registrars are chosen by police juries, but can only be fired by the Board of Registration.

FORT BUCKNER, Okinawa (AP)—Screaming Typhoon Emma, its winds last clocked at 140 m.p.h., cut a swath of damage across Okinawa today and churned toward Japan, Korea and Red China after causing extensive damage to U.S. Army headquarters here.

The first meager details announced by the Army said there had been "one death by electrocution."

The 400-mile wide storm "caused extensive damage to the Ryukyus Command Headquarters" of the U.S. Army here, smashed wind velocity measuring devices and turned over numerous cars, the announcement said.

All personnel were warned to remain inside headquarters because "36 vicious sentry dogs" which escaped during the height of the storm.

Rough Rice Is Removed From Commodity List

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Agriculture yesterday announced rough rice has been removed from the Commodity Credit Corporation monthly sales list for September because of heavy export commitments of milled rice to India and other countries.

Sales of rough rice for unrestricted uses, both domestically and for export, were discontinued immediately. Sales of rough rice for grinding for domestic feed and for export feed or industrial use will be discontinued as soon as the Dallas and Portland Comodity Stabilization Service offices announce the action in their respective areas.

Cooked celery, cut in thin crescents, may be served with a butter or cream sauce. Or it may be cooked in consomme and served with no additional embellishment for weight-watchers.

the Woman who Cares

Many people make a conscientious effort at being well groomed. But for the ones afflicted with unsightly and unnecessary hair growth on the face, arms, legs, underneath the arms and etc., good grooming is hopeless. But today, men of Science and Medicine have devised and perfected an absolutely harmless, yet permanently effective method (administered by trained specialists) to remove hair. Remember, the initial fact is not a disgrace; but to let it go uncorrected is unforgiveable. Call for a complimentary demonstration, Tuesday, September 4th. Phone 7471.

Opening Of Fair Set For Oct. 8th

Ouachita Valley Fair will open October 8th. The fair catalog gives a complete list of what you can exhibit and you may have one by calling at the agent's office. The agent cannot mail these to you — they are not frankable. Many new entries have been listed upon request of cooperators. Let's have a grand fair and to have a grand fair it will take the effort of all the people of the parish — not a selected few. It's your fair, so be sure you are there.

Ways To Use Pears

Pears are now ready to be used. They can be used as preserves, pickles, jam or marmalade. To make preserves use 2¼ pounds of sugar to 3 pounds of pears and 6 cups of water. Make a syrup of the sugar and water, then add pears which have been cut in uniform pieces. To prevent pears from discoloring as they are peeled, drop them into water to which one teaspoon of salt per quart has been added. Cook until fruit is transparent. Allow to cool in syrup then pack cold and process pint jars 25 minutes at simmering temperature.

Another way to use pears is to make a pear pineapple jam. Run 4 pounds of pears through a food chopper with the rinds (remove juice first and reserve to add to the syrup) of two lemons. To the ground fruits add 3 pounds of sugar, lemon juice of two lemons, and one-half cup of water. Cook until it has reached the consistency of jam. Stir often to prevent scorching and add 1 cup grated pineapple five minutes before jam is finished. Pack in sterilized jars and seal immediately.

Other ways to use pears can be obtained by calling for a Jelly, Jam, Preserves bulletin and the bulletin on "Making Pickles and Relishes".

Jobs in the Yard

If you have perennial phlox, salvias or crowded daylilies that have not been reset in the past two or three years, it would be wise to lift these clumps and separate them. These perennials exhaust the soil, no matter how well you try to keep them fed. By resetting them now they will get ready for a big flowering season again. The bed for resetting should be well prepared with a good supply of phosphorous and humus in the soil.

Lycoris Radiata

The Lycoris Radiata (commonly called spider or Guernsey lilies) is a neglected plant in this area. It can be used among ground covers to give added beauty and color at this time of the year. They are easily grown in ordinary garden soil. Let's use more of them. Plant them in spring or summer — not now.

Colchicums also can be used to give color at this season. Some of these are in bloom in our yard now — a soft lilac. These too may be planted among ground covers or in beds to themselves.

Color In Springtime

All of us want a beautiful colorful landscape in the spring — but we will not have it unless we make our plan and plant for it. So get your pencil and paper — write down the color scheme you wish to have, then study plants, lilies, bulbs, flowering shrubs, perennials and annuals, including some iris—Dutch, Spanish and bearded. Visit your seed stores and nurserymen early to make your selection. You can have color harmony in your landscape if you plan for it. You will be rewarded with spring beauty.

Clean Up To Reduce Insect Problems

Insect problems will be fewer for gardeners next year, if the places where these insects will spend the winter are destroyed now. Many insects and mites will live through the winter in trash and weeds left in the garden and yard.

Insects also spend the winter in wood piles, in the cracks and crevices, around the foundations of buildings, in the litter under shrubs around the house and under the bark of trees. These places should be treated with insecticides which have long residual action, such as lindane, chlordane, toxaphene, DDT, dieldrin, or heptachlor. They may be applied as dust or a spray.

Mulches used to protect plants during the winter also protect insects. Insecticides should be applied around the plant before mulching and should be mixed into the mulching material.

Ascension Registrar Is Fired By State Board

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Leo Bloch, Ascension Parish registrar of voters, has been fired by the State Board of Registration.

The parish police jury president termed the move "strictly political."

The board, composed of the governor, lieutenant governor and House speaker, met Tuesday and removed Bloch, who has served for a number of years, without giving a reason.

Bloch was unaware of his ouster until contacted by telephone yesterday afternoon.

"I have received no notice and didn't know the board had acted," he said.

Bloch added he knew of no reason for his dismissal, but, "the board can act without a reason. They can remove a registrar anytime they feel inclined to remove one."

President Leon S. Geismar of the Ascension Parish Police Jury said it was a surprise to him.

"I hate to see it,' he said. "Mr. Bloch has been doing a good job as registrar. The best we ever had. The move must be strictly political."

In August, the board also removed Edmond Simon as St. James Parish registrar of voters.

Registrars are chosen by police juries, but can only be fired by the Board of Registration.

Bing Crosby May Wed Relative Of Local Residents

Considerable interest was aroused here Saturday by the report that a niece of "Buck" Grandstaff, well known gas and oil field operator in Central Louisiana, and a former resident of Monroe may marry world- famed Bing Crosby. The story out of Hollywood was denied by Crosby, but it is still believed to be authentic. Grandstaff was not available, as he lives now in Grant parish near his field operations.

Mrs. "Pink" Stewart, 214 Madison avenue, West Monroe, stated Saturday morning that her husband is an uncle of Kathryn, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmery Grandstaff of Columbia, Tex.

She was credited at an early age with unusual dramatic skill and went to Hollywood to make pictures, about four years ago.

When she went to Hollywood, she changed her name from Grandstaff to Grant and has since been known by that name.

A studio executive told the United Presss that the famous crooner himself phoned the studio and asked that Kathy be released from a role she was expected to take on Monday at a studio production.

At the studio, it was said that there were indications that a wedding is near.

Crosby phoned from Hayden Lake, Idaho, where he and the starlet, who is 30 years his junior, have been vacationing. Crosby has been taping his CBS radio shows for the fall season at Hayden Lake.

The Grandstaff family is well known here. Mrs. Ruth Grandstaff, a sister of "Buck", was active in the Monroe Little Theatre and also appeared on many programs as soloist, while conducting a large piano class locally.

Kathryn Grant, native of Houston, Tex., attended the University of Texas, before entering her professional duties. Her age is 23, that of Crosby 52. If this marriage takes place it will be his second one.

Church Laymen Will Converge In Cleveland

NEW YORK (AP) — A meeting bringing together thousands of laymen from virtually all states, Hawaii and Canada, in Cleveland, Ohio, is scheduled Sept. 14-16. It's the first national convention of Christian Men, sponsored by United Christian Men, laymen's department of the National Council of Churches.

Major reason for the meeting was given as a growing nationwide movement of men back to the churches. Chairman of both the convention and United Christian Men, J. Clinton Hawkins, St. Louis, said:

"Church membership gains since World War II have been phenomenal, and those gains reflect the growing religious interest of men as well as women."

At Cleveland, he said, lay members of more than 30 Protestant denominations will meet to proclaim their faith in God and dedicate themselves to Christian living.

The World Methodist Council meeting in Lake Junaluska, N.C., was told by a British nuclear physicist that "The Christian church should publicly and openly condemn all uses of large-scale bomb explosions." Dr. C. A. Coulson, an Oxford University mathematician, called for the outlawing of bomb explosions "because it is an offense against the children of God to use a weapon of this type."

In Lancaster, Pa., the Evangelical and Reformed Church holding a week-long meeting of 400 ministerial and lay delegates shouted approval of union with the Congregational Christian Church. The sister church approved the united session two months ago.

The enabling vote authorizes a meeting next summer to organize the new two - million - member church. It will be the seventh largest Protestant body in the United States.

Predicts Man To Land On Moon This Century

LONDON (AP) — An American rocket expert told a British audience tonight man will land on the moon before the end of this century.

Addressing the British Interplanetary Society, F. C. Durant III, a staff member of a firm of consultants to the United States Defense Department, said:

"Within 10 years the scientists will have man flying into space in a man-made satellite."

Durant, president of the International Astronautical Federation and director of engineering at the Naval Air Rocket Test Station in Dover, N.J. from 1948 to 1951, said the first man to explore the great spaces beyond the earth can weigh as much as 200 pounds and take 400 pounds of equipment with him.

"Within 25 years man should be flying around the moon."

He said that the next logical step would be landings there.

"I confidentely predict that the first lunar landing from the earth will be achieved before the end of this century."

Gasoline Tax Refund Final Date Oct. 1

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana State University Agricultural Extension Service today reminded farmers Oct. 1 is the deadline to apply for gasoline tax refunds.

Economist W. D. Curtis said figures show only about 5,000 of the potential 35,000 eligible Louisiana farmers made applications so far.

Gas used in crop dusting and spraying, plowing, planting, seeding, fertilizing, weed killing, cultivating, corn or cotton picking, threshing, combining, baling, silo filling and chopping silage is eligible for tax refunds.

Curtis added that reasonable estimates will be accepted where farmers do not have accurate records.

Supreme Court Studies Request To Place Name

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The state Supreme Court today considered a request by Joseph L. Golsan to order his name on the Nov. 6 general election ballot as an independent candidate for Second Public Service District commissioner.

Golsan, of Baton Rouge, filed application for writs yesterday. Golsan went into district court in Baton Rouge after the state Election Contest Board ruled his name should not appear on the ballot. Judge Charles Holcombe dismissed the appeal.

Golsan charged in his petition that the contest board action was arbitrary and capricious. He also attacked the statute creating the contest board as unconstitutional.

The lower court ruled Golsan could not qualify as an independent because he voted in the July 31 Democratic primary.

He seeks to oppose Democratic Ernest Clements for the Public Service Commission post.

Ike Invites 2 Gop Groups To Meeting

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — President Eisenhower has invited leaders of Mississippi's warring Republican factions to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm Sept. 12 to discuss "the progress being made throughout the country to obtain maximum voter registration."

The President's move apparently indicated the administration intends to recognize both the Lily White and Black and Tan groups.

But the chief executive's telegram to Wirt Yerger Jr. of Jackson, state chairman of the Lily Whites, was addressed "Chairman Republican State Executive Committee."

The telegram to S. W. Miller, Jackson Negro who is state chairman of the Black and Tans, bore only his home address without any title.

The Lily Whites won legal claim to the title of "Mississippi Republican party" and so identify themselves while their opponents formally filed as "the Black and Tan Grand Old Party."

At the national party convention in San Francisco, eight members of the Black and Tan group and seven members of the Lily White faction were seated as the state's delegation.

But the compromise was unpopular with some of the Lily Whites, who declined to sit with the Black and Tans.

Lily White leaders said the national party agreed at San Francisco to recognize Yerger as GOP chairman and E. O. Spencer of the Lily Whites as "liaison" man. They said this meant the Black and Tans would be stripped of their power by time another presidential election comes around.

The Black and Tans were the nationally-recognized Republican party in Mississippi for many years, until the compromise at the National Convention.

Miss. Man Is Permanent Head Of Conference

MEMPHIS (AP) — State Sen. Earl Evans Jr. of Canton, Miss., has been named permanent chairman of the National States Rights Conference, to be held here Sept. 14-15.

"I am glad to accept the honor," he said yesterday. "Because I believe we must restore the dual system of state sovereignty as provided for under the Constitution."

Evans, a former FBI agent serving his fourth term as senator, recently resigned as one of Mississippi's Democratic electors because he "could not uphold the Democratic party platform."

The platform, he added, leans "far to the left toward socialism and the Republican program is an endorsement of the Democratic platform."

More than 2,500 representatives from 20 states are expected to attend the meeting, by the estimate of Willis Ayers, Memphis chairman of the Tennessee Federation for Constitutional Government.

The various groups taking part hope to form a third party that would try to throw the presidential election into the House of Representatives by keeping either the Republican or Democratic parties from winning an Electoral College majority of 266.

In such a case, each state would have one vote—rather than representation according to population.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: My husband and I want to send our son to a Christian college but he insists on going to a secular one. Who should make the decision? P. F. L.

ANSWER: One seriously hesitates to make such an issue, but there are responsibilities which you must face. First of all, who is paying the bills? If you are paying your son's way through college, you have a right to consideration. If he is still in his teens, as I presume that he is, you also have the responsibility of maturity to decide for immaturity. Also, as parents you have a prime spiritual responsibility for your son's welfare. You justly feel that the Christian college holds a hope for his developing in spiritual matters while he secures his education. I can only speak in generalities because I do not know other circumstances of which you are aware. I would not for one minute feel that because a boy goes to a secular college or university he is therefore outside the pale of the Christian church. Some of the finest Christians that I know and some of the strongest Christian organizations of which I am aware, are to be found in secular schools. Your son's welfare in college will depend on your prayers, his Christian upbringing, his association with the right kind of boys in college, and the Christian influences brought to bear on him in his new environment. Pray about this matter, pray with your son about it too. It may be that you will find that it is he who has God's leading, not you. Or, you may be right and lead him to see that you are. It is a decision in which God will surely lead if you will but let Him.

More than 2,500 representatives from 20 states are expected to attend the meeting, by the estimate of Willis Ayers, Memphis chairman of the Tennessee Federation for Constitutional Government.

The various groups taking part hope to form a third party that would try to throw the presidential election into the House of Representatives by keeping either the Republican or Democratic parties from winning an Electoral College majority of 266.

In such a case, each state would have one vote—rather than representation according to population.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: My husband and I want to send our son to a Christian college but he insists on going to a secular one. Who should make the decision? P. F. L.

ANSWER: One seriously hesitates to make such an issue, but there are responsibilities which you must face. First of all, who is paying the bills? If you are paying your son's way through college, you have a right to consideration. If he is still in his teens, as I presume that he is, you also have the responsibility of maturity to decide for immaturity. Also, as parents you have a prime spiritual responsibility for your son's welfare. You justly feel that the Christian college holds a hope for his developing in spiritual matters while he secures his education. I can only speak in generalities because I do not know other circumstances of which you are aware. I would not for one minute feel that because a boy goes to a secular college or university he is therefore outside the pale of the Christian church. Some of the finest Christians that I know and some of the strongest Christian organizations of which I am aware, are to be found in secular schools. Your son's welfare in college will depend on your prayers, his Christian upbringing, his association with the right kind of boys in college, and the Christian influences brought to bear on him in his new environment. Pray about this matter, pray with your son about it too. It may be that you will find that it is he who has God's leading, not you. Or, you may be right and lead him to see that you are. It is a decision in which God will surely lead if you will but let Him.

St. Paul's Has Eighty When School Starts

Eighty pupils were on hand Thursday to register for St. Paul's Day school, sponsored by St. Paul's Methodist church, Lexington ave.

The school, started in 1953 as the first church sponsored day school in this area, provides facilities for both nursery and kindergarten age children. The program includes a variety of activities to meet the needs of every child.

A trained and competent staff of teachers is led by Mrs. H. B. Hargrove, director of the school. Mrs. Hargrove, who has her degree from L. S. U. in lower elementary education and eight years of teaching experience, guides the program specializing in art, science, and social studies. Mrs. Paul J. Neal, with a master's degree in speech from L. S. U., guides work along these lines and gives special attention to children with speech difficulties. Mrs. James Murphy, graduate of L. S. U. in music, works with the music program. The nursery section is under the direction of Mrs. Elsie McClendon, who has had five years of experience in the nursey school field.

Air - conditioned rooms, a drive-in approach to keep children out of bad weather, and outdoor play equipment give excellent equipment for the program.

Dr. Ben Oliphint, pastor of St. Paul's, states, "I believe that the importance of early impressionable years cannot be over - emphasized. We are proud of this project of our church which reaches children of all faiths and is having a wide influence in this community."

Bellevue Church Celebrates With An Anniversary

JENA, La., (Special) — Bellevue Baptist church, located on Bellevue Drive in "Old Jena" two miles from the heart of the downtown business district, formally celebrated its first anniversary as a fully organized and constituted missionary Baptist church on Sunday, Sept. 2, with an outstanding program planned for the anniversary service at 2 o'clock in the after noon.

The beautiful new church building stands on a one-acre tract of land, donated by Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Gaharan, Jr., of Jena. It is just across the road from the old Dr. Thompson home site in the heart of "old Jena."

Fully co-operating with and a member of the Southern Baptist convention and the Louisiana Baptist convention, its auxiliary organizations include a Sunday School, Training Union, Women's Missionary Union, Men's Brotherhood, Royal Ambassadors, Girls' Auxiliary and Sunbeams. The program of the church is warmly evangelistic and missionary in spirit, according to the Rev. Buth, pastor.

"Substance" is the subject of the lesson - sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, September 9, 1956.
Among the citations which comprise the lesson - sermon is the following from the Bible: "Honour the Lord with thy substance, and with the first - fruits of all thine increase" (Prov. 3:9).
The lesson - sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "To ascertain our progress, we must learn where our affections are placed and whom we acknowledge and obey as God. If divine Love is becoming nearer, dearer, and more real to us, matter is then submitting to Spirit. The objects we pursue and the spirit we manifest reveal our standpoint, and show what we are winning" (239.)

St. Paul's Has Eighty When School Starts

Eighty pupils were on hand Thursday to register for St. Paul's Day school, sponsored by St. Paul's Methodist church, Lexington ave.

The school, started in 1953 as the first church sponsored day school in this area, provides facilities for both nursery and kindergarten age children. The program includes a variety of activities to meet the needs of every child.

A trained and competent staff of teachers is led by Mrs. H. B. Hargrove, director of the school. Mrs. Hargrove, who has her degree from L. S. U. in lower elementary education and eight years of teaching experience, guides the program specializing in art, science, and social studies. Mrs. Paul J. Neal, with a master's degree in speech from L. S. U., guides work along these lines and gives special attention to children with speech difficulties. Mrs. James Murphy, graduate of L. S. U. in music, works with the music program. The nursery section is under the direction of Mrs. Elsie McClendon, who has had five years of experience in the nursey school field.

These well - trained and patient women carry out the purpose of the school "to provide an environment where children under the guidance of skilled teachers can develop spiritually, mentally, socially and physically."

Air - conditioned rooms, a drive-in approach to keep children out of bad weather, and outdoor play equipment give excellent equipment for the program.

Dr. Ben Oliphint, pastor of St. Paul's, states, "I believe that the importance of early impressionable years cannot be over - emphasized. We are proud of this project of our church which reaches children of all faiths and is having a wide influence in this community."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
No. 2nd at Auburn

"Substance" is the subject of the lesson - sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, September 9, 1956.
The golden text is: "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favour rather than silver and gold" (Pro. 22:1).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson - sermon is the following from the Bible: "Honour the Lord with thy substance, and with the first - fruits of all thine increase" (Prov. 3:9).
The lesson - sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "To ascertain our progress, we must learn where our affections are placed and whom we acknowledge and obey as God. If divine Love is becoming nearer, dearer, and more real to us, matter is then submitting to Spirit. The objects we pursue and the spirit we manifest reveal our standpoint, and show what we are winning" (239.)

Great Friend Of Kiddies Is Shown In Film

"The Nile Mother," a 44-minute film in sound and color, will be shown at 7:30 p.m., Friday, September 14, at the First Assembly of God church. The church is located at corner of Cypress and Crosley street, West Monroe, La.

This faith - inspiring picture, filmed by Hal Herman in Egypt, portrays the outstanding story of Lillian Trasher and her orphanage. Because of her efforts to salvage young lives Miss Trasher has gained wide recognition. She has been called one of the greatest American women living abroad. Through her orphanage she has given a home to over 8,000 children in the past 44 years. Wendell Wilkie was amazed when he visited the orphanage which is located at Assiout by the River Nile. While inspecting the home the prime minister of Egypt said it was "truly a work of God."

The film, which includes scenes of pyramids, the Sphinx, the Nile, and the unusual spectacle of life inside the orphanage, is being shown by the "Christ's Ambassadors," the youth organization of the church. The public is invited.

Bellevue Church Celebrates With An Anniversary

JENA, La., (Special) — Bellevue Baptist church, located on Bellevue Drive in "Old Jena" two miles from the heart of the downtown business district, formally celebrated its first anniversary as a fully organized and constituted missionary Baptist church on Sunday, Sept. 2, with an outstanding program planned for the anniversary service at 2 o'clock in the after noon.

Organized some years ago as a mission congregation of the First Baptist church of Jena, later known as the Mitchell Drive Baptist mission church, it was formally organized and constituted as a separate and distinct Baptist church on August 28, 1955, with 66 charter members, under the leadership of its present pastor, the Rev. J. P. Buth. The first board of deacons consisted of Herman McPhearson, Johnny Savoy and George Collins, with Tilford Bailey now awaiting ordination in the near future.

The beautiful new church building stands on a one-acre tract of land, donated by Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Gaharan, Jr., of Jena. It is just across the road from the old Dr. Thompson home site in the heart of "old Jena."

Fully co-operating with and a member of the Southern Baptist convention and the Louisiana Baptist convention, its auxiliary organizations include a Sunday School, Training Union, Women's Missionary Union, Men's Brotherhood, Royal Ambassadors, Girls' Auxiliary and Sunbeams. The program of the church is warmly evangelistic and missionary in spirit, according to the Rev. Buth, pastor.

He adds, "It is an important theme, for the church cannot fulfill its mission except by working through Christian homes and having the active support of whole families.

"Nor can the Christian bring its members to maturity in Christ without the constant inspiration, instruction and support of the church. Through our special Rally Day offering, we help fulfill our great responsibility in Christian Education.

"We urge all of our families, as well as visitors, to be present at this program to be held in the church sanctuary starting at 9:45 a.m."

THE HOME SHIFT—

New Variety Of Zinnias Grow Tall

Monroe's own Peggy Garnett charmed her large audiences at Farm and Home Week with her illustrated lectures on birds. Peggy has been studying and admiring birds for over thirty years. The speaker said, in part, "Each species has a preferred habitat, but if you give them food, many of them will come to see you anyway, just to partake of nourishment. Birds can be attracted by bird feeding tables, plants. water—they love the spray of a hose —and by protection against enemies.

"An excellent community project of the country are far ahead of Louisiana in promoting them. There are 377 birds on the State bird list, and that is more than half the total of North America.

"If you want to provide a banquet table for birds in the way of plants, there are many possibilities, but two that seem especially suitable are lantana and mimosa. Other ways of attracting birds to your homes include shelter and nesting places, as well as excluding natural enemies. A bird bath is a joy and drawing card."

A NEW ZINNIA

Bertha and Harry Arthur Genung boast zinnias that grew six feet tall. The keeping quality was far better than any blooms of this flower ever before grown. We showed you a blossom on Open House that had been in water for three weeks and was as fresh as the day it was cut. The variety is "Meteor", a new introduction in 1950. A package was presented to each delegate at the State Convention in Ruston, a gift from a leading seed company. Mary Margaret Jardine divided her package with the Genungs. These seed should be on the market next Spring for those who like the very large zinnia. By the way, — this plant grows upright with little branching, so does not fall over in the flower beds.

DRYING FLOWERS

Zinnias, marigolds, blue salvia and lirope blooms will dry well by the borax method. Be sure the blooms are dry first or they will mildrew. Put about an inch of borax in the bottom of a box. Put blooms in the box, not touching, and cover with borax. After ten days test to see if they are dry. If not, leave a while longer. Lift flowers from the borax carefully or the heads will fall off. These flowers dry in their natural color and will keep all winter. The borax can be purchased at any grocery store and it will take four to six boxes. Be sure to strip leaves from the stems, as they'll just dry up. The borax doesn't treat them. Flowers in the house during the winter are one of those intangible somethings that help to make a house a home.

JUST NEWS

You know how your milk bottles and other containers "sweat" in the newer refrigerators? Some think this indicates that these boxes are defective. Dr. Earl McCracken. whose research includes household refrigerators and freezers, says "The temperature in the newer refrigerators is ten to fifteen degrees lower than in the older ones. This lower temperature makes the entire storage area and everything in it, colder. Thus the warm, moist air that flows in when the door is opened will condense when it comes against the colder surfaces. This causes sweating. The amount of condensation can be reduced by less frequent opening of the refrigerator door."

Want a permanent wool pleated skirt? Well — the textile researches with the U. S. Department of Agriculture report this will be one of the new things to look for in wool clothing this Fall. Also there will be wools in the market that are more resistant to shrinking during laundering and more resistant to soil. Some will have finishes or other treatments that make them moth-resistant and mildrew- resistant. Read the label to find what you're buying.

FOOD IN THE NEWS

September still heralds the opening of the oyster season. However, the old supersitition that "R" letter months are the only safe time to eat oysters has long ago been disproved. You can eat oysters any time of the year.

Perahps the "R" month legend can be traced to the fact that oysters spawn during the warm months. In the warm climate around the Gulf of Mexico, the spawning season is much longer than in northern waters. This fact is the main reason why you see so few fresh oysters in the summer around here. Fishermen would soon be out of business and you would soon be out of fresh oysters if the spawning beds were disturbed.

Although oysters are still considered to be as much of a delicacy as they were in the days of the famous Greek and Roman banquets, they can no longer be classed as a luxury, judged by their general availability and moderate price.

You can buy oysters at your market in three forms: live in the shell, fresh and frozen, shucked and canned. These shellfish are so much easier to handle shucked, that few oysters in the shell are shipped very far inland.

How many oysters should you buy? That, of course, depends largely on how you are going to serve them. A safe rule to follow is to buy three dozen shell oysters or one quart of shucked to serve six people.

Oysters have a special appeal to the busy homemaker, because of the ease with which they are prepared — no waste from trimmings, entirely edible and easy to serve. Raw or cooked, oysters are a gastronomic treat. If you cook them, never cook too long — just enough to heat them through and leave the oysters plump and tender. Here is an oyster recipe that will "extend" the sea food, since they're not as cheap now as they will be later:

DEVILED OYSTERS

1 pint oysters
¾ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoon prepared horseradish
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1½ cups milk.

Alternate layer of toasted bread cubes, oysters and celery in greased individual casseroles. Melt butter in a saucean, Blend in flour, salt, pepper, paprika, dry mustard, horse-radish, Worcestershire sauce and lemon juice. Add milk and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Pour this cream sauce over all. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for twenty minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Other fish from the gulf coast that will be plentiful during September include catfish, red snapper, sea trout, crabs and shrimp.

Poultry meat and rice dominate supplies. Turkeys take top spot as marketings are running much heavier than usual during September. Broilers, fryers and stewing hens as well as intermediate grades of beef and canned tuna in oil are also plentiful.

All of the protein rich dairy foods, milk, cheddar cheese and cottage cheese, remain in good supply, although priced somewhat higher than during the peak production season.

Peanut butter, high in protein values, is becoming more plentiful as the new crop of peanuts goes to crushers.

The bidding:

South, 1 no trump; West, Pass; North, 3 no trump; East, Pass. South, Pass; West, Pass.

Opening lead: King of diamonds.

Since so many of our preachments from this pulpit have concerned themselves with decrying excessive use of the finesse, it comes perhaps as a relief that today's hand presents the early finesse as a mandatory play.

suit opposite an opening no trump West's failure to overcall is sound practice. Normally our advice to second hand who holds a good suit against the opening no trumper is "don't bid it; lead it."

North's jump to three no trump with only seven high card points may seem drastic, but there is no objection to it. A good six card suit opposite an opening o trump bid will normally produce sufficient tricks for game.

West opened the king of diamonds, and declarer saw no point to holding up. He took it with the ace and led the jack of clubs to the king. When East showed out, the shock did not register at once, for declarer was able to return to is hand with a spade to finesse West out of his queen. It was not till then that he realized that the club suit was blocked and that his cashable assets had shrunk to eight tricks, with no glimmering hope for the ninth. That a 3-0 break of the clubs was unusual will not be denied, but no one would contend that such a distribution borders on fantasy, and allowance should be made for such a holding if it is at all feasible to do so.

The proper play to avoid the block which nature had tried to impose was to take a first round finesse of the jack. If it loses there is no danger to the contract, for if East has a diamond to return to his partner it will mean that the defense can cash, at best, three diamonds and the queen of clubs, while declarer is able to run five clubs and his four top card tricks.

Even though clubs break 2-1 the suit will be blocked if a high club is played at the first trick (unless the queen is singleton). Since the doubleton queen in either hand is the most probable holding, surely declarer should protect himself against it.

The Flora Group of Monroe staged the interesting flower show at the Garden Center this week. The exhibits were point scored by an accredited judge. In the horticulture section a blue ribbon was awarded Mrs. E. J. Blake, Jr., for a most outstanding plant of Candidum caladium, Mrs. Dan Dennett was awarded a ribbon for elaeagnus and Mrs. R. R. Griffith a ribbon for shrimp plant.

The arrangement section was characterized by unusual use of usual plant material. Mrs. E. J. Blake was awarded top honors for her very distinctive arrangement. A boat shaped bowl of green shaded into brown held the triangular arrangement of stripped banana leaves and banana blooms. The effect of sails was achieved by stripping the foliage partly down the stalk and trimming the leaves to a sail like pattern. The banana blooms, red - violet in color, followed the lines of the foliage. At the base the deeper violet French mulberry berries were clustered with a large rosette of Mexican hydrangea (eupatorium). A very beautiful arrangement.

Mrs. B. B. Handy was awarded second place, blue ribbon. A heavy etched brass container on its own base was selected by Mrs. Handy for her composition of fresh and dried plant material. Tall spikes of mullein in grey - green established the triangular pattern. Straw flowers in cream shading into deep yellow followed the lines. Glossy green pittosporum rosettes with clusters of love - apples attached enhanced the line adding depth and interest. The love - apples (solanum) were green, orange and yellow. A pleasing combination of fresh and dried material and well related to the container.

Mrs. R. R. Griffith was awarded third place. Mrs. Griffith's composition in shades of red - violet, tans and green also was composed of fresh and dried plant material. The rectangular bowl of soft tan was placed on a brown scroll base. A lovely triangular pattern was achieved with red - violet spikes of celosia, Coleus in the same shade and edged with green framed the focal point which was a pine-cone flower. The elements and color were well related. This design was displayed against a soft rose pink background.

Important dates to remember in September are:

Sept. 13 — The Ferriday Garden Club will present Mrs. Hugh Sutherland of Itta Bena, Miss., in a program on Dried Arrangements, Ferriday High School, 2 p. m. Open meeting.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

September Is Easy Time To Plant

Middle September, the middle two weeks that is, offer the southern gardener a wonderful chance to grow plants for a flower garden with the least effort. Perennials and some of the hardy biennials can be sown now to make lusty plants for next year. The days grow cooler and cooler from now on, and young seedlings will grow off rapidly. When frost comes, few weeds will pester your plants, and our winters are so open and sunshiny that most kinds of biennials, hardy annuals and perennials will grow right on and make fine root systems.

The famous Texas bluebonnets are uuually sown a little earlier than this, but they will make it if sown now. Remember that they must be sown on a "hard" seed bed, i.e., the area where they are to grow must be prepared and then rolled down. Then the seeds should be scattered over it. If you sow them like other seeds, you will not get many to come up. A dusting of agricultural lime over their seed bed will be to their liking.

Perennials and biennials planted in September can be sown in a cold frame and helped along a bit with a tobacco cloth cover when really cold weather comes, or you can sow them in small groups right in the beds where they are to flower and thin them out in late fall. A light mulch around the young plants, once they are up, will protect them from the alternate freezing and thawing of the winter months.

Madonna lilies must be planted right away if you have not already done so. If you are growing them in the beds with other flowers, raise the area where they are to go up by bringing in some extra topsoil. This will give them a better drained position and keep water from standing over them. Madonna lilies make rosettes of evergreen leaves that are beautiful through the winter months. This foliage must develop before cold weather and establish the bulbs, so they cannot be planted much after mid - September.

The hot weather at this time of the year makes us forget that we can begin to transplant evergreens, spring perennials and almost anything if we are willing to shade and water them in case of drought. Both broadleaf and conlferous evergreens can be moved. Prune or shear them back to a good shape just before your transplant them. This loss of some foliage will prevent the loss of some of the water in the plants and help them over the shock of moving.

If you will get your winter rye grass planted now, it will make a lawn right before your eyes in about ten days. When we fail to plant rye grass in early September, we miss half the fall weeks of cheerful green. There are spots where rye will make a cheerful green all winter where we would never try to have a real lawn.

"A Dead Whale or a Stove Boat"

After the whalers had launched their boat, the battle with the whale began. Sometimes a line would be fouled as the harpoon was heaved and a man would be swept overboard. Sometimes the whale with a harpoon deep in its side dived and pulled the boat down with him, or rammed the boat and smashed it. Hence the harpooners' cry: "A dead whale or a stove boat."

When at last the great beast was killed it was towed to the ship, its blubber hacked off in strips, hauled aboard and boiled in great kettles on the open deck. The oil thus obtained was barreled and stored in the hold.

Use your crayons to color this picture, making the whale a dark gray. Then paste it down on cardboard and cut out the parts carefully.

Put the tab on the bottom of the whale down through the heavily outlined opening and fasten it with a bent pin or brass fastener. Then the whale can float on the sea, rocking gently, or dive into the water with his big flukes standing straight out. Slip the air spout into his head at the opening. Put the small boat in the water by putting the tab through the indicated hole.

THE HOME SHIFT—

With Mildred Swift

New Variety Of Zinnias Grow Tall

Monroe's own Peggy Garnett charmed her large audiences at Farm and Home Week with her illustrated lectures on birds. Peggy has been studying and admiring birds for over thirty years. The speaker said, in part, "Each species has a preferred habitat, but if you give them food, many of them will come to see you anyway, just to partake of nourishment. Birds can be attracted by bird feeding tables, plants. water—they love the spray of a hose —and by protection against enemies.

"An excellent community project of the country are far ahead of Louisiana in promoting them. There are 377 birds on the State bird list, and that is more than half the total of North America.

"If you want to provide a banquet table for birds in the way of plants, there are many possibilities, but two that seem especially suitable are lantana and mimosa. Other ways of attracting birds to your homes include shelter and nesting places, as well as excluding natural enemies. A bird bath is a joy and drawing card."

A NEW ZINNIA

Bertha and Harry Arthur Genung boast zinnias that grew six feet tall. The keeping quality was far better than any blooms of this flower ever before grown. We showed you a blossom on Open House that had been in water for three weeks and was as fresh as the day it was cut. The variety is "Meteor", a new introduction in 1956. A package was presented to each delegate at the State Convention in Ruston, a gift from a leading seed company. Mary Margaret Jardine divided her package with the Genungs. These seed should be on the market next Spring for those who like the very large zinnia. By the way, — this plant grows upright with little branching, so does not fall over in the flower beds.

DRYING FLOWERS

Zinnias, marigolds, blue salvia and lirope blooms will dry well by the borax method. Be sure the blooms are dry first or they will mildrew. Put about an inch of borax in the bottom of a box. Put blooms in the box, not touching, and cover with borax. After ten days test to see if they are dry. If not, leave a while longer. Lift flowers from the borax carefully or the heads will fall off. These flowers dry in their natural color and will keep all winter. The borax can be purchased at any grocery store and it will take four to six boxes. Be sure to strip leaves from the stems, as they'll just dry up. The borax doesn't treat them. Flowers in the house during the winter are one of those intangible somethings that help to make a house a home.

JUST NEWS

You know how your milk bottles and other containers "sweat" in the newer refrigerators? Some think this indicates that these boxes are defective. Dr. Earl McCracken. whose research includes household refrigerators and freezers, says "The temperature in the newer refrigerators is ten to fifteen degrees lower than in the older ones. This lower temperature makes the entire storage area and everything in it, colder. Thus the warm, moist air that flows in when the door is opened will condense when it comes against the colder surfaces. This causes sweating. The amount of condensation can be reduced by less frequent opening of the refrigerator door."

Want a permanent wool pleated skirt? Well — the textile researches with the U. S. Department of Agriculture report this will be one of the new things to look for in wool clothing this Fall. Also there will be wools in the market that are more resistant to shrinking during laundering and more resistant to soil. Some will have finishes or other treatments that make them moth-resistant and mildrew- resistant. Read the label to find what you're buying.

FOOD IN THE NEWS

September still heralds the opening of the oyster season. However, the old supersitition that "R" letter months are the only safe time to eat oysters has long ago been disproved. You can eat oysters any time of the year.

Perahps the "R" month legend can be traced to the fact that oysters spawn during the warm months. In the warm climate around the Gulf of Mexico, the spawning season is much longer than in northern waters. This fact is the main reason why you see so few fresh oysters in the summer around here. Fishermen would soon be out of business and you would soon be out of fresh oysters if the spawning beds were disturbed.

Although oysters are still considered to be as much of a delicacy as they were in the days of the famous Greek and Roman banquets, they can no longer be classed as a luxury, judged by their general availability and moderate price.

You can buy oysters at your market in three forms: live in the shell, fresh and frozen, shucked and canned. These shellfish are so much easier to handle shucked, that few oysters in the shell are shipped very far inland.

How many oysters should you buy? That, of course, depends largely on how you are going to serve them. A safe rule to follow is to buy three dozen shell oysters or one quart of shucked to serve six people.

Oysters have a special appeal to the busy homemaker, because of the ease with which they are prepared — no waste from trimmings, entirely edible and easy to serve. Raw or cooked, oysters are a gastronomic treat. If you cook them, never cook too long — just enough to heat them through and leave the oysters plump and tender. Here is an oyster recipe that will "extend" the sea food, since they're not as cheap now as they will be later:

DEVILED OYSTERS

2½ cups toasted bread cubes
1 pint oysters
¾ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoon prepared horseradish
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1½ cups milk.

Alternate layer of toasted bread cubes, oysters and celery in greased individual casseroles. Melt butter in a saucean. Blend in flour, salt, pepper, paprika, dry mustard, horse-radish, Worcestershire sauce and lemon juice. Add milk and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Pour this cream sauce over all. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for twenty minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Other fish from the gulf coast that will be plentiful during September include catfish, red snapper, sea trout, crabs and shrimp.

Poultry meat and rice dominate supplies. Turkeys take top spot as marketings are running much heavier than usual during September. Broilers, fryers and stewing hens as well as intermediate grades of beef and canned tuna in oil are also plentiful.

All of the protein rich dairy foods, milk, cheddar cheese and cottage cheese, remain in good supply, although priced somewhat higher than during the peak production season.

Peanut butter, high in protein values, is becoming more plentiful as the new crop of peanuts goes to crushers.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Your Open House shows for this week are as follows: Monday, Jo Anne DeWitt, from Rayville, will do some textile painting; Tuesday, Irene Fallin, from Winnsboro, will show us how to mind our manners; Wednesday, Mary Margaret will bring the three winning flower arrangements from the Fifth District Garden Center, and we'll do some gardening; Thursday, T.B.A.; Friday is Marketing and Food Preparation Day with Mildred and Mammy. See you next Sunday.

The bidding:
South, 1 no trump; West, Pass; North, 3 no trump; East, Pass. South, Pass; West, Pass.

Opening lead: King of diamonds.

Since so many of our preachments from this pulpit have concerned themselves with decrying excessive use of the finesse, it comes perhaps as a relief that today's hand presents the early finesse as a mandatory play.

suit opposite an opening no trump West's failure to overcall is sound practice. Normally our advice to second hand who holds a good suit against the opening no trumper is "don't bid it; lead it."

North's jump to three no trump with only seven high card points may seem drastic, but there is no objection to it. A good six card suit opposite an opening o trump bid will normally produce sufficient tricks for game.

West opened the king of diamonds, and declarer saw no point to holding up. He took it with the ace and led the jack of clubs to the king. When East showed out, the shock did not register at once, for declarer was able to return to is hand with a spade to finesse West out of his queen. It was not till then that he realized that the club suit was blocked and that his cashable assets had shrunk to eight tricks, with no glimmering hope for the ninth. That a 3-0 break of the clubs was unusual will not be denied, but no one would contend that such a distribution borders on fantasy, and allowance should be made for such a holding if it is at all feasible to do so.

The proper play to avoid the block which nature had tried to impose was to take a first round finesse of the jack. If it loses there is no danger to the contract, for if East has a diamond to return to his partner it will mean that the defense can cash, at best, three diamonds and the queen of clubs, while declarer is able to run five clubs and his four top card tricks.

Even though clubs break 2-1 the suit will be blocked if a high club is played at the first trick (unless the queen is singleton). Since the doubleton queen in either hand is the most probable holding, surely declarer should protect himself against it.

The Flora Group of Monroe staged the interesting flower show at the Garden Center this week. The exhibits were point scored by an accredited judge. In the horticulture section a blue ribbon was awarded Mrs. E. J. Blake, Jr., for a most outstanding plant of Candidum caladium. Mrs. Dan Dennett was awarded a ribbon for elaeagnus and Mrs. R. R. Griffith a ribbon for shrimp plant.

The arrangement section was characterized by unusual use of usual plant material. Mrs. E. J. Blake was awarded top honors for her very distinctive arrangement. A boat shaped bowl of green shaded into brown held the triangular arrangement of stripped banana leaves and banana blooms. The effect of sails was achieved by stripping the foliage partly down the stalk and trimming the leaves to a sail like pattern. The banana blooms, red - violet in color, followed the lines of the foliage. At the base the deeper violet French mulberry berries were clustered with a large rosette of Mexican hydrangea (eupatorium). A very beautiful arrangement.

Mrs. B. B. Handy was awarded second place, blue ribbon. A heavy etched brass container on its own base was selected by Mrs. Handy for her composition of fresh and dried plant material. Tall spikes of mullein in grey - green established the triangular pattern. Straw flowers in cream shading into deep yellow followed the lines. Glossy green pittosporum rosettes with clusters of love - apples attached enhanced the line adding depth and interest. The love - apples (solanum) were green, orange and yellow. A pleasing combination of fresh and dried material and well related to the container.

Mrs. R. R. Griffith was awarded third place. Mrs. Griffith's composition in shades of red - violet, tans and green also was composed of fresh and dried plant material. The rectangular bowl of soft tan was placed on a brown scroll base. A lovely triangular pattern was achieved with red - violet spikes of celosia. Coleus in the same shade and edged with green framed the focal point which was a pine-cone flower. The elements and color were well related. This design was displayed against a soft rose pink background.

CAMERA NEWS

A CURRENT VACATION picture that has been set aside for an evening's work at the enlarger shortly. It was taken by Max Desfor at Peggy's Cove, Nova Scotia, a haven for artists . . . and photographers.

As the summer season comes to an end, camera fans and their thoughts are more likely to turn indoors. It is a time to plan a darkroom or, if you have one already, to give it a thorough fall cleaning. Just ahead are the long winter evenings and a chance to make your recent pictures come to visual life.

There should be a better word than "darkroom" to describe the working quarters of the modern photo fan. A few years ago it meant just that — a walled in corner painted dead black with no ventilation and bulky wooden tanks that were hard to keep clean. Today, a lot of snapshooters make their kitchens do double duty with their prime assets of running water and large work counters which are easily cleaned. Most of the work in processing films can be done under normal light and making contact prints can be done in subdued light. An absolutely dark room is needed only for the few moments required to load panchromatic film in a tank prior to developing. A closet can be used for that purpose.

When space isn't at a premium, a camera fan's greatest satisfaction can come in having a permanent place to work in, where equipment doesn't have to be installed and removed for each work session. Usually, the availability of running water determines the exact location of the darkroom. Another consideration is good ventilation for it will prevent dampness, mildrew and chemical odors.

If an attic is considered, make sure the roof is insulated otherwise the room can be too hot in summer and too cold in winter. If the cellar is chosen, make sure there is no excessive summer dampness which can affect paper and films.

If partitions are added to enclose a working area, the door should swing out of the darkroom to give a little more freedom of movement inside. Or, if there is room, an open entrance can be made by overlapping the walls. This is convenient for entering or leaving the darkroom with your hands loaded.

Working surfaces around and behind the sink should be made of chemical resistant materials. There should be an overlap and a slight slope towards the sink so that any drippings would drain into it.

Instead of closed cabinets for storing materials and equipment, many workers prefer open shelves and transparent or plastic containers. These would keep everything free from dust yet be in plain sight. With supplies visible, there would be less chance of running short at the last moment.

Plastic covers for the enlarger and other equipment are handy aids for keeping the darkroom shipshape and clean.

If a major portion of the work is spent in making enlargements, special attention must be paid to proper safelight precautions. Safelight filters do deteriorate and should be tested periodically.

To test, cover half a sheet of fresh paper and put it on your usual working surface. After about five minutes, develop the whole sheet. If the exposed part of the paper shows up darker than the masked portion then the safelight . . isn't! It may be too close to the working area or the filter might have to be changed.

Darkroom equipment should be the best you can afford. Enlargers and accessories are a long term investment and good equipment makes the work easier. This is particularly true of an enlarging easel as anyone who has had to struggle with an inferior type will tell you. In short time, flimsy border guides stick and don't adjust easily. It's better to start with a sturdy 11" x 14" size with well made, adjustable border guides.

Another long term investment are trays of stainless steel or hard rubber. They won't chip and rust as porcelain trays eventually will.

When washing prints by tray, an automatic tray siphon will do a more thorough job. Or run a hose from the faucet to the bottom of the sink or tray and let the water bubble up and keep the prints moving while washing.

Much local interest has been voiced in the last few weeks by shutter clickers in this Twin Cities area for the formation of a local Camera Club. Many professionals and amateurs alike have stated that they would be extremely interested in getting together maybe twice a month to discuss photographic problems and swap ideas etc., concerning their most intimate hobby.

Since this has been indicated, this writer (a shutter bug himself) suggests that a forming group meet and set up plans for an initial meeting. . . . . Contact John Oldenburg, Monroe News Star and lets get started. . . . .

Fall Recreation Schedule Will Open This Week

The Monroe Recreation department, sponsored by the City of Monroe, will start most of its winter program this week.

Art classes for adults and children will be held Thursday afternoons and nights and Friday afternoons. Anyone interested in learning to paint is invited to attend these classes. Relaxation and enjoyment is often found by painting.

Handcraft classes are held every Friday afternoon. Articles for the home or for gifts can be made. The Dramatic club meets every Saturday morning for boys and girls 13 years of age and under.

Square dancing will start October 2 for adults. All the above classes are held free of charge and are held at the Monroe Recreation center, 113½ Catalpa Street.

Pretty cake topping: shaved chocolate and grated orange rind sprinkled over a white frosting.

Former Gov. Jimmie Davis Questioned By Committee About Corporation Moves

WASHINGTON (AP) The Securities and Exchange Commission set Sept. 20 for a hearing to determine if a proposed stock issue by American Investors Corp. of Nashville, Tenn, should be suspended and barred from public sale.

Former Gov. Jimmie Davis of Louisiana was named as chairman of the board of the corporation, questioned yesterday by the commission on accuracy of its registration statement proposing sale of eight million dollars worth of stock.

The corporation proposes to form an insurance company to market a full line of life and disability insurance.

The company's stock registration statement on July 13 proposed the public offering of four million shares of common stock at $2 a share. The offering could be made through company officials or employes and a commission of 20 cents a share was to be paid.

The state also said an additional 962,000 shares would be reserved for insurance upon the exercise of options by the company to its employes.

Frank Poole of Nashville is president of the firm. Others connected with it include folk singer Eddie Arnold, Atlanta auto race driver T. Fontell Flock and George Preston Marshall, president of the Washington (Redskins) National League football team.

The company proposed to use six million dollars of the proceeds of the financing to purchase all of the common stock of American Investment Life Insurance Co., to be organized under Tennessee law. The remainder of the proceeds were to be used for the purchase of fixed assets required for the insurance business, which would be rented by the insurance company.

In ordering the proceedings to determine whether a "stop order" should be issued, the commission said the registration statement "includes untrue statements of material facts and omits to state material facts required to be stated therein ad material facts necessary to make the statements therein not misleading."

This exercise may be preventative medicine or help in correcting sacroiliac trouble. From this position, tip the knee outward, bring it back, straighten leg and lower it to the floor.

Record Review

Chris Dane, who is Danish, is one of the current favorites in Europe because his song style appeals even to the sophisticates.

Dane may extend his popularity to America, where he now can be heard on a Cadence LP, "Smart Songs for the Smart Set." He has a pleasing voice and an insight to the needs of the bored cliques.

Most of his songs, such as "April in Paris," "Paradise" and "I'm Through With Love," have been popular in the United States for many years yet Dane manages to give them freshness.

Dane receives fine backing from Ernie Englund, who is making something of a splash of his own on another Cadence LP, "Sweet . . . The Trumpet of Ernie Englund."

Another imported LP that should win a big audience stateside is Vanguard's recording of "Erich Kunz Sings Germany University Songs."

Kunz' rich voice is embroidered by a male chorus and an opera orchestra, and the songs strike a nostalgic chord even among those who are unfamiliar with Teutonic airs. This album should appeal particularly to the college crowd and collectors of folk music.

Speaking of "Folk Songs," that is the title of a new RCA-Victor album that casts William Clauson in the role of troubador. Clauson sings 21 songs, among them "Lil' Liza Jane," "Cindy," "John Henry," and "Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair." Sound is excellent.

Best in Mood Music — "Autumn in Rome," a silken selection of Roman strings of Pino Calvi (Capitol.) Twelve numbers are presented, including "Anema e Core" and "Arrividerci Roma."

Best in Cool Jazz — "Lighthouse at Laguna" (Contemporary), featuring Howard Rumsey's All-Stars, Barney Kessel, and the Hampton Hawes trio. Beautiful flute work by Bud Shank on "Witch Doctor No. 2."

Exceptional singles — "You're in Love" by Gogi Grant (Era), "Five" by Sammy Davis, Jr. (Decca), Miracle of Love" by Eileen Rodgers (Columbia) and "To Love Again" by Woody Herman (Capitol.)

Pick of the Week—"Blue Skies," songs by Art Lund with Leroy Holmes and Orchestra (M-G-M.) Lund has a sleeper album. Songs range from "Blue Skies" to "Maple Leaf Rag" and "Frenesi."

Sacroiliac Trouble May Be Prevented By Exercise

Women seem to be susceptible to sacroiliac trouble which comes from weakened ligaments. This is sometimes the result of childbirth but is more often caused by a strain or fall.

It really would be good preventative medicine for every woman to take a few exercises which are corrective to this disability. I have puplis in exercise classes who overcame this tendency by doing the right ones faithfully.

Of course in severe instances you may not be able to excercise at all, but great help can be derived if yours is a mild case. I am going to give you a few of the exercises which have helped my pupils. Your doctor will be able to tell you if you can safely do them.

Excercises

1. Lie on the floor on your back with your hands under your hips-legs straight. Bend the left knee up in front of you. Keeping the knee bent, tip the knee outward, away from the body as far as comfortable (only a little at first). Bring the knee back toward the center of the body. Straighten the leg and lower it to the floor. Do the same thing with the right leg. Bend, tip outward, return toward center of body and straighten leg, lowing to the floor.
2. After doing the above exercise for several weeks try this one. Same position, with hands under hips, lying on the floor with legs straight. Again bend the left knee up. Keep the knee bent as you circle the knee outward. Make complete circles. Do the same thing with the right leg.
3. Stand tall. Now go through the motions of walking without moving forward, lifting the knees up high in front of you. Do not bend the knees under you but lift them high in front of you as you walk in place.

Weak ligaments and muscles can give us a lot of trouble. If you have weak arches you might like to have my corrective exercises for them. If so, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 14 "Take Care of Your Feet." Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "Strenuous Exercise During Menstruation is a Mistake."

SHORTER JACKETS

Suit jackets are shorter, cut off at the hipbone which is the perfect length for the short, slender figure. Jacketed dresses appear everywhere which is even better proportion than skirt and blouse for this petite type.

No maple syrup in the house for those pancakes? If you have a can of applesauce on hand, use it. Heat the fruit with a stick of cinnamon and several whole cloves; remove the spices before spooning over the griddle cakes.

CAMERA NEWS

A CURRENT VACATION picture that has been set aside for an evening's work at the enlarger shortly. It was taken by Max Desfor at Peggy's Cove, Nova Scotia, a haven for artists . . . and photographers.

As the summer season comes to an end, camera fans and their thoughts are more likely to turn indoors. It is a time to plan a darkroom or, if you have one already, to give it a thorough fall cleaning. Just ahead are the long winter evenings and a chance to make your recent pictures come to visual life.

There should be a better word than "darkroom" to describe the working quarters of the modern photo fan. A few years ago it meant just that — a walled in corner painted dead black with no ventilation and bulky wooden tanks that were hard to keep clean. Today, a lot of snapshooters make their kitchens do double duty with their prime assets of running water and large work counters which are easily cleaned. Most of the work in processing films can be done under normal light and making contact prints can be done in subdued light. An absolutely dark room is needed only for the few moments required to load panchromatic film in a tank prior to developing. A closet can be used for that purpose.

When space isn't at a premium, a camera fan's greatest satisfaction can come in having a permanent place to work in, where equipment doesn't have to be installed and removed for each work session. Usually, the availability of running water determines the exact location of the darkroom. Another consideration is good ventilation for it will prevent dampness, mildrew and chemical odors.

If an attic is considered, make sure the roof is insulated otherwise the room can be too hot in summer and too cold in winter. If the cellar is chosen, make sure there is no excessive summer dampness which can affect paper and films.

If partitions are added to enclose a working area, the door should swing out of the darkroom to give a little more freedom of movement inside. Or, if there is room, an open entrance can be made by overlapping the walls. This is convenient for entering or leaving the darkroom with your hands loaded.

Working surfaces around and behind the sink should be made of chemical resistant materials. There should be an overlap and a slight slope towards the sink so that any drippings would drain into it.

Instead of closed cabinets for storing materials and equipment, many workers prefer open shelves and transparent or plastic containers. These would keep everything free from dust yet be in plain sight. With supplies visible, there would be less chance of running short at the last moment.

Plastic covers for the enlarger and other equipment are handy aids for keeping the darkroom shipshape and clean.

If a major portion of the work is spent in making enlargements, special attention must be paid to proper safelight precautions. Safelight filters do deteriorate and should be tested periodically.

To test, cover half a sheet of fresh paper and put it on your usual working surface. After about five minutes, develop the whole sheet. If the exposed part of the paper shows up darker than the masked portion then the safelight . . isn't! It may be too close to the working area or the filter might have to be changed.

Darkroom equipment should be the best you can afford. Enlargers and accessories are a long term investment and good equipment makes the work easier. This is particularly true of an enlarging easel as anyone who has had to struggle with an inferior type will tell you. In short time, flimsy border guides stick and don't adjust easily. It's better to start with a sturdy 11" x 14" size with well made, adjustable border guides.

Another long term investment are trays of stainless steel or hard rubber. They won't chip and rust as porcelain trays eventually will.

When washing prints by tray, an automatic tray siphon will do a more thorough job. Or run a hose from the faucet to the bottom of the sink or tray and let the water bubble up and keep the prints moving while washing.

Much local interest has been voiced in the last few weeks by shutter clickers in this Twin Cities area for the formation of a local Camera Club. Many professionals and amateurs alike have stated that they would be extremely interested in getting together maybe twice a month to discuss photographic problems and swap ideas etc., concerning their most intimate hobby.

Since this has been indicated, this writer (a shutter bug himself) suggests that a forming group meet and set up plans for an initial meeting. . . . . Contact John Oldenburg, Monroe News Star and lets get started. . . . .

Fall Recreation Schedule Will Open This Week

The Monroe Recreation department, sponsored by the City of Monroe, will start most of its winter program this week.

Art classes for adults and children will be held Thursday afternoons and nights and Friday afternoons. Anyone interested in learning to paint is invited to attend these classes. Relaxation and enjoyment is often found by painting.

Handcraft classes are held every Friday afternoon. Articles for the home or for gifts can be made. The Dramatic club meets every Saturday morning for boys and girls 13 years of age and under.

Square dancing will start October 2 for adults. All the above classes are held free of charge and are held at the Monroe Recreation center, 113½ Catalpa Street.

Pretty cake topping: shaved chocolate and grated orange rind sprinkled over a white frosting.

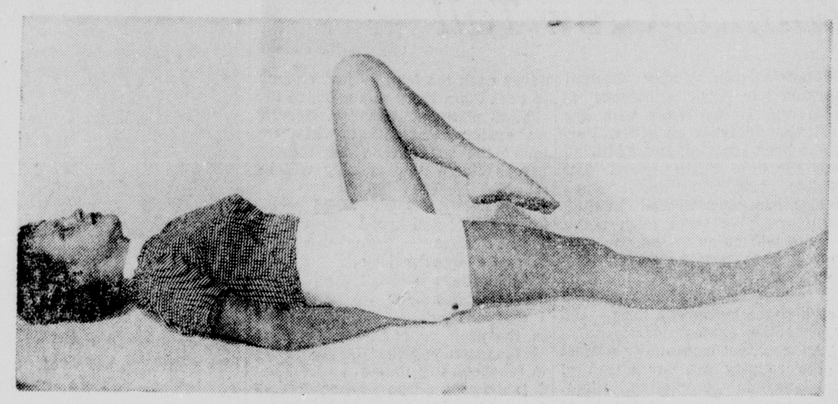
Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman



This exercise may be preventative medicine or help in correcting sacroiliac trouble. From this position, tip the knee outward, bring it back, straighten leg and lower it to the floor.

Sacroiliac Trouble May Be Prevented By Exercise

Women seem to be susceptible to sacroiliac trouble which comes from weakened ligaments. This is sometimes the result of childbirth but is more often caused by a strain or fall.

It really would be good preventative medicine for every woman to take a few exercises which are corrective to this disability. I have puplis in exercise classes who overcame this tendency by doing the right ones faithfully.

Of course in severe instances you may not be able to excercise at all, but great help can be derived if yours is a mild case. I am going to give you a few of the exercises which have helped my pupils. Your doctor will be able to tell you if you can safely do them.

Excercises

1. Lie on the floor on your back with your hands under your hips-legs straight. Bend the left knee up in front of you. Keeping the knee bent, tip the knee outward, away from the body as far as comfortable (only a little at first). Bring the knee back toward the center of the body. Straighten the leg and lower it to the floor. Do the same thing with the right leg. Bend, tip outward, return toward center of body and straighten leg, lowing to the floor.
2. After doing the above exercise for several weeks try this one. Same position, with hands under hips, lying on the floor with legs straight. Again bend the left knee up. Keep the knee bent as you circle the knee outward. Make complete circles. Do the same thing with the right leg.
3. Stand tall. Now go through the motions of walking without moving forward, lifting the knees up high in front of you. Do not bend the knees under you but lift them high in front of you as you walk in place.

Weak ligaments and muscles can give us a lot of trouble. If you have weak arches you might like to have my corrective exercises for them. If so, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 14 "Take Care of Your Feet." Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Record Review

Chris Dane, who is Danish, is one of the current favorites in Europe because his song style appeals even to the sophisticates.

Dane may extend his popularity to America, where he now can be heard on a Cadence LP, "Smart Songs for the Smart Set." He has a pleasing voice and an insight to the needs of the bored cliques.

Most of his songs, such as "April in Paris," "Paradise" and "I'm Through With Love," have been popular in the United States for many years yet Dane manages to give them freshness.

Dane receives fine backing from Ernie Englund, who is making something of a splash of his own on another Cadence LP, "Sweet . . . The Trumpet of Ernie Englund."

Another imported LP that should win a big audience stateside is Vanguard's recording of "Erich Kunz Sings Germany University Songs."

Kunz' rich voice is embroidered by a male chorus and an opera orchestra, and the songs strike a nostalgic chord even among those who are unfamiliar with Teutonic airs. This album should appeal particularly to the college crowd and collectors of folk music.

Speaking of "Folk Songs," that is the title of a new RCA-Victor album that casts William Clauson in the role of troubador. Clauson sings 21 songs, among them "Lil' Liza Jane," "Cindy," "John Henry," and "Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair." Sound is excellent.

Best in Mood Music — "Autumn in Rome," a silken selection of Roman strings of Pino Calvi (Capitol.) Twelve numbers are presented, including "Anema e Core" and "Arrividerci Roma."

Best in Cool Jazz — "Lighthouse at Laguna" (Contemporary), featuring Howard Rumsey's All-Stars, Barney Kessel, and the Hampton Hawes trio. Beautiful flute work by Bud Shank on "Witch Doctor No. 2."

Exceptional singles — "You're in Love" by Gogi Grant (Era), "Five" by Sammy Davis, Jr. (Decca), Miracle of Love" by Eileen Rodgers (Columbia) and "To Love Again" by Woody Herman (Capitol.)

Pick of the Week—"Blue Skies," songs by Art Lund with Leroy Holmes and Orchestra (M-G-M.) Lund has a sleeper album. Songs range from "Blue Skies" to "Maple Leaf Rag" and "Frenesi."

SHORTER JACKETS

Suit jackets are shorter, cut off at the hipbone which is the perfect length for the short, slender figure. Jacketed dresses appear everywhere which is even better proportion than skirt and blouse for this petite type.

No maple syrup in the house for those pancakes? If you have a can of applesauce on hand, use it. Heat the fruit with a stick of cinnamon and several whole cloves; remove the spices before spooning over the griddle cakes.

Former Gov. Jimmie Davis Questioned By Committee About Corporation Moves

WASHINGTON (AP) The Securities and Exchange Commission set Sept. 20 for a hearing to determine if a proposed stock issue by American Investors Corp. of Nashville, Tenn. should be suspended and barred from public sale.

Former Gov. Jimmie Davis of Louisiana was named as chairman of the board of the corporation, questioned yesterday by the commission on accuracy of its registration statement proposing sale of eight million dollars worth of stock.

The corporation proposes to form an insurance company to market a full line of life and disability insurance.

The company's stock registration statement on July 13 proposed the public offering of four million shares of common stock at $2 a share. The offering could be made through company officials or employes and a commission of 20 cents a share was to be paid.

The state also said an additional 962,000 shares would be reserved for insurance upon the exercise of options by the company to its employes.

Frank Poole of Nashville is president of the firm. Others connected with it include folk singer Eddie Arnold, Atlanta auto race driver T. Fontell Flock and George Preston Marshall, president of the Washington (Redskins) National League football team.

The company proposed to use six million dollars of the proceeds of the financing to purchase all of the common stock of American Investment Life Insurance Co., to be organized under Tennessee law. The remainder of the proceeds were to be used for the purchase of fixed assets required for the insurance business, which would be rented by the insurance company.

In ordering the proceedings to determine whether a "stop order" should be issued, the commission said the registration statement "includes untrue statements of material facts and omits to state material facts required to be stated therein ad material facts necessary to make the statements therein not misleading."

Romantic Hit, 'Lisbon' Opens Today At Jim

Marking the first feature film production to be made in Lisbon, advance reports indicate it to be one of the outstanding suspense pictures of the year.

Tense action centers around an elderly millionaire American industrialist, who has been held incommunicado by the Reds for two years and the efforts of, not only his wife, but an international smuggling ring to do away with him and cut in on his fortune.

High adventure features the struggle between Milland and Rains for domination of the smuggling racket while romance in the colorful Lisbon setting involves a triangle centering on Milland and the Misses O'Hara and Furneaux.

In the strong supporting cast of "Lisbon" are Francis Lederer, Percy Marmont, Jay Novello, Edward Chapman, Harold Jamieson and Humberto Madeira.

Milland, in addition to starring, was also associate producer and director. The screenplay was by John Tucker Battle from a story by Martin Rackin.

Shrimpers Lose Another Round With Government

NEW ORLEANS (AP) The Gulf Coast Shrimpers and Oystermans Assn. and three of its officers have lost another round in their fight against federal charges of violating the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

The U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday upheld their conviction on charges of violating the act by conspiring to fix the price to dealers for shrimp and oysters and by coercing dealers to buy only from association members.

They were convicted January, 1955, in Biloxi, Miss. The association was fined $2,500 and the three officers got nine-month sentences.

The officials were Louis Simmons of Biloxi, association president; Leon Strong of Biloxi, secretary; and Walter McVeay, Pascagoula chapter secretary.

No Licenses Are Required On Some Cotton Trailers

As a result of recently enacted legislation, Louisiana farmers are not required to have licenses for two and four - wheeled rubber-tired cotton trailers which are used for only short periods each year.

The idea for this legislation started in Ouachita parish, according to Fred Huenefeld, Jr., president of the local Farm Bureau Federation, who said that two years ago members of his organization became concerned about the matter, and presented a resolution to the Louisiana Farm Bureau at its state convention.

The resolution asking that license not be required for the trailers which were used in many cases only two or three times during the period of a year by cotton farmers, was approved at the convention and became a part of the organization's policy to be worked on through legislation.

A state representative introduced the bill for the bureau. It was passed by the 1956 legislature, and signed by the governor, Huenefeld said. The exemption from license requirement applies to two and four wheeled rubber-tired trailers where weight limit does not exceed 6,000 pounds.

Campus Given 'Face-Lifting' At Northwestern

NATCHITOCHES, Sept. 8 (Special) — When students who have not attended Northwestern State College since last spring return here this fall, they will hardly know the place.

Because of a general "spruce-up" campaign which has been going on for the past three months, many changes have taken place, both inside and outside campus buildings.

Perhaps the first thing which will be noticed will be the 14 new black-topped parking areas which have recently been completed, plus several new concrete sidewalks, giving the campus a definite "face lifting."

Regulations pertaining to parking on the campus will go into effect with the beginning of the fall semester Monday and each student will be given a printed copy of the new rules upon registration on Sept. 12 and 13.

Chief Security Officer Jimmy Lee said parking tickets would be written, with every automobile also being registered on the campus during the first week of school.

Improvements are being made in the college dining hall, with new cooking equipment being installed which will give NSC better prepared meals and faster service, Walter Stubblefield, dining hall manager here, said.

Color changes will be noted when students attend meetings or assemblies in the auditorium or Little Theater. Blue plastic material covers the seats in the Little Theater, while seats in the main auditorium are being covered with a red material.

Each building on the campus has been given a thorough cleaning during the interim between the summer and fall sessions, with each dormitory being readied for occupancy beginning next week.

Northwestern's newest building, a 254-man dormitory located behind the men's gymnasium on the south end of the campus, will be occupied this week. Its construction on the hill overlooking Chaplin's Lake has contributed greatly to the overall appearance of the college.

Only one of its kind in the south, the new and unique building fans out in three directions, forming a distinctive "Y" with its separate wings. It was designed by Johns and Neel, Monroe architects.

NIGHTMARE

Released thru United Artists

AT PARAMOUNT—Van Johnson, as a successful American Playwright, relates his frustrations in trying to solve a crime that he had accidentally overheard being planned at a local London pub. Lovely Vera Miles is his sympathetic listener in this scene from Twentieth Century-Fox's exciting mystery thriller, "23 Paces To Baker Street," opening Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre.

V. Johnson, V. Miles Co-Star In Mystery Film

The mystery, quick action and taut suspense in "23 Paces to Baker Street" make this Twentieth Century - Fox CinemaScope Deluxe color production, one of the top murder thrillers, according to those who have seen the previews. The picture, which co-stars Van Johnson and Vera Miles, will have its local premier Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre.

It was adapted by Nigel Balchin from the English best seller, "Warrant for X," by Philip MacDonald, and tells the story of an American playwright wintering in London who stumbles upon evidence pointing to a clever gang of kidnapers and murderers.

Producer Henry Ephron and Director Henry Hathaway, following the trend in recent pictures of bringing all the color and glamour of foreign places to movie audiences, took their cast and crew to London to catch the menacing atmosphere of the fog-shrouded city. Among the outstanding London landmarks captured by the CinemaScope cameras were the Houses of Parliament, St. Paul's Cathedral, London University and the BBC Building, known as Broadcasting House. Other scenes for this thriller were filmed along the south bank of the Thames, on Waterloo Bridge, at St. Pancras Station, and in Kensington Gardens, where many foreign ambassadors to England have their homes.

During the filming of the picture Director Hathaway and Cameraman Milton Krasner confounded the English by waiting for a clear day and then manufacturing their own fog before shooting some of the scenes. Hathaway explained that natural London fog was not photogenic.

In the supporting cast for "23 Paces to Baker Street," which combines the best features of the Holmesian quiet, but infallible solution of crime, with the quick violence of a James Cain whodunit, are many of England's more prominent players. Cecil Parker, a veteran of more than a third of a century of acting, heads the list, which includes Patricia Laffan, Maurice Denham, Estelle Winwood, Liam Redmond, Isobel Elsom, Martin Benson, Natalie Norwick and Terence de Marney.

Romantic Hit, 'Lisbon' Opens Today At Jim

A dynamic story of international intrigue, filmed in Republic's new wide- screen Naturama and in Trucolor on actual locales in Portugal, is due at the Jim Theatre today with the opening of "Lisbon," starring Ray Milland, Maureen O Hara, Claude Rains and Yvonne Furneaux.

Marking the first feature film production to be made in Lisbon, advance reports indicate it to be one of the outstanding suspense pictures of the year.

Tense action centers around an elderly millionaire American industrialist, who has been held incommunicado by the Reds for two years and the efforts of, not only his wife, but an international smuggling ring to do away with him and cut in on his fortune.

High adventure features the struggle between Milland and Rains for domination of the smuggling racket while romance in the colorful Lisbon setting involves a triangle centering on Milland and the Misses O'Hara and Furneaux.

In the strong supporting cast of "Lisbon" are Francis Lederer, Percy Marmont, Jay Novello, Edward Chapman, Harold Jamieson and Humberto Madeira.

Milland, in addition to starring, was also associate producer and director. The screenplay was by John Tucker Battle from a story by Martin Rackin.

The number one hit song, "Lisbon Antigua," has been incorporated into the background score with its composer, Nelson Riddle, conducting the studio orchestra.

Shrimpers Lose Another Round With Government

NEW ORLEANS (AP) The Gulf Coast Shrimpers and Oystermans Assn. and three of its officers have lost another round in their fight against federal charges of violating the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

The U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday upheld their conviction on charges of violating the act by conspiring to fix the price to dealers for shrimp and oysters and by coercing dealers to buy only from association members.

They were convicted January, 1955, in Biloxi, Miss. The association was fined $2,500 and the three officers got nine-month sentences.

The officials were Louis Simmons of Biloxi, association president; Leon Strong of Biloxi, secretary; and Walter McVeay, Pascagoula chapter secretary.

No Licenses Are Required On Some Cotton Trailers

As a result of recently enacted legislation, Louisiana farmers are not required to have licenses for two and four - wheeled rubber-tired cotton trailers which are used for only short periods each year.

The idea for this legislation started in Ouachita parish, according to Fred Huenefeld, Jr., president of the local Farm Bureau Federation, who said that two years ago members of his organization became concerned about the matter, and presented a resolution to the Louisiana Farm Bureau at its state convention.

The resolution asking that license not be required for the trailers which were used in many cases only two or three times during the period of a year by cotton farmers, was approved at the convention and became a part of the organization's policy to be worked on through legislation.

A state representative introduced the bill for the bureau. It was passed by the 1956 legislature, and signed by the governor, Huenefeld said. The exemption from license requirement applies to two and four wheeled rubber-tired trailers where weight limit does not exceed 6,000 pounds.

YMCA Activities Announced By Youth Chairman

Dr. Roy L. Robertson, chairman of the Twin Cities Y. M. C. A. youth committee, announced Saturday that the Y. M. C. A. fall youth program will begin in the schools in the very near future.

The program will include boys with an age range from 6-18 years. The program will expand this year from nine elementary schools and one high school to twenty-one elementary schools and three high schools. Programs to be carried on in the schools consist of Father and Son Indian Guides for boys 6-8; Gra-Y for boys 9-12; Junior Hi-Y for boys 13-14; and Hi-Y for boys 15-18.

"Y" Indian Guides is a program to build better understanding and a closer relationship of father and son; at an age when a son really needs his father's confidence and guidance, Dr. Robertson said.

Gra-Y provides an opportunity for a boy to associate with other boys his own age during leisure time under the guidance of a competent leader. Some of their activities are: service project, athletics, crafts, devotionals, campouts, and educational trips.

Junior Hi-Y and Hi-Y has as its platforms: clean living, clean scholarship, clean speech, and clean sports. They are members of a fellowship of boys across the nation and in foreign countries. Hi- Y boys participate in service projects, conferences, forums,and many other programs that keep them clean in body, mind, and spirit.

As well as the school program, there will be other activities at the "Y" building such as model airplane classes, chess club, and ping-pong.

The Twin Cities Y. M. C. A. is a member of the United Givers Fund.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes. Dr. Jonathan Forman, editor of Ohio State Medical Journal says (paraphrased): "The most poorly nourished Americans are girls in their late teens from 16 to 20. They live on cake, candy and sweet carbonated drinks. These girls are immediate and future brides, and tests show that health of babies is affected by what mothers eat for several years before their babies are born. If a girl wants her baby to be healthy, she should eat nourishing food for several yars before she has a child.

Why do boys start fires?

Your opinion

2. According to Dr. Stanley Geller, children use fire in different ways to express unconscious conflicts. Study of 75 child fire setters showed in almost all cases that parents didn't get along and were rejecting the child. Mother was cold and indifferent; father, hostile and frequently beat the child. Dr. Geller said, "Firesetting appears to be a deep-rooted problem stemming out of an intolerable home situation, with fears projected against other areas, such as school and society in general. Fire is an assertion of manhood and a means of protection against threats."

How can men and women with leisure help mentally ill persons?

Your opinion

3. Visit the nearest mental hospital and help cheer up the patients. Doctors and nurses necessarily emphasize to the patient that he is in a hospital. Volunteer visitors make them feel they still belong to the outside world. In many cities, women's clubs, churches, etc., have organized volunteers for this purpose. Sometimes they play cards, games, and sometimes sit and talk — or just sit quietly. It takes a little training, but often it improves the visitor's health as much as the patient's.

What do you know about mental illness?

Do you know that it is common, does not attack without warning, is not necessarily inherited? These and many other vital facts are explained clearly in booklet, "When mental Illness Strikes Your Family." For a copy send 25c (coin only) and your name and address to Dr. A. E. Wiggam, Public Affairs Committee, c-o your newspaper.

Northwestern To Enforce New Parking Rules

NATCHITOCHES, Sept. 8 (Special) — Greater safety and a more efficient system of parking automobiles on the Northwestern State College campus are the primary aims of a traffic security program adopted at the college this fall.

Under the direction of Chief Security Officer James K. Lee, the plan will go into operation the first day of school here Monday, college officials have announced.

Signs directing students, faculty members and visitors to the new parking areas and citing recently-adopted regulations have been painted by Lieutenant Lee and his campus police force. Lee, a former Natchitoches police officer, holds a commission in the state police and is a graduate of the special police school conducted by the FBI. He is a graduate of Northwestern and a former athlete at the college.

Plans call for the curbing of reckless drivers and speedsters on the campus proper, with traffic tickets being written and trials to be held in the Natchitoches city court, Lee said.

No freshman students will be allowed to bring cars on the campus he added. This decision was made to help alleviate the parking problem at NSC, which has become so acute in recent years with the advent of a large quantity of student-owned automobiles on the campus. Those who are authorized to have cars on the college grounds will be provided with parking space.

Printed copies of all the new traffic regulations will be handed out to each student upon registration here next week, Lee stated. Further information will be forthcoming through the student newspaper, the Current Sauce, he added.

Start QB Club Sponsors Barbecue

START, Sept. 8 (Special) — A Labor Day barbecue was sponsored by the Start Quarterback club Tuesday, with football players, coaches, and members of the pep squad attending in addition to the club members.

Meeting date of the Quarterback club has been changed from each Monday night during the grid season to each Tuesday night.

Maynard Chambers, president, said that a very important business meeting will be held Tuesday, and urged all members to be present.

Aluminum can be rolled, forged, spun, drawn, extruded, and machined. While appealing in color as a natural metal, it can be painted or tinted. Because of its thermal conductivity, it is ideal for cooking utensils. And although it conducts only about 60 per cent as much electricity as copper, because of its lower weight a pound of aluminum has about the same conductivity as two pounds of copper.

Speech Consultant Aids In Crossett Training Program

CROSSETT, Ark., Sept. 8 (Special) — Miss Mary Louise McDowell, speech correctionist with the State Department of Education, was in Crossett Friday for a planning session with Superintendent M. H. Russell and Mrs. Jim Shaw, speech correction teacher for the Crossett schools. The purpose of the meeting was to outline a program of special education in speech in the local schools.

The present aim of the speech program is to help those children whose speech deviates from the so-called normal speech to the extent that it keeps the child from being understood by his teachers and classmates. Such children will be given daily instruction in groups of three or less.

According to the plan now in use in Arkansas as described by Miss McDowell, each child will receive instruction for thirty minutes daily for a six week period. Eighteen pupils will be enrolled each six weeks. By rotating the instruction in the local schools a minimum of 108 students will be taught during the school year. For each child taught the local school district will be reimbursed for half the cost of instruction.

Arkansas' plan of six weeks intensive training course has received favorable attention by the Southern Speech Association. One of the important features of the plan is that time is scheduled for parent and teacher consultations.

Crossett's speech improvement program which was begun last year during one class period each day, will be expanded to a full day's schedule this year. In addition to the financial aid which will be received from the State Department of Education, a gift from the Crossett company has been offered for the purchase of needed equipment.

WHAT HAPPENED, CHIEF?

MY JEWELED CROWN DISAPPEARED FROM THIS ROOM LAST NIGHT!

THE ONLY ENTRANCE IS THIS DOOR~BLOCKED BY MY BED WHERE I WAS SLEEPING!

WILSON McCOY 9-9

HMM~NO WAY TO ENTER THIS ROOM EXCEPT THRU THAT AIR HOLE UP THERE.

HUH~ONLY A RAT COULD GET THRU THERE. MY CROWN WAS LOCKED IN A CASE ON THE TABLE.

COULD A RAT UNLOCK THE CASE~ THEN TAKE CROWN AND CASE THRU A SIX-INCH HOLE?

HARDLY. I SEE NO WAY THE THEFT COULD HAVE BEEN COMMITTED~YET IT WAS!
